Doeberieners sweeps Holstein championships

W. Pa. champs switch; red cow takes grand

BY WENDY WEHR and ROBIN PHILLIPS

KUTZTOWN — The 4th Pennsylvania Holstein State Championship Show culminated with a first this year — Senior and Grand Champion honors were captured by a red & white cow, C Cala Hill Kelly Ned-Red, owned by Queens Manor Holsteins of Jamestown.

Paul King, judge, remarked, "I'm not really a red enthusiast, but I liked this cow when she first walked into the ring."

The Doeberieners of Queens Manor took home the Reserve Senior Champion and Reserve Grand Champion titles as well. The reserve champ, 2-year-old C Houdale Tempo Rachael, owned by Justin E. Doeberieners, was clearly a close second. As show judge Paul King announced the winners, he remarked, "I hope this doesn't take anything away from the 2-year-old. She certainly is a beautiful cow."

In the Western Pennsylvania Championship Show, the closely matched Queens Manor duo reversed the titles. Rachael won the senior champion and grand champion titles, while Kelly Ned-Red finished as the reserve champ.

The grand champion was sired by Agro Acres Marquis Ned. Her dam is Cala Hill Dale-Red. She was bred by Robert D. Blair. At age 2 years and 3 months she tested at 4.5, and as a 3-year-old she had 4.3 butterfat.

Sired by Roybrook Tempo, Rachael is the daughter of Richriver Chief Gandi. Justin

LITITZ — Wendy C. Wehr joins Lancaster Farming this week, replacing Laura England as dairy editor. She is a graduate of Penn State with a bachelor's degree in communications studies.

Wehr began agricultural writing while a student at Penn State. During her senior year and following graduation she wrote and edited stories in the Agricultural Communications Department of the College of Agriculture. More recently she has worked as an editor for the College of Human Development and as an editor of continuing education materials at Penn State.

Formerly from Mifflinburg,

Pa. Bottle Bill dilemma - job loss fear vs. ag problem

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

HARRISBURG — The lines of the proposed mandatory deposit bottle bill issue were clearly drawn at the opening of committee hearings Thursday at the Capitol.

And this bottle bill issue presents something of a no-win dilemma, according to legislators considering it.

The issue centers on the fear of job losses principally in the glass industry versus an ag problem that includes equipment damage, downtime and livestock losses.

And from comments and questions of the legislators at Thursday's opening session of hearings, their apparent dominant position might be described as:

Sincere sympathy lies with farmers and there's a realization that something must be done about litter, but in view of the possible losses of glass industry jobs primarily in Western Pennsylvania, the weight of decision is tipped against the bottle bill.

Thursday's session, which ran much later than the agenda schedule, featured container industry representatives lined up against the proposed bill and ag, outdoor and environmental interests favoring it.

The glass industry was sup-

3 states share top honors at Md. Fair Holstein Show

Senior and grand champion at the Md. State Fair Holstein Show is Hickory Green Lynn Conductor, owned by E.B. Lee and Sons, and exhibited by George Edgerton. Offering congratulations are judge Loren Elsass, State Dairy Princess Tarra Woodfield and Jim Hill.

TIMONIUM, Md. — Top awards in the Maryland State Fair's Labor Day Holstein show were split among three states, with Virginians taking home a lion's share of the big prizes.

E.B. Lee and sons, of White Post, Va., carried off the senior and grand champion banners, along with the junior champion title, when judge Loren Elsass of Wapakoneta, Ohio, had finished lining up the 200 head in this outstanding show.

Topping the competition was Hickory Green Lynn Conductor, a stylish, homebred five-year-old trailing a string of previous awards through her show career.

She was All-Virginia as a three and four-year-old, and nominated for All-American last year as a four-year-old. At the Virginia Spring Show, her only other competition yet this year, she topped the five-year-old class and earned the judge's nod as best addered.

Sired by Wapa Arlinda Conductor, Lynn produced 21,000 lbs. as a heifer, 25,000 in her second lactation and is currently working on a 27,000 record. Her dam is a VG Astronaut, and the second dam is also VG.

The Marlin Hoff family's Coldsprings Farm at New Windsor claimed the reserve champion honors with their homebred

Peach Market News

Wednesday, Sept. 5, 1984

Report supplied by PDA

Demand early in the reporting period was very good to excellent but began to drop off after the Labor Day Holiday. Today, demand for peaches is moderate to good. Supply was below demand at the beginning of the period but with the Labor Day lull in demand, supply and demand is much closer than it was at the beginning of this period. Supply is still slightly behind demand at present.

Prices quoted below are wholesale, truckload, f.o.b. at the orchard or packing house in Adams, Berks, Franklin, Snyder and York Counties.

Delmarva Poultry

Thursday, Sept. 6

Report supplied by USDA

Market Comment: Movement of ready to cook whole birds has improved in most all quarters. Current production ranges in balance to well-cleared. Legs and wings continue to move well while demand for breast items has increased.

Slaughter schedules are heavy. Live supplies are adequate. Weights are mostly desirable. Undertone fully steady to firm.

Today's L.T.L. asking prices are unchanged on U.S. Grade A at 53-59 cents.

Estimated slaughter of broiler fryers in Delmarva (000).

Estimated 9/6 1,981,000; Actual 8/30 1,846,000; Actual 9/4 1,910,000; Average Weights 9/4 4.30; Average Weights 8/28 4.25.

Eastern Pa. & N.J. Poultry

Wednesday, Sept. 5

Report supplied by USDA

Market Comment: Prices relatively unchanged. Seller offerings adequate to current week's lighter schedules, only spotty for next week. Canner sales fairly good overall. Undertone unsettled.

Light Type Hens: 11-13½, mostly 12-12½

Philadelphia Eggs

Thursday, Sept. 6

Report supplied by USDA

MARKET COMMENT: Prices are unchanged. Trade sentiment is generally steady. Cartoned egg demand is moderate to good and is noted in many quarters as exceeding post holiday productions. Cartoned supplies range from in good balance to short. Most packers note adequate gradable supplies but a lack of sufficient running time to meet orders. Mediums and lighter weight nest runs are long and difficult to clear.

Prices to retailers: sales to volume buyers, consumer grades white eggs in cartons delivered store door:

A Extra Large .67-.69; A Large .66-.68; A Medium .50-.52.

Ask the Old Farmer: I have just finished a chair-caning class and I am curious as to why anyone caned chairs in the first place. D.A., Athens, Ala.
The "rush-bottomed" chair was used in Europe long ago, because people couldn't afford to buy lumber for wooden chair seats, or leather either, still, they appreciated a comfortable seat.
Home Hint: Place the ice cream for a children's party in colored paper cups and store in the freezer until needed. This makes the serving easy at party time.

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Beginning of week brings showers, cool temperatures, midweek cold with rain, end of week sunny and warm.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Week begins sunny and warm, showers and cool temperatures by midweek, end of week clear and warm.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Beginning of week sunny and hot, midweek partly cloudy with mild temperatures, end of week clear and warm.

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

The USDA released figures this week showing a big increase in the number of small farms of less than 50 acres between 1978 and 1982. They increased some 17 percent during that four-year period, up 94,000 from 543,000 in 1978 to 637,000 in 1982.

This comes as nothing new to long-time farm residents who have watched the influx of urban and suburban people into rural areas onto these small farms, which they operate parttime as they maintain fulltime jobs off the farm.

The USDA farm census also showed that farms from 50 acres to 1,999 acres continued to drop in number, while those of 2,000 acres or more increased.

This also should have come as little surprise to the typical farm family, which has faced increasing difficult times to survive. Some expand to try and make it and others sell out.

Many of us point to such figures and quickly say: "See. I told you so. The real small guys and the real big guys are taking over farming, squeezing the mid-size farmers out." And, there's some truth to this.

While the small farms of less than 50 acres generally don't compete with typical commercial farms, they do bring other problems to rural areas. More residents and traffic put more demands on schools and roads and increase requests for municipal services, which affect both the tax structure and traditional makeup of a rural community.

But the negatives that come with the increase in small parttime farms can also be turned into a plus for all of agriculture.

Most of these parttime farmers hold fulltime jobs off the farm. In such off-farm jobs, these small weekend farmers often hold quite influential positions in business, industry or the professions. The influence of these positions could be put to work for the good of all agriculture. After all, it's the agricultural nature of the rural areas that attracts parttime farmers and they should work just as hard to preserve its welfare as fulltime farmers who make their living solely from agriculture.

Agriculture can't afford a wedge driven between fulltime and parttime farmers. Ag can use all the help it can get and parttimers can play a sizable role in its preservation.

With very large farming operations it's an entirely different story. These are in direct competition with the mid-sized family farms and are contributing significantly to putting them out of business. Large operations are often backed by agribusiness or syndicates of professionals who are in it merely for tax incentives. They borrow money at rates much cheaper than regular farmers can get and use this money to put them out of business.

While some good can come out of the influx of the real small farms, there are no redeeming advantages to the continued increase in the number of big farms.

WILL TV TAKE OVER AG?

Will TV take over agriculture as much as it has taken over other segments of our society?

TV essentially decides who is elected president. Selection of candidates, campaigns and election strategy are built almost entirely around TV. And people in the West are told who won in the East even before the polls close.

Television has had enormous impact on such basics as education and family life.

Now, it seems that TV is making bigger and bigger inroads into traditional ag areas.

Recently, a big cattle auction was held out West, some 25,000 head. Was it held at a stockyard or large auction house? No way. It was held in the plush, air-conditioned comfort of a Holiday Inn lounge.

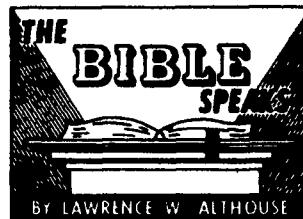

Bidders showed up in their Sunday best, including boots of lizard or snake skin instead of the work type.

Instead of bringing the cattle to the bidders TV camerapersons went right out on the range and photographed the cattle to be sold. Their videotapes were shown over monitors in the lounge and the auction was held.

In addition to the plush comfort, bidders cited the elimination of stress that the cattle go through to get them to the auction where they can be mixed with other cattle. Less weight losses and less opportunity for the cattle to come down with something.

Just think of the possibilities. The TV camera could eliminate all auctions and even dairy and livestock shows. Instead of bringing the animals to a show the TV camera just goes to the farm and photographs the animal from all angles. The judge sits in an armchair and watches a monitor and then makes his decision.

But it just wouldn't be the same would it? Too much of our lives have been turned over to the tube, let's hope things don't go that far.

Background Scripture
Romans 1:1-17.

Devotional Reading:
Romans 16:17-20.

Paul says it plainly, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel..." (Romans 1:16). And, if asked if I have ever been "ashamed of the gospel" and I answer quickly, I can probably say "No."

But if I take a long, deep breath before answering and let my mind give more than just a glancing thought to that question, I'm afraid honesty might compel me to acknowledge that, although I may never have been outright "ashamed" of the gospel, there have been times when it has been of some embarrassment.

To be sure, sometimes it has been the church for which I've felt some embarrassment, not the gospel and particularly at those times when the church has been least true to the gospel. One cannot but view the stupid, unreasoning violence and bloodshed in Northern Ireland and Lebanon today without being embarrassed over what Christians are doing to each other.

THE SHADOWED CROSS

There have been times, too when I have been embarrassed and even ashamed when Christians have committed grave injustices and crimes in the name of Jesus Christ. In touring Spain last year we were not proud to learn that when the Catholic Kings expelled the Moors, the society they brought was far less humane and tolerant than the one they destroyed. And, in touring the memorial to the Holocaust at Yad Vashem in Israel, one cannot overlook the fact that every infamous concentration camp existed in the figurative shadow of a steeped cross.

But, having said all that, I must admit that there have been times when it has been nothing less than the gospel itself—not some distortion of it by someone else—that has been a cause of embarrassment. And, of course, the problem is not with the gospel, but with me!

If this has never happened to you, I am glad for you and you should count your blessings. But I must confess that there have been times when the stigma of being a Christian has gotten in the way with something I have wanted to do, or be something I have wanted to be. To put it simply, there have been times when being a Christian has seemed to "crimp my style," as we used to say.

UNDER OBLIGATION

Perhaps, there have been times when I have felt that being identified as a Christian was too limiting and restricted too much my lifestyle. We all want to be cosmopolitan today and Christianity may seem to get in our way.

Yet, Paul was a very cosmopolitan person and he could say, "I am under obligation both to Greeks and barbarians..." (1:14), yet it did not keep him from saying also, "I am not ashamed of the gospel!" For Paul knew what I must constantly be reminded of: faith is never limiting; it is, in fact, the one thing above all others that is empowering and sets us free of all littleness and narrowness. If I have anything over which to be embarrassed or ashamed, it is my tendency to forget that.

To Protect Show Animals

September, in Lancaster County, is Fair time. It is also a time to be concerned about the health of show animals. Fairs should be a place where we can exhibit our animals; they should not be a place for spreading diseases and other ailments. Be considerate of other exhibitors and of other show animals. If your animals have any infectious or contagious problems, leave them at home; it's like keeping a sick child out of school to protect those who are healthy. If you do show, consult your veterinarian about necessary tests and protective vaccines.

When you return your livestock to the farm after the show, isolate them from other animals on the farm before introducing them to their herd mates.

To Install Drain Tile

Farmers who have wet spots in their fields might use the early fall months as a good time to install drain tile or drain pipe. These areas will be more workable now than in the spring. When the tile is put in place now, winter grains can be seeded on the area with little loss of crop production. Many farms have one or more wet spots in crop land that gives trouble in the majority of crop seasons. These can be corrected with tile drainage systems. In most cases the cost of draining wet spots in crop land is a good investment. Under current production costs, every acre should be managed to produce maximum yields.

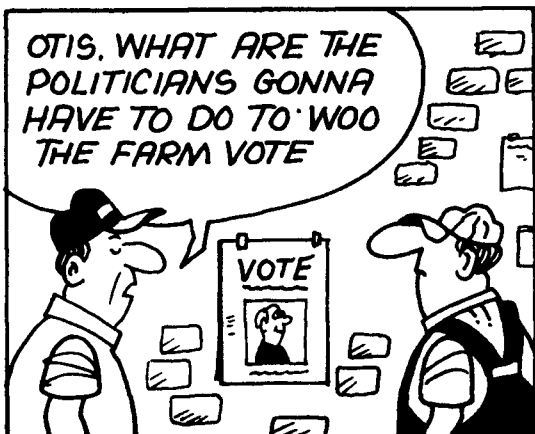

To Check Feed Bins

We are coming into the fall season where we see considerable temperature change from day to night. This causes a lot of moisture condensation, as we see it on car windows in the morning. This same type of condensation takes place in the bulk feed bins on our farms. It causes the buildup of molds on the bins and in the feed.

When feed bins are cleaned out, they should be inspected thoroughly, right down to the boot. Also, when you are taking feed out of the bin, keep a close watch for chunks of feed; it will tell you if a problem is developing.

AGWAY ANNOUNCES...

AN IMPORTANT ADVANCE IN DAIRY NUTRITION THAT SIGNIFICANTLY LOWERS YOUR NET COST OF MILK PRODUCTION

Introducing Pro:Right® RC™, a new concept that improves dairy feed efficiency by as much as 10%

In 1976, Agway introduced a new feed called Pro:Right, which dramatically improved milk production and feed efficiency. In fact, it's estimated that Agway members using Pro:Right have increased their combined revenue by as much as $23 million a year. Now new Pro:Right RC takes that efficiency one step further, for even greater benefits.

An even tighter, more profitable ratio of grain fed to milk produced

Original Pro:Right worked by regulating proteins necessary for optimum milk production. And new Pro:Right RC does the same thing for the equally important carbohydrates. Pro:Right RC provides a constant, steady flow of proteins and carbohydrates, in just the right amount and balance, so that all the proper nutrients are available to the rumen bacteria and the cow at all times. The result is more efficiency, and a more profitable ratio of pounds of grain fed to pounds of milk produced.

For instance, in developing Pro:Right RC at the Agway Farm Research Center, comparative tests were conducted on experimental groups of 15 cows. The group that was fed Pro:Right RC showed the most dramatic improvements: an increase of more than 13% in milk production and a 10% increase in feed efficiency.

Available now to hay crop silage feeders... and soon to other forage feeders

If your forage feeding program includes two-thirds or more hay crop silage, call Agway today so you can get started on a Pro:Right RC feed program immediately. The sooner you get started, the sooner you'll see the results in your bulk tank—and on your balance sheet. And if you're feeding corn silage, Pro:Right RC balanced for your feeding program will be available soon.

Pro:Right RC—only from Agway, the leader in dairy needs

New Pro:Right RC is a nutritional advance that was developed, tested, and proven at the Agway Farm Research Center at Fabius, New York, and it's sold exclusively by Agway stores. It's also a very clear demonstration of the Agway commitment to the needs of today's dairy farmers. Just when efficiency becomes more important than ever, dairy farmers have Pro:Right RC—the most efficient dairy feed ever developed.

AUGUSTA, N.J. — The second annual "Shepherd's Harvest Fair", sponsored by the Wool Sheep Breeder's Association of New Jersey, will be held next Saturday and Sunday at the Sussex county fairgrounds in Augusta, N.J.

The fair will be held in conjunction with the Sussex County Farm and Horse Show Livestock Building Committee's "Oktoberfest" and both events expect to draw 4,000-5,000 people from the metropolitan area.

This is the first time the "Oktoberfest" and the "Shepherd's Harvest Fair" have joined forces to produce a weekend of Bavarian music, ethnic foods, wool and country crafts, sheep shows, spinning and weaving contests and a wool fashion show.

A major attraction of this fair is the craft show and sale. Spinners, weavers, dyers, knitters and felters join other artisans from up and down the eastern seaboard in displaying their talents. A variety of craftpersons, such as potters, basket weavers, quilters, stencilers, herb growers, loom makers, woodcrafters and many others will be exhibiting.

Wool fashion is a keynote in this year's fair. Both adults and children will compete in the Shepherd's Lead contest, a fashion show in which contestants show off the qualities of wool. Many outfits will be handspun, woven and sewn by the contestants from their own sheep.

The two day event will feature a white and colored wool sheep show and purebred sheep shows. Warren Brannen from New York will judge both the fleece and sheep shows.

Wehr

herd of 50 registered and grade Holsteins. Wendy is the daughter of Karl and Hertha Wehr of Mifflinburg.

Wehr was active in 4-H and Extension activities in Union County. She worked as a program assistant at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C., and traveled as an International 4-H Youth Exchange Representative to Egypt and Israel in 1981.

In her free time, Wehr enjoys photography, traveling and outdoor activities.

Now is the Time

After cleaning out the bin, it should be sprayed with a mold inhibitor and allowed to dry. You can use calcium propionate solution as the inhibitor, at the rate of 2 ounces per gallon of water for the spray. One of the best ways to prevent this condensation problem is to insulate the bin. The insulation will slow down the temperature fluctuation.

To Stop Fertilizing Trees and Shrubs

The time is here when we should not be applying any fertilizer to rose bushes, trees and shrubs. The season's growing period is about over and new growth should have a chance to harden before cold weather arrives. When we fertilize during the fall we encourage new growth, which will be tender, and will winter-kill in zero weather.

It is best to wait until early spring to apply any plant food to these types of plants. Mulching is a good practice to help conserve moisture and control weeds, but keep the fertilizer in the bag until the 1985 season.

Ideal For Baling Corn Stalks!

FARMING'S FINEST ROUND BALING SYSTEM

M&W balers were engineered without belts or multiple rollers. M&W balers form bales using an endless slatted steel chain conveyor that rolls, forms and presses the hay inside a closed chamber. The frequent breakage and time consuming replacement of belts is eliminated. This simple design runs quieter and cleaner with one-third fewer parts than most conventional round balers.

The enclosed fixed cavity holds in leaves and seeds, reducing crop losses experienced with "open chamber" style balers. Even during twine wrapping, where many balers suffer additional crop loss, M&W experiences almost none. M&W's closed bale chamber also eliminates noise and dust problems. M&W balers utilize four rows of rotating double-spring tines that pick up the crop cleanly. Proper working height of the pick-up is easily pre-set with an adjustment pin.

TIRED OF CLEANING AND REFILLING SUPPLEMENTARY FOUNTS?

SWISH WATERING SYSTEM IS THE ANSWER!

Their chick-size waterer solves man-size problems.

New SWISH SATELLITE™ system waters chicks and poults from day 1

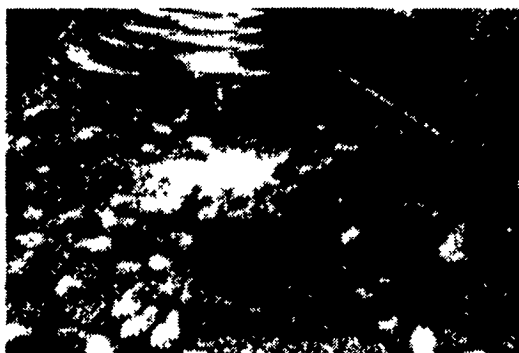

The biggest problem with founts and other supplementary waterers is manpower — the labor needed to clean and hand-fill them. Also, birds don't always get clean, cool, fresh water — which can cause health problems and poor feed conversion.

But now there's the new Swish SATELLITE system.

It attaches to any Swish floor watering system (and most other brands, too), to give you an automatic system that baby birds take to immediately.

And your birds get fresher, cleaner, cooler water that they love to drink. Which means they'll drink more of it. And that means healthier birds.

The Swish SATELLITE also cuts water waste — which means drier litter, less disease.

Whether you're choosing Swish's new SATELLITE system or a complete Swish system to take birds all the way to market, you get the same patented pressure-operated long-life Swish valve. It's known for its trouble-free performance, its durability.

And you get the unique Swish self-cleaning cup. It saves you lots of trouble and the labor cost of frequent cup cleaning. That's because of the patented feature that causes a "swishing" action by the water from the valve. This lifts any feed particles in the bottom of the cup so birds can consume them.

Get the whole story about Swish's new SATELLITE system ... also systems for adult birds.

MEET & HEAR "The Rest of The Story" FRED WRIGHT

FREE PUBLIC FORUM
OUR FREEDOM IN JEOPARDY?

Herb Jordan -- Penn State Extension Poultry Specialist
John Hoffman -- Pennsylvania Poultry Federation
Jane Balmer -- Lancaster County Poultry/Dairy Farmer
John Albright -- New Environmental Technologies

Berks County witnessed the climax to the government's effort to control the most costly animal disease epidemic in our history ($85 million). Are there some serious flaws in our animal confinement/food production system that could threaten our future abundant food supplies? Did the USDA Task Force program of depopulation and cleanup really get at the primary cause of the epidemic? How can we avoid further loss of personal freedom from government "crisis" intervention?

Important but unreported information relating to the AI epidemic will be covered. Anyone in animal husbandry will find this meeting very interesting. Video tapes of meeting will be available.

She's producing milk 5% more efficiently...

With Agway Baymix, wormtime isn't downtime

There's no question that deworming is one of the keys to efficient milk production. Tests prove that deworming can improve efficiency up to 5%* through more profitable production, better feed usage, and faster calf development.

The question is, how to deworm your herd quickly and effectively without withholding milk. And the answer is Agway Baymix Crumbles.

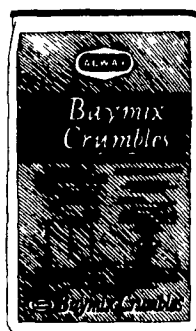

Deworm the whole herd

With most wormers, you have to withhold milk if you administer the wormer to lactating cows. And if you use the wormer only on dry or fresh cows you run the almost certain risk of reinfection from unwormed herdmates. But with Agway Baymix Crumbles you can safely deworm all your cows at once without withholding milk. That means no downtime, and reduced risk of reinfection.

Easy and economical

But perhaps the biggest benefit of Baymix is the convenience. You simply topdress the cow's daily ration with one ounce per hundred pounds of bodyweight for six days. Palatability is excellent, and there are no stressful boluses or drenches to administer.

Ask your Agway Store, Representative or Salesperson for more information on Agway Baymix Crumbles, the simple, effective way to deworm your whole herd, and boost milk production.

At Chippewa@ we know the kind of punishment farmers and ranchers give boots. That's why we use oil tanned leathers that resist damage from water and barnyard acids, brass hardware that doesn't rust, nylon stitching that doesn't rot and special compound soles that are oil and abrasion resistant. So when it's time to go out to pasture or to the machine shop or the barn or wherever the work takes you, make sure you're wearing our boots.

Thomas & Sons winners in West Virginia dairy show

BY DEBORAH STILES-RENZI

JACKSON'S MILL — 248 cows, heifers, and calves were exhibited at the Forty-Third Annual West Virginia Dairy Cattle Show and Festival, held recently at Jackson's Mill, Lewis County. Ayrshire, Guernsey, Holstein, Jersey, and Milking Shorthorn breeds were shown by breeders from every corner of the Mountain State in the five-day event. The week's activities included showmanship and judging contests, a parade of champions, and a 4-H/FFA heifer sale.

The West Virginia Registered Holstein Show began Wednesday morning with 209 individual entries in over 26 classes. Thomas & Sons of Bruceton Mills, Preston County, garnered the All West Virginia Junior and Senior Yearling honors, as well as Youth/Open Junior, Senior, and Grand Champion placings. FFA'er Alan Thomas showed the All-W.Va. Jr. Yearling Ray-Anthony Gem Holly; 4-H'er David Thomas exhibited the All-W.Va. Senior Yearling and Junior Youth/Open Champion, Cherry Brook LTD Balboa. Jeff Thomas had the Youth/Open Senior and Grand Champion Female in Simpson's TT Pamela, a four-year-old cow. Reserve Champion honors went to Miss WDH Glendell Adon Erna, exhibited by Michael Wilson of Greenbrier County.

Taking the Senior and Grand Champion honors for the Jersey Show was FFA exhibitor Annie Perkins showing Perk Annie Big Boy Danny. Reserve and Senior Reserve Champion Female was another Perkins' Jersey, Perk Sleeping Lucky, exhibited by FFA member Harry K. Perkins II.

In the Ayrshire Show, the Junior Champion Female, Betty's Super Flicka exhibited by Matt Allen, was also selected Grand Champion. Likewise, the Reserve Junior Champion, Magnolia Blossom, a Junior Yearling heifer exhibited by 4-H'er Day Cooper, was selected as overall Reserve Champ.

Show judge for the West Virginia Dairy Show and Festival was Johnny Morris, retired University of Maryland Dairy Specialist. Morris, after working almost 27 years for the Cooperative Extension Service, keeps busy conducting judging schools and judging dairy events throughout the country. When asked if the huge classes and long days of judging ever became a chore to him, Morris exclaimed, "Oh, no, it's never a chore. I enjoy every minute of it!"

Reserve Senior and Reserve Champion overall (Youth/Open), Miss WDH Glendell Adon Erna, exhibited by Michael Wilson of Greenbrier County.

Dreisbach winner in national Jersey contest

HAMBURG — Patricia Dreisbach, of R.D. 3, Hamburg, Pa., is the ninth place winner in the National Jersey Youth Achievement Contest. Patty will be honored at the All American Junior Banquet and Fun Fest in Louisville, Ky., on November 3.

This contest, sponsored annually since 1985 by The American Jersey Cattle Club, Columbus, Ohio, selects from the state Jersey achievement winners who submit their records to the AJCC.

The current National Jersey Jug Futurity Queen, Patty keeps her 18 Registered Jerseys at the Long Meadows Farm of her parents, Robert and Helene Dreisbach. Her milking cows averaged 12,587 lbs. milk and 563 lbs. butterfat on DHIR test and averaged 80.6% for type.

Patty alternates weeks feeding and milking the family's Jersey herd. She also helps diagnose and treat illnesses and injuries. Her cow knowledge helped her win the Eastern National Junior Dairyman Contest in 1983.

Patty was on the winning team at the 1983 Pennsylvania All-American Invitational Judging Contest. She has won the Kiwanis International 4-Her Award and the FFA State Jersey Breeder Award.

Patty will major in dairy science at Virginia Polytechnic Institute this fall. She plans to own and operate her own Jersey dairy, plus work as an agriculture journalist.

the grain dryer that only needs a little understanding.

You don't have to be a grain drying expert to own operate and make money with a Mondge Grain Dryer. Here are three important aspects of our dryer we think you should understand

Low Purchase and Operation Costs

Our purchase price is one of the lowest in circulating dryers. Good basic design allows us to power the 400 bu. Mondge easily with a 35 hp tractor. Combine tractor savings with an efficient burner fan system plenum chamber complex for some of the lowest cost per bushel drying figures you'll find anywhere.

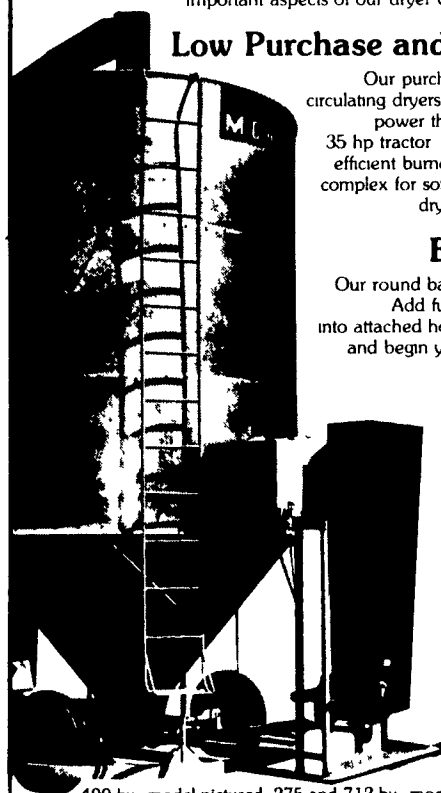

Ease of Operation

Our round base levels quickly on any terrain. Add fuel and power supply, load grain into attached hopper, set controls, ignite burner and begin your own grain drying operation.

Handles Grain with Care

Mondge Dryers have been designed to minimize kernel damage wherever possible. We feed directly from loading auger, fighting to the fighting of the recirculating auger, we measure grain temperature rather than air temperature, steeply angled walls of bottom cone increase flow of grain to base of the recirculating auger, and we even added a 3 speed transmission* for varying speed during drying and load/unload cycles.

Davis to hold Goddard Chair

UNIVERSITY PARK — Arthur A. Davis, Pittsburgh, has been selected as the first professor to hold the Maurice K. Goddard Chair in Forestry and Environmental Resource Management at The Pennsylvania State University.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Bryce Jordan, president of the University. Davis is currently director of resource policy at the Western Pennsylvania Conservancy.

"Mr. Davis is recognized nationally and internationally as an outstanding scholar, conservationist and resource management consultant," Dr. Jordan said. "I am extremely pleased that a person of his calibre and experience has been selected for this position," the Penn State president added.

Davis has accepted an initial three-year appointment, beginning October 1, 1984. He will be eligible for a second three-year term.

The Maurice K. Goddard Chair was established through corporate and personal contributions of more than $900,000. The Chair will be filled on a rotating basis for a maximum of six years to keep bringing in new ideas.

The Chair honors the career, leadership and accomplishments of Dr. Goddard, who served as Secretary of Forests and Waters and Secretary of the Department of Environmental Resources under five Pennsylvania governors.

The endowed chair, in the Penn State's School of Forest Resources in the College of Agriculture, will generate involvement from many disciplines and professions, according to College of Agriculture Dean Samuel H. Smith.

"We are grateful to those who contributed the funding and pleased about the appointment of Art Davis to the Goddard Chair," Dean Smith said. He said the holder of the Chair may assume both graduate and undergraduate teaching responsibilities. Consultation is also anticipated with all levels of government, business, and citizen groups regarding conservation policies and prudent use of Pennsylvania's natural resources, Smith concluded.

Davis received a bachelor of science degree in wildlife conservation from the University of Maine and a master of forestry from Yale University. His 35-year career includes several high level national policy positions in conservation and resource development offices.

As director of resource policy at the Western Pennsylvania Conservancy since 1974, Davis is responsible for land use planning. The Conservancy is the largest private nonprofit land conservation organization in Pennsylvania. During its 35-year history the Conservancy has acquired more than 90,000 acres of recreational and unique natural areas and sold them at cost to federal and state agencies for use as parks, forests, game lands and nature preserves.

York farm leaders to tour Bay

YORK — Twenty-five agricultural leaders and elected officials from York County will journey to the Chesapeake Bay on Sept. 22 to learn more about the water quality problems afflicting the Bay.

According to Keith Eisenhart, Chairman of the York County Conservation District, invitations have been sent to the Board of several local farm organizations including the Conservation District, York County Farmers Association and Farmers Union, Penn State Cooperative Extension Service, and the USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Invitations have also been extended to local legislators and the York County Board of Commissioners.

A recent EPA study concluded that non-point source pollution from agricultural land is the primary pollution problem stemming from Pennsylvania via the Susquehanna River. The Susquehanna provides 50% of the freshwater to the Bay. Nutrients, especially nitrogen and phosphorus, from Pennsylvania farmland are being carried into the Bay in excessive levels. This overenrichment then is believed to be causing eutrophication of the Bay waters. Recent trends of decreased catches of freshwater spawning fish species prompted the EPA's study of the Bay seven years ago. The group of York County farm leaders hopes to learn more about the Bay and how its water quality is being affected by neighboring farmers upstream, and what Pennsylvania farmers might be able to do to prevent valuable soil and fertilizer from being washed off the farm and into waterways which feed the Chesapeake Bay.

The tour is being coordinated by the York County Conservation District and the Chesapeake Bay Foundation of Annapolis, MD. Farm leaders will tour the Susquehanna Flats area by boat and will have the opportunity to discuss this important issue and how York County will be involved in the Bay "clean-up" efforts.

Brooks End York boar tops performance sale

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE — The seventh Performance Tested Boar Sale was held during Ag Progress week at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Meat Animal Evaluation Center in State College.

Of the 80 boars from outstanding swine herds across the state, 35 met the requirements for the sale and sold to buyers from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and West Virginia. The Yorkshire breed proved to be the most sought after as 18 Yorkshire boars sold for an average of $565.27. Fourteen Durocs were sold averaging $425.00, two Hampshires averaged $287.50, and one Berkshire sold for $275.00.

For the second year, Reno Thomas, Brooks End Farm, R1, Beavertown, consigned the highest testing boar that sold for $1,550.00, the top price of the sale. Purchased by the New Jersey Department of Corrections, Trenton, N.J., the Yorkshire hog tested at a 2.55 daily gain with a boar index of 154. With his boar index of 154, the third highest index of the sale to date, the Yorkshire weighed in at a final weight of 261 pounds. The sire of the boar is RTB West Pit King David.

The other consignment of Thomas sold for $800.00, also to the New Jersey Department of Corrections. The second highest selling boar in the sale, this littermate to the high selling boar took 142 days to reach 230 pounds as compared with the 136 days it took his brother.

"A lot of our breeding is imported, Large White breeding from Europe," Thomas states. "The outcross blood produces soundness and mothering ability. That's what sets ours apart," Thomas and his son-in-law, Mark Stehr said. Thomas with his brother, Park, and Stehr operate the 400-breeding sow setup at Brooks End Farm. In business for over 30 years, their stock is sold all over the Eastern United States and several foreign countries.

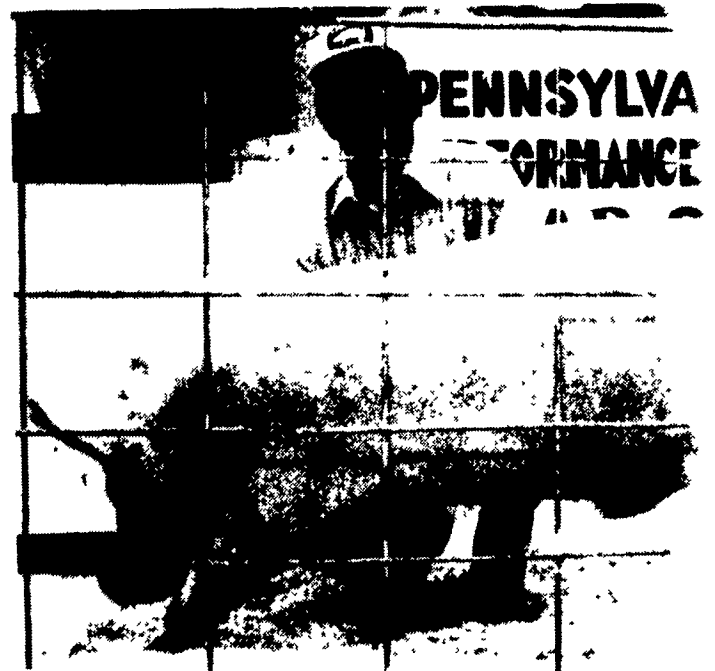

Because Landrace and Yorkshire crosses are very popular with breeders, Landrace and Duroc stock have been added to the predominant Yorkshires at Brooks End Farm. Only breeding stock is sold from the 3,000 plus purebreds on the farm and the Thomas's use this Performance Tested Boar Sale as advertising for their production sales held four times a year. "We've tested more pigs than any other breeder," Thomas stated about this testing trial and sale.

The Yorkshire consignment of Joel E. Stern, R2, East Berlin, brought the third highest bid of $775.00 from Hillside Acres, R1, Lenhartsville. Hillside Acres was the volume buyer of the sale with the purchase of five boars for a total of $2800.00.

The Performance Tested Boar Sale is held each year after the testing of enrolled boars is completed. "We try to sell the top 75% of those tested," explained Ed Barben, acting director at the center. To qualify for the sale, the boar must index 90 or more points. It must have a soundness score of two or more and also an underline score of two or more. All boars are vaccinated and quarantined by their owners to be breeders. Scoring was completed by a committee of three in accordance with the National Swine Improvement Federation recommendations and then rescored by the sale committee.

"The quality is as good or maybe better," Barben stated about this year's boars, as the auctioneer,

Harry Bachman prepared to sell the boars. Prior to the start of bidding, the Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council conducted a drawing and gave out six $50.00 certificates to buyers from their membership to use on a purchase at the sale.

Other high selling boars included:

Yorkshire - $725.00 - Consigned by Joel E. Stern, R2, East Berlin, and sold to Bruce Lemmon, R1, Newburg, Pa.

Yorkshire - $725.00 - Consigned by Penn State University, University Park, and sold to Brent

Hershey, R1, Marietta, Pa.

Duroc - $700.00 - Consigned by Bruce Lemmon, R1, Newburg, and sold to Hillside Acres, R1, Lenhartsville.

Yorkshire - $575.00 - Consigned by Elwood Houser, Lebanon, and sold to Kent Strock, Mechanicburg, Pa.

Duroc - $525.00 - Consigned by Charles E. Smith, Washington, and sold to William Darrow, Honey Grove, Pa.

Yorkshire - $525.00 - Consigned by David Glass, R1, Birdsboro, and sold to Gary Posbaugh, Philadelphia, Pa.

Farming passes in review at Berks Ag Day

BY ROBIN PHILLIP
Staff Correspondent

READING — Ag Day 'on Penn Square in the middle of Reading featured Berks County agriculture and enthusiasm.

Held on August 30, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. dairy, beef, poultry, swine, and crop farmers from throughout the county took a day off to treat city friends to "a bit of farming." Activities such as cow milking, ice cream eating, and goat dressing proved to be crowd pleasers as large crowds of city folk turned out to see the contests and displays.

Master of ceremonies for the events was Jack Gounder, WEEU radio. Each event was hosted by a county ag group or a 4-H club and many ag related prizes were given to the participants. Local celebrities as well as enthusiastic city residents joined in the contests and vied their skills in front of the crowds.

In addition to the contests, a petting zoo was available, along with machinery and grange exhibits and 4-H and FFA displays.

Coldsprings Ira Kewpie. Earlier this year, Kewpie won the championship at the Maryland state Holstein show, repeating that performance at the state central district competition.

She scored VG-88 as a heifer, milking a first-time lactation of nearly 25,000, and was named All-Maryland last year as a three-year-old sired by Hoff's well-known Coldsprings Ira bull.

Kewpie carries five generations of home-bred sires on the maternal pedigree line.

A growthy senior yearling by Romandale Magic, she holds international acclaim, having won junior champion honors at the Ontario spring show in Canada, along with a duplicate title from the Virginia spring show. The All-American senior calf winner in 1983, her dam is a VG-88 Astronaut, with 19,000 milk and a 4.2 test, while her granddam is an EX Ivanhoe with similar production records.

In the reserve junior champion spot was Penn-Gate Jetstar Clara, a junior yearling bred and owned by Bob and Chris Gitt, Littlestown.

Marlin Hoff's Coldsprings Ira Kewpie took reserve senior and reserve grand champion honors at Timonium. With winner are Alternate Dairy Princess Susie Heath and judge Loren Elsass.

Pa. By Beech-Hill Elevation Jetstar, this 1983 All-Pennsylvania junior calf topped her classes last year at both Timonium and the Eastern national show at Harrisburg, along with numerous other local and regional winnings.

Kingstead Farms of Damascus brought out the top three junior females, second place senior three, breeders herd of five females, and hung near the top in a host of classes with their homebred show string, garnering top points in the premier breeder runoffs.

Marlin Hoff claimed the premier exhibitor banner for the family's Coldsprings Farm, taking several first-place wins along with the top spot in both the best three senior females and breeder's five groupings, and second in the junior best three.

A list of winners follows:

2 Richard A Schwartzbeck 3 Henry T Muller
Intermediate heifer calf - 1 Del-Myr Elevation Elsie, owned by Jason and Donna Myers, New Windsor, 2 Robert and Christine Gitt 3 David and Johnny Hardesty 1984 Senior Breeder Award winners cited by Md. Holstein Assn.

BY JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

TIMONIUM, Md. — Richard Wills, Ruxton, was named the 1984 distinguished service award winner by the Maryland Holstein Association during ceremonies held at Monday's Holstein Show during the State Fair.

Much of Wills dairy industry career centered around the McDonough School, a private boys school located near Reisterstown. He was the superintendent of the school's farm and dairy cattle operation, and supervised their always-competitive show string at the state fair.

In 1929, Willis founded the McDonough School Fair, which became a sort of institution in itself, as the first fair of the year, where 4-H'ers could "test the waters" with their project animals. In recent years, the fair has been renamed the Richard N. Wills show and rotates among several county fairgrounds locations.

A long-time activist with the state fair, Wills served as secretary, treasurer and director for many years. He also served a long stint as superintendent of the cattle.

Wills was a former president of the Maryland Holstein Association, and state and national director. As a nationally recognized dairy cattle judge, he served as official at numerous major cattle exhibitions across the country and abroad.

The senior breeders award went to Strawberry Hills Farms, while Skip and Sue Roach were selected the junior breeders of the year.

Strawberry Hill Farms, Bel Air, is owned by brothers Leonard and John Schenning and son Bubba. The Schennings moved to their present location in 1957, and own 625 acres, plus an additional rented 100 acres, planted to hay and corn.

Rolling herd average at Strawberry Hill is 19,200 milk and 718 fat on 200 head, with a classification BAA of 104.2, including seven Excellents.

Model Farm El Leanne is one of the farm's best known show winners, having won champion honors at both the state fair and the state Holstein show. She was nominated for All-American and holds a Maryland state fat production record.

Original bloodlines in the herd trace back to Canadian stock, primarily crossed to Whirlhill Kingpin and then to Elevation. Sires currently popular in the Strawberry Hill breeding program are Mars Tony, Columbus and Board Chairman.

The Schennings are leaders in both local and state dairy activities, working closely with the state Holstein Association, Sire Power, soil conservation and DHIA.

Junior breeders Skip and Sue Roach purchased his parent's New Windsor farm in 1972, along with the herd of cattle and line of machinery.

Since then, they've doubled the herd size to 65 head, and have boosted herd production to a RHA of 19,116 milk and 730 fat. Management gets top priority with Roach, with techniques such as utilizing a large trench silo for partial feed storage and holding calf mortality to a low two percent over the last decade using calf hutches.

Sires used in the breeding program must meet requirements of 70 percent repeatability, and plus at least one point in type and $90 or better dollar value. Skip is an enthusiastic supporter of the new linear classification, and hopes to maximize type progression in his herd using that tool.

A 1986 graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and former Maryland 4-H member, Skip is a Carroll County Holstein club director, president of the county DHIA board and a state DHIA director. The couple has two children, Ryan, 5, and Rebecca, 2.

Pa. Bottle Bill

ported by a busload of unionized women workers from the Brockway glass plant in Jefferson County, who came equipped with signs, sweat shirts and union jackets expressing comments against the bill.

Their appearance was obviously planned between management of the company and the union.

Paul Emrick, manager of government relations for Brockway, before the start of the hearing told the president of Local 110 of the Glass Workers:

"You really did a good job. This looks good."

First ag representative to testify was Robert Gable, Perry County dairy farmer, on behalf of the Pennsylvania Grange.

He traced his personal experiences with equipment tire and crop losses, downtime and livestock problems due to glass bottle and metal can beverage containers.

"These problems are common to farmers all along the roads of Pennsylvania," he said.

"This is very costly and destructive for farmers and we must remove this hazard to agriculture."

Rep. Charles P. Laughlin, chairman of the House Consumer Affairs Committee which is holding the hearings, again openly stated he is opposed to the bill.

Laughlin told Gable:

"I have difficulty in supporting this bill. It would put people out of work and cost millions for consumers and for the industry to retool."

Other early pro-bill speakers on Thursday were representatives of the League of Women Voters, the Pa. Game Commission and the Audubon Society.

Glass, Owens-Illinois, Continental Can Corporation, Pennsylvania Grocers Assn. and Pa. Food Merchants Association.

Other ag speakers scheduled to give testimony were Carl Gore, of the Bradford-Sullivan County Farmers Association and Ellis Crowl, York County Farmers Association.

While admitting strong concern about job losses if the bill would be passed, Rep. Laughlin sternly lectured representatives of the industry that he is keenly interested in the retention of job in Pennsylvania for any reason.

"We're going to be keeping a watchful eye on you concerning any possible closings for any reason," he said.

A number of compromises were discussed at the hearing, including:

—Encouragement to use more refillable, returnable bottles in Pennsylvania.

—A deposit system essentially run by the state in which money would be returned to municipalities to run recycling centers.

—A state tax, possibly a mill, on beverage containers for the same purpose.

—Greater use of welfare recipients under "Workfare" or convicted drunk drivers to clean up roadsides of litter.

What do farmers think about Reagan?

MAMARONECK, N.Y. — How do the attitudes of farmers towards the Reagan Administration — its fiscal, foreign, environmental and farm policies — reflect those of the general adult male population?

Could their feelings help or hurt Democratic presidential candidate Walter F. Mondale, a product of the upper midwest farm belt?

To find out, the AgResearch Division of Starch INRA Hopper Inc., Mamaroneck, N.Y., recently conducted a FARMSCOPE mail survey of over 2,100 farmers — a random sampling of the nation's almost 2,000,000 commercial farm operators — asking them some of the same questions posed separately to non-farmer adult males by The Roper Organization, the public issues research arm of Starch INRA Hopper.

(The comparison is valid in that 97 percent of the nation's commercial farm operators are male).

According to SIH Vice President David Mackintosh, Director of the Ag Research Division, "the so-called 'farm bloc' thinks very much like the rest of the country on most issues, even on such parochial issues as energy conservation, bank lending rates and government controls on the environment."

The FARMSCOPE Omnibus Survey focused on four major areas: farmer attitudes towards government regulation of the price of oil and gas, use of pesticides and herbicides, bank interest rates on equipment loans and mortgages, etc.; farmer attitudes towards the Administration's current farm policy; farmer approval/disapproval of Mr. Reagan's positions on government and defense spending, foreign relations, the economy and dealings with the press; and the degree of their overall support for the President.

The study also asked how farmers felt about the Agriculture Department's "Payment-in-Kind" surplus crop program. [The PIK program was designed to end Washington's traditional approach of supporting crop prices of buying up surpluses at predetermined prices. Under PIK, farmers are encouraged to take crop land out of production in return for "payment-in-kind" taken from the government's huge surpluses].

Of the projected 1,893,500 commercial farm operators represented in the FARMSCOPE study, only 43 percent said they had participated in PIK during 1983. Fifty-five percent hadn't, and two percent didn't say, either way. Of those who participated, 70 percent found PIK to be helpful to themselves, an equal number finding it helpful "to farmers in general." Forty-five percent felt PIK to be beneficial to the American public, i.e. tax-payers. Sixteen percent didn't think PIK helpful to themselves, 15 percent didn't think it helped farmers in general, and 26 percent didn't think PIK benefitted the tax-payer.

The fact that fewer than half the nation's commercial farms took advantage of PIK underscores the ambivalent feelings many farmers hold concerning the White House's current farm policy.

Free market policy

Asked to choose one of three possible government farm policies, 48 percent of the commercial farm operators surveyed by AgResearch opted for one that favored "a free market for farm products," but one that would be supported by a government-provided "safety net" in the event of large-scale crop failure, or the bottom dropping out of the farm market.

In this regard, farmers seemed in near-agreement with the 49 percent of the general male population that The Roper Organization also found favoring that policy.

Twenty-four percent of the farmers leaned to having the federal government assuring farmers a "reasonable income even in poor years" through loans and subsidies, while just the same [23 percent] voted for laissez-faire: let the farmer succeed according to his own efficiencies.

Close to public

As a breed, farmers tend to be individualistic and pride themselves on being self-made men. Conventional wisdom therefore has it that farmers prefer less of a paternalistic hand by government. They may, but on balance, this FARMSCOPE study shows farmers not to be that far apart from the general population on such topics as government regulating toxic waste disposal, controlling the manufacture and sale of barbiturates, policing prescription drug marketers and ensuring "truth-in-Advertising."

Farmers are also close to the general population on government's role in regulating the oil companies and the banks.

Where they part company with the general population is over such bread-and-butter issues as controlling the use of pesticides and herbicides in farming, and making farmers comply with automotive and occupational safety standards.

One-fourth of the farmers think there's too much government interference in their use of farm chemicals (as against only nine percent of the general population). And where 18 percent of the general population would favor less government say in the use of automobiles, fully 30 percent of the farmers want government to hop off the running board. The same, sharp disparity shows up under "occupational safety." Here, 29

THE DIESEL LAWN MOWER.

Kubota has a whole new way to cut the grass. It's the first diesel lawn and garden tractor in the country.

Kubota's G-Series lawn and garden tractors come with water-cooled 2- or 3-cylinder diesel engines. They're built to outlast ordinary gas mowers by several seasons.

There are four G-Series models, from 10 to 14 horsepower. They all have live front PTO shaft drive to the mid-mount mower. You can choose a hydrostatic transmission. And you can choose a variety of implements including a snowblower, tiller or front blade.

So don't let the grass grow under your feet. See the G-Series soon.

percent of the farmers felt there were too many rules, whereas only 11 percent of the adult (non-farming) males felt that way.

Opinion of Reagan

Asked to indicate their approval or disapproval of Reagan's overall performance or his positions on critical issues of the day, farmers were urged to "vote" regardless of their opinions of the man.

On such broad issues as cutting back government spending, handling of the economy and handling of the news media, the farmer views tended to reflect the positions taken by non-farmers. On the negative side, reports Mackintosh, "farmers go along with the rest of the country in being more critical of the President when the subject turned to his handling of foreign relations — particularly in Central America and the Middle East (Lebanon)."

Actually, only 18 percent of the farmers approve of the Reagan farm policy, with 34 percent disapproving, 48 percent harboring mixed feelings. [Not surprisingly, many more — 45 percent — approve of Mr. Reagan's lifting the Carter Administration's ban on selling grain to the Russians.]

"On the grain question," points out Mr. Mackintosh, "farmers may be 'voting' their livelihood, not their politics." Only 12 percent of the farmers disapproved of trafficking with the Soviets, whereas 35 percent of the Roper sample disapproved.

"Among voters," observes Burns W. Roper, "Mr. Reagan always seems to score better on the 'overall job he is doing' than on specific issues." This is borne out by that part of the FARMSCOPE study that sought to gauge the extent of farmer support for GOP-standard bearer Reagan.

At the time the survey was taken — while Mondale was still battling it out in the primaries with Sen. Gary Hart — 22 percent of the farmers described themselves as "strong supporters" of the President, while 12 percent called themselves "strong critics."

Overall, the gap between Reagan supporters (60%) and critics (30%) in the so-called "farm bloc" was 30 points, while the gap between non-farmer supporters (52%) and critics (44%) came to only 8 points. "On the face of it, this should please Mr. Reagan's campaign strategists," notes Mackintosh, "but it should be noted we are talking about attitudes expressed in March of 1984, not August and by no means November."

He goes on, "in this quasi-political study of farmer attitudes, it would be prudent not to look at the 'farm market' as one amorphous whole, but as a collection of separate pieces that somehow form a recognizable mosaic. Just as no politician today would speak of 'going after' doctors or lawyers, distinctions must be made among farmers as well. The needs and interests of the large corn farmer in Iowa are not the same as those of the small tobacco farmer in North Carolina. Even so, farmers in large part share the attitudes and concerns of the general population, and should not be wooed simply in terms of narrow self-interest.

Farm family honors due

READING — For the 29th year the 1984 Reading Fair will honor an Outstanding Farm Family in Berks County, as well as four young people who have attained outstanding achievements in agriculture or Home Economics.

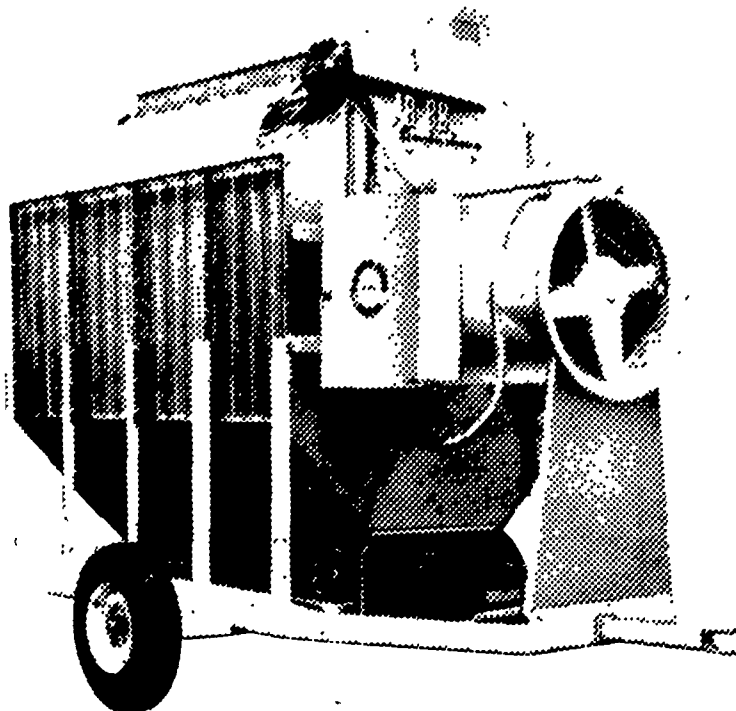

Two of these young people are chosen by the Berks County Cooperative Extension Service on their blue forms of Achievements, including the top outstanding 4-H Club boy for 1984 and the top Outstanding 4-H Club girl for 1984. The two others are chosen from Vocational Agriculture and the Outstanding Future Farmer of America girl in Agriculture.

These four young people, their families, together with the Outstanding Farm Family chosen for 1984 will be honored at the Awards Banquet on Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Fleetwood Grange Hall sponsored by the fair.

Also in attendance will be all former Farm Families honored by the fair plus the Board of Directors, their spouses and committee chairmen. The guest speaker will be the honorable State Sen. Michael A. O'Pake. Senator O'Pake is a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee during the past 16 years and a leader in the "Clean & Green" amendment which permits lower taxation of Farm land.

Soybean meal for ruminants studied

St. Louis, Mo. - It's hard to improve on soybean meal as a protein supplement for poultry and swine. But cattle and sheep use soy protein much less efficiently.

University of Wisconsin researcher Larry Satter wants to improve soy protein utilization in ruminants. His studies of the mysteries of soy protein breakdown in ruminants are among the research programs currently being funded by the American Soybean Association to increase demand for soybeans and products.

Satter's studies are aimed at finding ways to reduce protein loss in the rumen and thus improve utilization of soybean meal. Results of his work could mean a larger market for soybean meal in dairy and feeder cattle rations.

Working with a small herd of surgically modified dairy cattle fed a ration of heat-treated soybean meal, Satter takes samples of the meal as it travels through the digestive system.

"The research shows that longer heat treating prolongs soy protein breakdown in the rumen," says Satter. "That increased resistance to rumen microorganisms allows the high protein meal to move further in the digestive system to where it can be used more efficiently."

The studies have also shown that altering feeding methods or feed density to speed passage through the rumen may help decrease protein damage and increase the value of soybean protein in dairy rations.

Farmer checkoff funds will help Satter expand his research. He plans to purchase a roaster this year so he can improve control of heat treatments and feed a larger number of dairy animals. Satter will expand his studies to compare soybean meal to distillers grain and corn gluten meal - two products that are competing more and more with soybean meal as a protein source.

The importance of Satter's studies goes beyond U.S. shores. Japan's dairy industry is a heavy user of soybean meal. And recently a team of Chinese dairy researchers - in the U.S. at the invitation of the Soybean Association - visited Satter's research laboratory.

Satter's study is one of three projects currently being funded by soybean farmers to learn more about soybean meal. Others have studied the value of soybean hulls in animal rations and the effect of various levels of heat treatment on soybean meal in hog rations.

Dreisbach earns award

HAMBURG — Carol Ann Dreisbach of Hamburg, earned 12th place in the 1984 Pot O' Gold Production Contest. Her cow, Pine Buff Jeweler Mistress produced 10,770 lbs. of milk and 417 lbs. of butterfat at one year and 11 months of age.

This lactation, when adjusted for age and season of calving, had a dollar value of $1,789. Dreisbach's prize winnings were $371.63. She purchased Pine Buff Jeweler Mistress at the 1981 Pot O'Gold Sale in Louisville, Ky. The cow was consigned by Roy H. Watson of Troy.

The Pot O' Gold Sale, sponsored annually by The American Jersey Cattle Club, Columbus, Ohio, features 18 selected Jersey heifers. Twenty five percent of the combined selling price of these heifers is set aside in a Pot O' Gold fund. This money is used for awards to the juniors whose animals produce the highest dollar value from their first lactation.

Dayton livestock sale

BY BETH NESBIT
 Staff Correspondent

DAYTON — The annual Armstrong County 4-H livestock sale was held Friday, August 17, in the show arena at the Dayton fairgrounds, culminating many months of hard work.

To many 4-H'ers the evening was joyful as well as sad. After a 4-H member has spent months preparing a project it gives him a sense of satisfaction when he shakes the buyer's hand in appreciation. But he also feels sad when he sees his "best friend" of the past few months being loaded on a truck on its way to market.

Franklin Village Shop 'N Save was the top bidder for the 1,131-pound grand champion steer at $4.50 per pound. Scott Coleman of Star Route, Spring Church was the owner.

The reserve grand champion steer, owned by Todd Treadway, R.D. 1, Worthington weighed in at 1,236 pounds. Kittanning Shop 'N Save paid $1.95 per pound for this fine quality animal.

Peoples Bank of Ford City was the successful bidder for the grand champion lamb that went for a high bid of $8.00 per pound. Marlene McCutcheon of Vandergrift, R.D.#2 was the owner of this 128-pound lamb. The reserve champion market lamb went to Kittanning Agway at $5.25 per pound. This reserve champion lamb was owned by Craig Minich of Ford City, R.D. 2.

Elderton State Bank purchased the grand champion hog for $4.10 per pound. The 235 pound hog was owned by Katie Kronen of Iron Bridge Road, Freeport.

The 249 pound reserve grand champion owned by Kenny Hooks of Dayton R.D. 2 sold for $2.50 per pound to Dayton Agway.

The owner of the champion lamb was also the owner of the grand champion carcass hog. Marlene McCutcheon sold her 156 pound carcass to Charlie Bash for $3.30 per pound. Jenni Grooms of Dayton, R.D. 2 was the owner of the 160 pound reserve champion carcass hog that went for $2.15 per pound to Bell's Market of Apollo.

The Elderton State Bank purchased Mark Longwells 56 pound grand champion carcass lamb with a bid of $7.00 per pound. The reserve grand champion carcass lamb went to Andy's Market of Ford City for $6.50 per pound. This 62 pound lamb was owned by Cammy Cornish of R.D. 2, Dayton.

Danny Brank of Star Route, Spring Church, was the owner of the 565 pound grand champion carcass steer that went to Bell's Market of Apollo for $1.85 per pound. The 770 pound reserve champion carcass steer owned by Mark Good of R.D. 2, Dayton was purchased by Kittanning Agway with the successful bid of $1.65.

Clayton Winbark of Rochester Mills was the auctioneer-ringman and Deb Rupp of R.D. 2, Dayton was auctioneer. Weighmaster of the annual event was D. Carl Snyder of Dayton R.D. 1.

chased Judy Zerby's 105 pound grand champion market lamb for $5.10 per pound.

Wellsboro, Knoxville and Mansfield Agways purchased Susan Zerby's 95 pound reserve champion market lamb for $3.50 per pound. Judy and Susan are the daughters of Clair and Carol Zerby of RD1, Knoxville.

In an awards program prior to the sale, 1983 buyers were recognized and received an 8" x 10" color photo of the animals they purchased. Jerald Rumsey, vice president of First Citizens National Bank of Mansfield received a special plaque from the Junior Livestock Sale Committee recognizing his support of the sale over the past five years.

The 1983 buyers and potential 1984 buyers were also treated to a pork roast dinner prior to the sale by the Junior Livestock Sales Committee and 4-H/FFA livestock exhibitors.

purchased her from breeder Jacques Houde of Canada. In her senior 2-year-old class judge King referred to Rachael as the "easy winner, a cow showing a lot of style and balance." As well as being a fine show animal, she is also a top producer, projected for 24,890 lbs. of milk and 1040 lbs. of fat this year. She tests at 4.5.

The long trip from Western Pa. was certainly rewarding for the Queens Manor group. They captured top honors in many other classes as well. Champion Bull was senior yearling Leadfield Privelege, sired by Leadfield Columbus-ET. The champion's dam, Leadfield Telstar Linda-ET is classified Ex 92 and produced 1300 lbs. fat. His full sister was highest selling female at $51,000 in the recent Sale of the Stars in Canada.

Reserve Champion Bull was Swampy Hollow Valiant Rick-ET, bred by John M. Umble & Sons and owned by Rick Partnership.

Junior Champion Female was Penn-Gate Jetstar Clara, bred and owned by Robert Gitt, Littlestown. L & J Columbus Speckle, sired by Leadfield Columbus-ET, was named reserve junior champion. She is owned by Rankin Farm Inc.

Premier breeder of the show was Obie Snider's Singing Brook Farms. The honors for premier exhibitor were shared by Queens Manor Holsteins and Singing Brook Farms.

Justin Doeberienier took his share of youth division prizes, too. Of course, C Houdale Tempo Rachael took the senior champion and grand champion honors in the youth class, but Doeberienier's Conrid Astrostar Lynn captured the reserve senior and reserve grand champion titles in the youth division as well.

Junior champion female in the youth class was WRG Rora Eager, again shown by Justin Doeberienier. Reserve honors went to the intermediate heifer calf, Sunnybend Sexy Icicle B Star, bred and owned by Bridgette R. Boyer.

Winner of the 1984 Keystone futurity class was Irene G. Benner, Millerstown, with Santee-Acres Majesty Susan. Entries in the futurity class are entered as calves and the part of the entry fees each year are set aside for prize monies.

Benner won $160 with the first place title.

Judge Paul King commented on the fine overall quality of the more than 200 entries. King, of Kingway Farm, Airville, has a herd of 50 registered Holsteins and is a well-known breeder and showman. King has judged numerous shows, including state events in Maryland, West Virginia, and North Carolina.

Bill Nichols, Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, noted that it was a pleasure to move the state show to different areas and show these quality cows to people across the state. He reminded everyone to attend the Eastern National Holstein Show in Harrisburg, Sept. 27. The best Holsteins from North America will be there.

The state Holstein show was Doug Hershey's farewell. Hershey, who is leaving his post at Pennsylvania Holstein, said he was at least good to go out with such a fine show, but he will miss all the friends he has made in his four years with the Association.

Brethren auction opens Friday

LEBANON — The 8th Annual Disaster Relief Auction of the Church of the Brethren will be held Friday and Saturday, Sept. 14 and 15 at the Lebanon Fairgrounds. Over 80 hand-made quilts will be featured at the event, which seeks to raise over $125,000 for disaster victims in the U.S. and throughout the world.

The auction begins Friday evening with the sale of farm implements at 6 p.m. and the auction of some 40 heifers and livestock at 7 p.m. Many of the heifers have been donated by area farmers or purchased by church members specifically for the sale.

The main auction events will be held Saturday, with the auctioning of quilts, antiques and household items. The quilts, which feature various Pa. Dutch designs, were stitched by church women during the past year especially for the auction. The auction of household furnishings and used goods begins at 9 a.m. and the quilts at 11 a.m.

Another major attraction is arts and crafts. Over 40 different craftsmen will demonstrate and sell their handiwork during the auction. The event will also feature a wide variety of food, including pot pie, chicken bar-b-que, various soups, apple dumplings, 500 homemade pies, ice cream, and more.

The Saturday activities begin with breakfast at 6:30 a.m. and continue until late afternoon.

The event attracts several thousand people each year, and last year raised almost $100,000 for Church of the Brethren Disaster Response, headquartered in New Windsor, Md., which supports a network of clean-up workers and volunteer construction crews, able to respond to victims of tornadoes, floods, and other disasters. So far this year, volunteers have helped at disaster sites in more than a dozen states.

The September 14-15 Auction is a major funding source for the agency, and is organized by nearly a hundred volunteers from throughout the churches of the Atlantic Northeast District of the Church of the Brethren.

Another heifer is led into sale ring during last year's Disaster Relief Auction of the Church of the Brethren at Lebanon Fairgrounds.

Pa. begins consumer hotline

HARRISBURG — State Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell said today that Pennsylvania consumers can benefit from a new U.S. Department of Agriculture toll-free telephone number providing information on the proper handling of meat and poultry products from Sept. 5 - Oct. 31.

The commonwealth has been selected as one of three pilot states for this consumer line, which can also be used to report problems with meat and poultry products. The toll-free number, 1-800-535-4555, will be in operation from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, for the two-month period on a trial basis.

"Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Ohio were selected as pilot states, to determine whether sufficient consumer interest exists for an ongoing toll-free service," Hallowell said. "The Meat and Poultry Hotline will not only provide food safety and preparation information for consumers, but also give the USDA information about consumer needs and problems."

Hallowell urged consumers to take advantage of this temporary toll-free service. "USDA wants to increase the benefits provided by the hotline making it more accessible to the public," he noted. "If the toll-free number shows enough usage, the Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) may establish a national toll-free line for consumer questions and problems."

"USDA currently has a nationwide number, 1-202-472-4485, which is a toll call, where consumers can leave their name and telephone number and have a staff person return the call. That number received approximately 2,000 inquiries in 1983 according to the FSIS."

The Food and Safety Inspection Service is the federal agency responsible for insuring that meat and poultry products are safe, wholesome and accurately labeled.

Global food dilemma to be explored

NORTHBROOK, IL. — Exploring the global food dilemma will be the theme of this year's IMC World Food Production Conference, the 39th in a unique series of programs conducted by International Minerals & Chemical Corporation since 1965.

Held in 21 countries on five continents since the series was begun, the IMC programs symbolize the company's continuing efforts to increase food productivity through the optimum use of agricultural technology and supporting disciplines.

The international meetings have brought together agricultural, governmental, business, financial and academic leaders to examine problems and opportunities relating to worldwide hunger and food output.

"This year's program, which will be held in Honolulu, Hawaii, Oct. 28-Nov. 3, will bring together at one time agricultural leaders from around the globe," according to B.B. Turner, president of IMC's Fertilizer Group. "Previous sessions were more regional in nature, focusing on problems and topics of special interest to a specific part of the world.

"Those programs, involving leaders from a region such as Latin America or the Asia-Pacific sector, were helpful in exploring practical solutions to problems confronting agriculture in each area.

"The 1984 World Food Production Conference will expand that concept by bringing experts together from widely-diverse geographical as well as cultural and economic backgrounds to probe the global aspects of food productivity," Turner explained.

IMC expects to have authorities from Asia, Oceania, Latin America, Europe, Africa and North America taking part in this year's program, Turner added.

"The broader attendance base also will provide an even wider range of experience from which to draw out ideas that can help farmers around the world increase their productivity and income potential," the IMC official explained.

He said the theme of this year's conference is timely because of the dilemma between an improving agricultural outlook and a continued serious problem of widespread hunger and malnutrition in many areas.

"A recent U.S. Department of Agriculture report warned that third-world countries would have to import 31 million tons of food net year, a rise of 3 percent, simply to keep hunger in check at a level far below accepted nutritional needs," Turner said.

"It remains the responsibility of more developed countries not only to meet those pressing, immediate food needs, but also to help less-developed nations to increase their own agricultural capacity. That is one key purpose of the IMC food conferences, where practical answers to such problems are examined."

As in previous years, IMC's 1984 conference will feature a number of international authorities representing a broad range of business and technical disciplines.

Highlighting the agenda will be addresses by Dr. Norman E. Borlaug, Nobel Laureate for his work in developing new, high-yielding wheat varieties, and Dr. Robert F. Chadler, noted for his pioneer work in developing new varieties of rice that, along with Dr. Borlaug's efforts, launched the famous Green Revolution of the 1960's.

Also on this year's IMC program will be experts on agricultural conditions in all parts of the world, including special reports on the Soviet Union, the Peoples' Republic of China and a presentation on tropical agriculture research at the University of Hawaii.

The Hawaii program marks only the third time in 19 years that IMC has conducted one of the conference sessions within the U.S. Other countries where IMC World Food Production Conferences have been held include Australia, Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, France, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Mexico, Peru, the Philippines, Puerto Rico, Singapore, Thailand and Venezuela. Several countries have been the site of more than one conference, including Brazil, which leads with three meetings.

Doeberieners top Crawford Co. Holstein Show

BY NANCY KUNIK
Staff Correspondent

MEADVILLE — It seems no matter where they go, the Ed Doeberien family, Queens Manor, Jamestown, sweeps the show.

The was the repeated story at the Northwest Pa. Open Holstein Show, August 22, at the Crawford County Fair, Meadville, Pa.

Judge Ted S. Renner of Dalton, Ohio saw superior quality and style as well as quantity when approximately 300 entries circled the white fenced ring.

Garnering 12 ribbons and rosettes, the Doeberien family definitely stood out as winners. Their wins included grand champion bull, and junior champion, senior and reserve senior champions, and grand and reserve grand champion females. In addition, they earned the premier exhibitor award.

The Grand and Reserve Grand Champions are owned by teenager Justin Doeberien, who had one day earlier acquired both titles in the 4-H Holstein show, with the animals reversed.

In the open show, the champion was three-year-old Conrid Astrostar Lynn, sired by Leadfield Stardom-ET and bred by Howard Hammond III. Reserve champion went to Senior two-year-old, C Houdale Tempo Rachael, sired by Roybrook Tempo and bred by Jacques Houde. Rachael recently was chosen grand champion at the Western Pa. Championship Show in Washington County, where Doeberieners also had reserve champion.

Premier Breeder title was earned by Vel-Rus Farms, Ernest and Janet Oakes family, of Cochran, also a repeat of the Western Pa. Championship Show.

Reserve champion bull went to Rynd Home Farm of Cochran with their home bred junior yearling bull.

Reserve junior champion female went to Morrell Farms with their senior calf, Merrillea Pete Marny. Morrells also had four first including Best Three Females.

The Crawford County Open Class Colored Breed Shows displayed all five dairy breeds August 23. The two-ring judging got into swing at 9 a.m. with Ralph E. Turley of Mansfield, Ohio seeking champions for the Jersey and Guernsey breeds as Nelson E. Langel of Kirkersville, Ohio judged the Ayrshire, Brown Swiss and Milking Shorthorn entries.

For only the second consecutive year, premier awards were given to the colored breed exhibitors, begun by the NW Colored Breed Association.

Martin Gessner and family of Springboro claimed both premier awards as well as grand champion Milking Shorthorn. Reserve grand champion went to Wilda Kline of Mars, Pa.

Joe Irons of Smethport received both premier breeder and exhibitor awards and grand champion of the Brown Swiss. David Reese took home Reserve Champion honors.

In the Ayrshire breed, Bob Dorchester garnered the grand champion female title and both premier awards for his Roshel Farm of Albion. Reserve grand champion went to Wilda Kline.

took the premier breeder and exhibitor awards in the Guernsey breed although Cynthia Kunz of Centerville received top honors with grand and reserve grand championships.

Competition was even tougher in the Jersey breed and three different winners emerged. Spruce Row Farm, owned by Charles Hotson, Jeff and Janet Peters, of Meadville once again claimed both premiers while others got the championships.

of Allen Farms, both of Conneaut Lake, stood with reserve champion.

The annual picnic luncheon was held in the arena with milk being furnished by the NW Pa. Colored Breed Assoc. and Spruce Row Farm.

Red & White production awards given

TROY—The Davis family of R2, Troy, received awards for high cows for milk and fat at the annual Field Days of the Penn-York Red and White Dairy Cattle Association, held recently in Alden, N.Y.

Matt-Will TT Ginny-Red-Twin won the 1984 production award for fat for 2-3 year olds with an average of 3.9 lbs. fat and an annual yield of 1027 lbs. The production award for milk for 2-3 year olds went to Matt-Will TT Gracey-Red-Twin. She produced 26,872 lbs. of milk.

A third Davis cow, Frosty Vale Major Honi, won the 1984 production award for fat for mature cows. She produced an average of 3.3 lbs. of butterfat for an annual yield of 1069 lbs.

Other Field Days activities included the election of officers to the Board of Directors of the Association. New officers elected were: Ginny Davis, President; Richard Purnell, Wells Tannery, Vice-President; and Kathy Smith, Dundee, N.Y., Secretary-Treasurer.

Rose family has top steers at Crawford Co. show, sale

BY NANCY KUNIK
Staff Correspondent

MEADVILLE — The Crawford County Fair's 12th annual 4-H Livestock Market Sale held on August 24, drew a large crowd to bid on 156 market animals.

The six hour sale brought no new records but the average hog price, on 52 hogs, not including champions, was $1.04. Lambs averaged $1.43 and steers .86 cents per pound.

The champion hog owned by Trisha Leszek of Saegertown sold for $2.50 per pound to Rose's Abattoir of Cochran. Reserve Champion was purchased by Van's Meat Market of Meadville for $2 per pound and went to Kim Blauser, also of Saegertown.

The champion market lamb was a suffolk owned by Dana Kelly of Hartstown, who received $9.00 per pound from First National Bank. Mitchell's Milk Hauling of Saegertown was the high bidder at $6.25 per pound for the reserve lamb. Tom Trace was the owner of that animal.

This year, champion and reserve champion market steer were owned by the same family. Jenny and Jeff Rose of R.D.2 Cochran, paraded their Limousin crosses into the ring and emerged with ribbons and wide grins.

Both are members of the Fabulous Farmers 4-H Club and fellow member Brian Wood explained that Limousins are quite new to the ring in Crawford County. They are normally red in color but when bred with Angus, they may be black as in these cases.

"Blackjack" owned by Jenny sold for $2.25 per pound to Cabot

Oil & Gas. This champion was then donated back for resale by the buyer. The $1 per pound received the second time was given to the Crawford County 4-H youth by Cabot Oil & Gas of Meadville.

The reserve champion sold at $1.30 per pound to Bush Insurance Agencies of Meadville.

In addition to the champion steer, a lamb was donated back for resale, a few animals were given to the Crawford County Home Farm and still others to the Buyers Appreciation dinner to be held September 22. Auctioneers for the sale were Earl & David Nicolls, Gary Shideman, Sherman Allen, George Palahunik and Bruce Nicolls.

Berks Holstein sale averages $1,230

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

READING — Although the prices reflected the current state of the dairy industry, the large crowd at the annual Berks County Holstein Club Sale held them steady as the 28 head of black and whites averaged $1,230.00. Held on August 29 at the Reading Fairgrounds, the sale featured sound pedigreed, young animals.

The high selling animal was the recently fresh, two-year-old consignment of Ray Bicksler, Richland. Selling for $2500.00 on the bid from David and Dale Himmelberger, Lebanon, the fancy two-year-old boasted a high testing maternal line. Russell Dale Pete Amy is a daughter of Straight Pine Elevation Pete out of a Pawnee Farm Arlinda Chief daughter. The dam has records over 20,000 pounds milk and a 4.3 percent test and the granddam has records over 26,000 pounds milk with a 3.7 percent test.

"We're trying to build up our herd," stated the Himmelberger's after their purchase. They currently milk 35 head of Holsteins at 2315 Heilmandale Road, Lebanon.

The second and third high selling animals, as well as three other well bred consignments sold to the team of Soto and Bidot, of Puerto Rico. Currently seeking approximately 50 head for their farms in Puerto Rico, the two men sought springing, growthy heifers at this sale. Gary Willier, Lititz, guided them through their purchases and stated that they buy 400 to 1000 head of Pennsylvania cattle each year for their farms.

Zahncroft Pete Princess, consigned by Dennis Sattazahn, Womelsdorf, brought $1700.00 on the bid from Soto and Bidot. The well grown heifer is due in October to S-W-D Valiant. She is also a daughter of Straight Pine Elevation Pete.

Third high selling animal was the consignment of Richard Troutman, Richland. Oakenbound Tradition Laural sold for $1675.00 on the bid from Soto and Bidot. Also due in October, the Sweet Haven Tradition daughter boasted a Jet Stream dam with records over 22,000 pounds milk and a 3.8 percent test.

Soto and Bidot were the volume buyers of the sale with the purchase of five head for a total of $6850.00.

Prices ranged from $950.00 to $2500.00 and the median of the sale was $1200.00. Sale Chairman Dean Hartman expressed some disappointment over the scratch of over 15 consignments but said the quality was good and he was pleased with the turnout and bidding at the sale.

Other high selling consignments included:

$1600.00 - Mertz Creek Marcie, consigned by Mertz Brothers, Kutztown, and purchased by James Younker, R2, Fleetwood.

$1600.00 - Four K's Persuader Iris, consigned by Robert Kopfer family, Fleetwood, and purchased by David and Ruth Schrock, R1, Womelsdorf.

$1550.00 - Keystone Jaycee Johanna, consigned by Keystone Farm, Easton, and purchased by Stacey Meyers, R2, Kempton.

$1360.00 - Hidden-View Money Maker Frolic, consigned by Charles Kissling, Robesonia, and purchased by David Burkholder and Raymond Weaver, R2, Robert Kopfer, R2, Fleetwood. Elverson. $1325.00 - Len-Lyn Magnet Jean, consigned by Galen Crousee, Stevens, and purchased by Richard Beiler, R1, New Tripoli.

Lusk takes Jersey honors

CHARLEROI — Michelle Lusk of R2, Charleroi, placed 11th in the National Jersey Youth Production Contest. She will be honored during the Junior Banquet and Fun Fest at the All American Junior Jersey Show in Louisville, Ky., on Nov. 3.

Lusk's Superbs Roasted Peanut produced 19,704 lbs. of milk on an age-adjusted, 4 percent fat-corrected-milk (FCM) basis. The winning cow, Bettydon Classic Nadia, owned by Paul Thun of Tillamook, Ore., produced 22,186 lbs. of milk.

The National Jersey Youth Production Contest is an annual event sponsored by The American Jersey Cattle Club. It is open to any 4-H or FFA member under 19 years of age with a Jersey project completing a DHIR or DHIA lactation.

Tom McCauley is right at home in the winner's circle, accepting the trophy for his grand champion dairy cow in the Elizabethtown Fair's Open Dairy Show. His three-year-old was also named grand champion and supreme champion in the Youth Show.

Margaret Herr's Hampshire ewe was named reserve champion market lamb.

E-town caps Fair Week with open dairy, sheep events

BY JACK HUBLEY

ELIZABETHTOWN — No challengers were strong enough to unseat Queen Star Sexy at the Elizabethtown Fair's Open Dairy Show on Friday, Aug. 31. Named the grand champion dairy cow in the Youth Show, the three-year-old Holstein owned by Tom McCauley was also named supreme champion over all livestock breeds, and once again grand champion in open competition.

A Sexation daughter out of an 89-point Ivanhoe Star dam, McCauley's fancy Holstein milked 23,851 pounds during her first lactation, with 1,040 pounds of butterfat at a 4.4 test.

Coming away with reserve champion honors was Niki Wivell, the daughter of Joe and Becky Wivell of Columbia. Named the first-place two-year-old in both the Youth and Open Shows, Niki's Holstein was sired by Lucky Royal Star Admiral, out of an 86-point Elevation cow. She has a projected production of 15,000 pounds.

Open competition in the market lamb show resulted in a new face in the winner's circle as Lisa Martin's black lamb checkmated Youth Show winner Mark Tracy's bid for a second grand championship.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Martin of New Holland, Lisa purchased her lamb from Wade Brothers of Virginia. A Rambouillet-Suffolk-Dorset cross, the lamb is a half-brother to last year's Farm Show champion.

The always formidable Margaret Herr was right behind Martin at the reserve champion position. Herr's 114-pound Hampshire ewe came from Bill Maghes of Virginia.

In breed competition, Herr retained her championship status, with judge Clyde Myers selecting her yearling ewe as champion. In Youth competition, judge Greg Snyder had selected Herr's ewe lamb as both his champion Dorset and Best of Show over all breeds. Herr's only defeat in Dorset competition came when John Snowden's entry took top honors in the Open's ewe lamb class.

Hampshire and Cheviot winners remained the same as those selected in the Youth Show, with Myers going to Michelle Mylin's yearling ewe for his top Hampshire, and John Martin showing the event's only Cheviot.

But Myers reversed Snyder's Youth Show decision in the Open Shropshire Show, picking Matt Snavelly's yearling ewe over Matt's sister, Arlisa's ewe lamb for grand champion honors.

Once again Mark Tracy had the only entries in the Southdown Show, but this time the judge went with Tracy's yearling ewe as champion over the previous winner, a ewe lamb.

The Youth Show's top Suffolks champion and Carey Donches' yearling ewe as reserve. Tim Engle's yearling ewe as

An interesting addition to the Open Show was an exhibit of lesser-known sheep breeds provided by Bob Lauffer. The Garden Spot High School vo-ag instructor displayed representatives of the Montadale, Border Leicester, Romney and Coopworth breeds, pointing out the value of some of the longer fleeced sheep to the handspinning market.

Drawing to a close at 10 p.m. on Friday night, the Open Sheep Show was the final event in what turned out to be the largest sheep competition in Elizabethtown Fair history. Entries in this year's Youth Show exceeded 190, representing a 50 percent increase in participation over 1983.

Grain dust explosion is constant danger

NEWARK, Del. — Mill managers and grain elevator operators are keenly interested in dust control and fire prevention. The occasional explosion that completely destroys a facility and kills or injures several employees is a vivid reminder that dust is explosive and that an explosion can occur in any facility if proper precautions are not taken.

Since the rash of dust explosions a few years ago and OSHA's subsequent active participation in inspections and rule-making, Delaware extension safety specialist Ron Jester says elevator operators are more aware of potential hazards. Farmers with milling and grain storage operations also have cause for concern.

Since dust, oxygen and a spark in a confined space must all be present to create an explosion, prevention involves removing one of these elements. The best way to reduce the hazard is to eliminate either the dust or the source of ignition, the specialist says.

He suggests farmers and others with grain storage facilities follow these guidelines to minimize the chance of a grain dust explosion:

- Maintain a good housekeeping program. Prevent dust buildup on equipment, pipes, floors and around grinders.

- Be sure dust-tight equipment is really dust-tight. Keep spouts and positive-pressure air ducts in good repair to prevent the escape of dust. Promptly fix leaks in grinding equipment and fans.

- Use a dust-control system to help reduce pressure buildup inside equipment and keep dust from being forced into the mill.

- Prevent ignition by removing foreign materials from incoming ingredients. Magnets are commonly installed in spouts leading to processing or grinding equipment.

- Lubricate bearings according to manufacturers' recommendations to prevent overheating.

- Align belt drives properly.

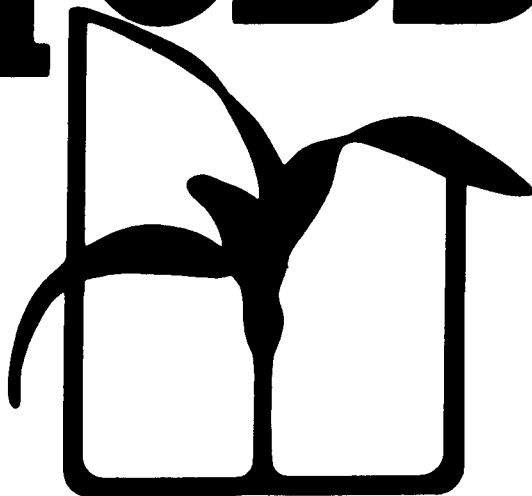

Misalignment can create friction and sufficient heat to generate a fire.

- Check tension on bucket elevators. Inspect them periodically to ensure proper operation.

- Enforce the no smoking rule in mill and grain facilities.

- Install dust-tight lights and explosion-proof plug-in receptacles.

HARRISBURG — State

Agriculture Secretary Penrose

Hallowell today announced plans to distribute cash grants to all 67

Pennsylvania counties for the purchase of food products for distribution to the needy.

The program is the result of an $8 million appropriation signed into law by Gov. Dick Thornburgh

in the state's 1984-85 general fund budget, authorizing the Department of Agriculture to make cash

entitlements available to counties for purchase, storage and transportation of feed for the needy.

This food will supplement more than 94 million pounds of federal surplus foods valued at more than $115 million which has already been distributed in Pennsylvania

through the existing Teemporary

Program.

"Last year, a similar $8 million cash grant program was successfully implemented across the state through the innovativeness, resourcefulness and responsiveness of our County Commissioners and their designated lead agencies," Hallowell said.

"This year, we are again asking the counties to develop distribution and purchasing systems which maximize the amount of food which is distributed and that these systems insure that the most needy receive the assistance on an amitable basis. As in the past, a priority will be placed on the purchase of readily consumable

Eligibility requirements for the program will be established by the individual counties in development of distribution plans. All plans will be received by the Pennsylvania

Department of Agriculture and must be approved by the Department prior to disbursement of funds. No plan will be accepted which creates an economic burden for recipients, and counties are required to retain evidence that eligibility requirements are met by the recipients.

Eberly gets PDA post

HARRISBURG — Glenn D. Eberly of Elizabethtown, Lancaster County, has been named coordinator of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Meat Animal Evaluation Center in State College.

The Meat Animal Evaluation Center, a division of the Department's Bureau of Animal Industry, was established to monitor the ability of various classes and species of livestock to convert feed into meat under controlled feedlot conditions. Eberly is responsible for implementing the policies and directives outlined by the Center's executive, technical and species committees and cultivate a close working relationship with the Pennsylvania livestock industry and Penn State University.

Eberly, 29, has served as a cattle buyer for Baum's Bologna, Inc., and cattle manager-herdsman at Glenair Farms, both of Elizabethtown, since 1978. In those capacities, he was responsible for more than 300 head of cattle per week. From 1976-78 he served as general manager of Oceanside Farms, a purebred Polled Hereford ranch in Maryland.

York County farm specializes in children

BY JOYCE BUPP

Staff Correspondent

SHREWSBURY — With a garden on the hill, swings in the yard, a corner stacked high with toys and notes fastened to the side of the refrigerator, this lovely farmstead on a wooded, southern York County hillside would be a delightful, homey place for any youngster.

But when a dozen smiling, bright-eyed two-to-five year olds come down a shady path, each protectively clutching a bright red tomato, it's apparent that this farm natures more than the usual crops.

In addition to the hillsides of tasseling corn, and a big barn ready for four-legged inhabitants, Sandra Gayle's historic farm specializes in children.

"A Touch of Country day care farm - day care with a difference," states the business' bright yellow promotional brochure, decorated with a sampler-like cross-stitch logo featuring a mother duck and baby duckling design.

Following her divorce a few years ago, Sandra took stock of her resources. She had two young sons, Eric and Tim, and a beautiful farmstead with several well-maintained outbuildings and the stone home dating back to the Civil War era. The cropland was in shares with a neighboring farmer. And at the top of the farm lane, way above the house on a rocky, wooded hillside, stood a one-room hunting lodge.

Holding down a secretarial job at a local business, looking after two active sons and keeping after the farm's needs had Sandra on a "treadmill."

"I've lived on the farm for eight years, and began thinking about things I could do right here to support myself," she recalls.

About a year ago, her employer mentioned to Sandra that the firm was working with the installation of a swimming pool at a Maryland day care center, located on a farm. As a mother and farm owner, the idea intrigued her. She paid a visit to the child care center, coming away with enthusiasm over the possibility of turning her own place into a similar enterprise.

Proudly displaying their very own tomato crop, the Touch of Country "family" returns from a morning visit to the vegetable garden.

Sandra Gayle is a rural businesswoman who turned her farm resources into filling a community need.

Before such a business could be established in an area zoned for farm use, a special variance would be needed. To convince township officials that no prime land would be taken out of production, she researched and took along her farm maps to the zoning meetings, as evidence of the unproductiveness of the rocky-hilltop, unused portion of the farm.

From the beginning, she was determined that this would be a special, home-oriented, small day care center.

Nearby Shrewsbury is one of the fastest growing communities in Pennsylvania. Many of the area's residents are working parents who commute to Maryland employment.

If a mother can go off to work with a little less guilt about leaving her children, the entire family feels more at ease with the situation believes Sandra. She wanted to run a facility that she would have been comfortable to have caring for her own sons, one where mothers were satisfied that their children were getting excellent alternate supervision and learning experiences.

A farm atmosphere, with its abundance of open space, fresh air, hiking trails, gardens and baby animals were goals she set for the center, which was designed with youngsters ages two through five in mind.

Quality, not quantity, was the prime concern, geared toward care of a small group of children, perhaps 20 or so.

At the heart of the plan was the one-room hunting lodge on the hill. It was expanded and modernized, with the rough-paneled large open area designed as the "family," or activities room. An adjoining kitchen, bathroom and office areas completed the remodeled and greatly enlarged original structure.

After nearly a year in planning, "A Touch of Country" day care opened its doors in May to the first children. About a dozen regulars joined the center's family through the summer, and following Labor Day, some moved on to kindergarten while newcomers took their places.

A bus to the local kindergarten does stop at the farm, so some children are at the center before and after their half-day of school.

Laurie Lears is the center's director. She has a degree in early childhood education with a masters in special education. Afternoon supervisor Terri Wolfe earned her degree in developmental psychology. Both have worked previously for about six years in the day care field, and as mothers have an understanding of youngsters from the "mothering" viewpoint.

"We are capable of handling any type of child," explains Sandra, voicing her intense pride in the qualified and capable staffers. "Your staff makes your day care center. They're the influence because they are the ones who are here with the children all the time."

"Plus, we're small," she adds as an additional benefit. Current limit on the number of children that will be enrolled is 18.

Sandra has become an enthused spokesman for small, personalized day care for youngsters, and would like to see more mothers consider operating such quality centers as an alternative to working outside the home.

"The state of Maryland is encouraging such day care centers and making low cost loans available, with long payoff periods. So far, Pennsylvania is not."

Licensing for day care centers in Pennsylvania falls under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Welfare. Regulations are quite strict and outlined in a 31-page guide. Periodic checkups by department personnel include a complete inspection at least once a year.

Lunches and snacks are provided each day for the children, and must meet strict nutritional standards. Several of the children currently attending are from vegetarian families and equally nutritious substitution are available for them.

"We can do those special things for our children because we're small," asserts Sandra.

Under Laurie Lears' planning, day care becomes more than play care. Each week a theme is chosen and posted on the refrigerator bulletin board, along with other pertinent items that parents can read about.

Wildlife was the focus one week, including storybooks about animals and identification of them from pictures.

Planting a garden occupied the group for many spring sessions, from planting seeds and seedlings to keeping check on the pumpkins earmarked for Halloween Jack-O-Lanterns. An added benefit of the garden venture was the opportunity for children to sample the crops they helped to grow, an experience in taste-testing.

Short hikes on the several nature trails that wind over the farm provide numerous learning ventures. During blackberry season, a berry patch conveniently located in a nearby fencerow became the perfect outdoor classroom setting for a lesson about safe and unsafe berries.

Acknowledging that day care has gotten some extremely bad press lately in the wake of the findings of child abuse in a few centers, Sandra and her staff encourage parents to stop by, at any time, for visits.

"Parents should check out day care very thoroughly," she admonishes. "We're hearing more questions from parents and more fathers are interested. They'll take a day off from work to look at day care for their children."

Day care, she admits, is still largely "female" image-oriented and at some point in the future, she foresees the possibility of adding a male employee to the staff.

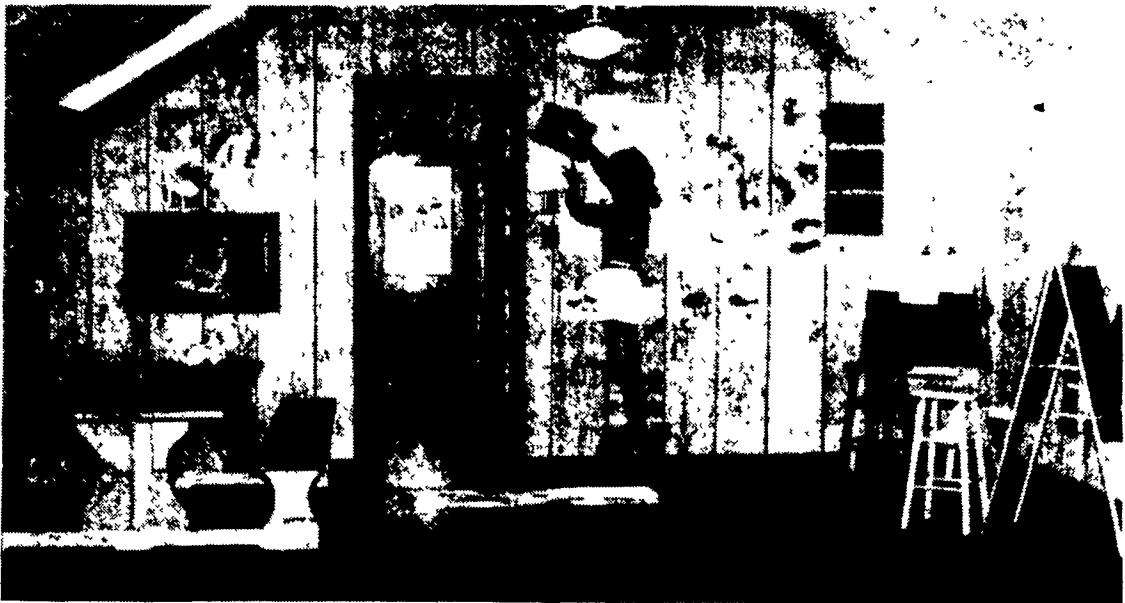

While there are currently no "father" figures at the center, there is a "big brother."

Both Eric, now 13, and Tim, age 10, are quite supportive of the day care business, and Tim especially spends a great deal of time with the children over the summer.

The family entrepreneurial spirit also led him into his own vacation business that the center's youngsters enjoy.

Taking advantage of a small kennel area on the farm, Tim began "dogsitting" over the summer. He had at least one or two customers almost at all times, and sometimes the children go for a walk down the long shaded farm lane to visit the kennel's guests.

"One dog even came to stay, and brought along it's own 'pet' kitten companion," chuckles Sandra.

The foreground area of the spacious activity room, where Sandra Gayle adds to the wall display, was once a hunting lodge.

Dogs have always been a part of the Gayle family, and the family's two special pets consider themselves part of the center's action. Barney, big, gentle and affectionate, is a 13-year-old Chesapeake Bay Retriever, while his sidekick Duffy, a fluffy, little black Scotty, looks like he crawled right out of a storybook.

"The children love the dogs," smiles Sandra, and the dogs obviously seem to return that affection, never straying, far from the center's lively group.

One goal is still unfilled. The empty barnyard has remained that way for this season, but Sandra hopes to populate that part of the farm by next spring. Ideally, she'd like to find local livestock producers who would allow her to raise a few of their baby calves, goats, sheep or pigs, then return them in the fall after they've matured. Because of the center's younger children, she feels the smaller, baby animals are more suitable.

One additional enterprise possibly beckons for the future to utilize still another of the farm's resources.

The lovely, large field stone house is an historic one built in 1895, with extra rooms in an addition dating to the very early 1900's. With its large fireplace, spacious rooms and inviting porches under thick shade trees, Sandra sees her home as an excellent prospect for a "bed and breakfast" tourist stop.

Within an hour's drive of Baltimore, Gettysburg, Lancaster, and just a few minutes from York, such an establishment would offer an alternative to traveler's looking for more leisure and personal contact than that offered by high rise motel chains along interstates.

It's one more step toward Sandra Gayle's fast-becoming-reality dream of turning her farm resources into a solid and thriving, if unusual, rural business.

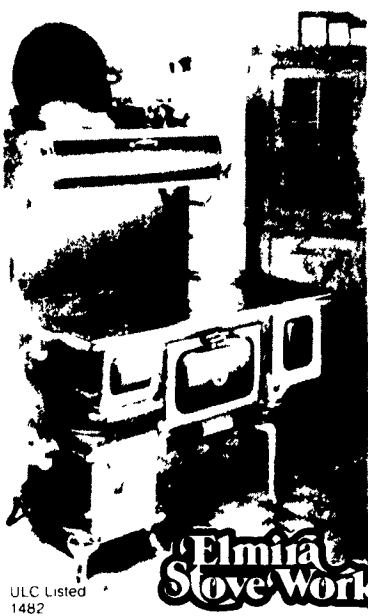

His dog-sitting venture is a natural for animal lover Tim Gayle. With the fledgling businessman are his pet Scottie, Duffy, and Gretchen, a Dauschund "guest" at his kennel motel.

Anytime you need a fast, easy dessert, get out your microwave bundt pan, a cake mix, and read on! In 30 minutes you and your microwave can have an impressive and delicious dessert ready to eat. A bundt cake is the easiest cake to make in a microwave because it's a donut shape. In a bundt pan, you haven't got a gooey middle to worry about, like you might have with other shaped pans.

When baking cakes in your microwave, you can use cake mixes, or make scratch cakes, whichever you prefer, and you don't need special microwave recipes. Cakes rise higher in the microwave, and most have a slightly spongy texture that is lighter, moister, and more tender than a range baked cake. Cakes don't brown in a microwave, and don't get hard crusty edges either (unless you overcook them!). The lack of browning is noticeable only on yellow or white cakes, and I use ground nuts to give these cakes a dark crust. For iced cakes, this isn't necessary.

Almost all cakes can be baked in a microwave. The exceptions are angelfood, sponge, and chiffon cakes which need hot air to rise properly. A pound cake cooks in a microwave, but has a different flavor because it lacks the brown crusty edges.

There are two things you should do differently when you bake a cake in the microwave instead of the range.

The first is to use just a little bit less liquid. Measure out the liquid called for in the recipe or mix, and remove 1 or 2 tablespoons before mixing it into the batter. I take out 1 tablespoon for cakes with less than 1 cup of liquid, and 2 tablespoons for cakes with 1 cup or more liquid in the recipe. A slightly thicker batter is easier to cook in the microwave where there is less evaporation during baking.

The second difference is that you don't grease and flour the cake pans. If you do, the flour absorbs moisture from the cake batter during baking and turns into a gooey paste all over the outside of the cake! Instead, grease the pan with shortening, then sprinkle granulated sugar on the shortening instead of the flour. The sugar forms a crust on the edges of the cake, making it easy to turn out.

If you are making a light-colored cake that won't be iced, you can sprinkle finely ground nuts or graham cracker crumbs instead of the sugar when preparing the pan. Either of these give the cake a darker crust, which people are used to seeing on cakes. Finely ground nuts are available in supermarkets and are called pecan meal, walnut meal, etc. Look for these in baking sections near the whole and chopped nuts.

Try this easy orange cake, it has its own topping and is delicious.

Orange Bundt Cake

1 package yellow pudding cake mix

3 eggs

1/3 cup oil

1 tablespoon grated orange rind

7/8 cup orange juice (1 cup minus 2 tablespoons)

1/4 cup butter or margarine

3/4 cup orange marmalade

1/2 cup flaked coconut

Shortening or margarine and sugar to prepare pan

1. Combine mix, eggs, oil, orange rind and juice in a mixing bowl and beat two minutes.

2. Grease a microwave bundt pan and sprinkle sugar on the grease (just like you put flour on a pan for the range).

3. Melt 1/4 cup butter in a 2 cup measure on high for 30-45 seconds. Add marmalade and coconut and mix well. Spread mixture on the bottom of the bundt pan.

4. Pour cake batter on top of marmalade mixture. Bake, uncovered, on medium (50.5) for 15 minutes, turning the pan every 5 minutes if your oven cooks unevenly (if one spot rises faster than another).

5. Microwave 2-3 minutes on high. When done, a cake should just start to pull away from the edges of the pan, and a toothpick should come out clean. There may be a few small damp looking spots on the top; these will dry during standing time.

6. Let cake stand on a counter or board for 10 minutes, then turn out onto a serving plate. If any of the topping sticks in the pan, put it back on the cake with a knife.

Tips:

-A 10-12 cup bundt pan will hold any two layer cake, whether it's a mix or a scratch recipe.

-To bake other cakes, use this timing (15 minutes on medium, 2-3 minutes on high) for most mixes cooked in a bundt pan. Scratch cakes, heavy cakes, or ones with a lot of nuts, etc. in the batter may take 4-5 minutes on high, after 15 minutes on medium.

-If your cakes are lopsided, or you have to turn them frequently, a turntable, such as a Micro-Go-Round, will give you perfect cakes.

Note: The times above are for ovens with 600-700 Watts of power; for 500-600 W, add 10 seconds to each minute; for 400-500 W, add 20 seconds to each minute.

Bake a fresh pie for dessert

Nothing completes a meal like a piece of freshly baked pie brimming with tasty fillings tucked inside a rich, flaky crust.

With apples and peaches in abundance, now is a good time to try some fresh fruit pies. Ice cream and custards also make delicious, creamy pies that slide down easily after a hearty meal.

For those special, "company meals" try something extra special, like Baked Alaska Pie, or simply top an old favorite with a fancy garnish like chocolate curls, whipped cream swirled into puffy mountains, or a bit of toasted coconut.

Make a fruit pie extra special by topping it with pie crust cut into shapes with your favorite cookie cutters and sprinkled with granulated sugar.

FAVORITE PLUM PIE

4 cups sliced plums
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine sugar, flour, salt and cinnamon. Add to plums and place in a 9-inch pastry shell. Sprinkle 1 tablespoon lemon juice over plums.

TOPPING

1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Mix and cut in 1/4 cup butter. Mound crumbs in center of pie. Place pie in heavy brown grocery bag. Cover pie loosely. Fold over end twice and fasten with paper clips. Set on baking sheet. Bake for 1 hour at 425°F. Remove from oven. Let rest a few minutes before removing bag. Serve warm.

VANILLA CREAM PIE

2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup sugar
2 cups milk
3 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon Crisco
1 baked pie shell

Blend flour, cornstarch, salt and sugar in a saucepan. Stir in milk, bring to a boil over low heat. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in the egg yolks lightly beaten with a little of the hot sauce. Cook, stirring over low heat for 2 minutes. Stir in vanilla and Crisco. Cool slightly. Pour into baked pastry shell. Serve cold.

APPLE PIE

Pie Crust:
1 1/2 cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons milk
1/2 cup oil

Combine and mix well. Pat into pie pan.

Filling:

3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Dash of salt
6 cups thinly sliced pared tart apples
2 tablespoons butter

Heat oven to 425°F. Prepare pastry. Stir together sugar, flour, nutmeg, cinnamon and salt; mix with apples. Turn into pastry-lined pie pan. Then mix together until crumbly:

1 cup flour
1/2 cup firm butter
1/2 cup brown sugar

Bake 40 minutes. Cover topping with foil until last 15 minutes of baking. Delicious served warm.

PEANUT PIE

2 eggs
1 cup dark corn syrup
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup salted peanuts
2 tablespoons Crisco
1 pie crust

Combine egg, corn syrup, sugar and vanilla. Stir in peanuts and pour into pastry-lined pie plate. Dot with Crisco and bake at 350°F. for 45 to 50 minutes or until filling is set.

Mertztown

BUTTERSCOTCH PIE

2 egg yolks
1 1/2 cups milk
3/4 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons butter
Meringue:
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons sugar

Mix milk and egg yolks, saving a little milk to dilute corn starch, and add mixture with brown sugar and salt. Heat in double boiler, stirring constantly until thick. Cook one minute and remove from heat. Add butter and vanilla, cool and pour in 9-inch baked crust. Beat egg whites and sugar until stiff and spread over cooled pie. Bake at low heat (325°F.) until golden brown - about 15 minutes.

RICE KRISPY PIE

2 eggs
3/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup molasses
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup Rice Krispies cereal

Beat eggs and add the remaining ingredients in the order listed. Mix well and place in pie pan. Cut as slices of a pie.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

1 1/2 cups sugar
4 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
Dash of salt
1 1/2 cups hot water
3 slightly beaten egg yolks
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1/3 cup lemon juice
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
1 recipe meringue (3 egg whites)

In saucepan, mix first four ingredients; gradually add hot water, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over high heat until mixture comes to a boil. Reduce heat; cook and stir 2 minutes. Stir small amount of hot mixture into egg yolks, then return to hot mixture. Bring to boiling and cook 2 minutes; stirring constantly. Add butter and lemon peel. Slowly add lemon juice, mixing well. Pour into pastry shell. Spread meringue over filling and bake at 350°F. for 12 to 15 minutes. Cool before serving.

MERINGUE

Beat 3 egg whites with 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Gradually, one at a time, add 6 tablespoons sugar, beating until stiff peaks form and all sugar is dissolved. Spread on top pie, sealing to edge of pastry and bake at 350°F. for 12 to 15 minutes.

BAKED ALASKA PIE

1 pie crust, baked
1 pint each chocolate, pistachio and strawberry ice cream
3 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Prepare pie shell. For a firmer baked pie shell, freeze about 30 minutes before filling. Quickly pack scoops of ice cream, alternating flavors, in pie shell. Freeze until firm.

Heat oven to 500°F. Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until foamy. Beat in sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time; continue beating until stiff and glossy. Do not underbeat. Beat in vanilla.

Working quickly, heap meringue onto ice cream; spread over ice cream, carefully sealing to edge of crust. Bake 3 to 5 minutes or until top is light brown. Serve immediately.

FRESH PEACH PIE

2 9-inch pie crusts
5 cups sliced fresh peaches, about 9 medium
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup sugar
1/4 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Heat oven to 425°F. Prepare pie pastry. Mix peaches and lemon juice. Stir together sugar, flour and cinnamon; mix with peaches. Turn into pastry-lined pie pan; dot with butter.

Cover with top crust which has slits cut in it; seal and flute. Cover edge with 2- to 3-inch strip of aluminum foil to prevent excessive browning; remove foil last 15 minutes of baking.

Bake 35 to 45 minutes or until crust is brown and juice begins to bubble through slits in crust.

Featured Recipe

This week's featured recipe comes from Kendy Allen, a Lancaster County 4-H leader. Kendy has been instrumental in organizing the horse show at the Elizabethtown Fair this year and prods her saddle clinches 4-H'ers into almost everything, she says.

While modestly claiming that she is not a remarkable cook, Kendy says she makes a mean Shoo-Fly Pie. She has shared her favorite Shoo-Fly recipe with you this week. To learn more about Kendy and her 4-H'ers, see the story featuring them in this section.

Shoo-Fly Pie

1 cup flour
2/3 cups brown sugar
1 rounded tablespoon margarine.

Mix and reserve 1/2 cup crumbs for topping.

1 cup molasses
1 egg, slightly beaten
3/4 cup hot water

Combine molasses, egg and 3/4 cup hot water. Stir liquid into crumbs and mix well. Add 1 teaspoon soda to 1/4 cup additional hot water. Add to mixture. Pour into unbaked pie shell and top with reserved crumbs

Coupons can be hazardous to health and pocketbook

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — There's no vaccine for it yet. Not even with four out of every five American households infected.

The disease? "Coupon fever" — a condition potentially hazardous to health and pocketbooks alike.

According to a recent report from the USDA, for example, approximately 60 percent of the coupons redeemed each year are used to purchase prepared foods high in salt and sugar.

Says Dorothy VanZandt, a nutritionist with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service: "Nutritionally speaking, it's questionable how big a bargain coupons really are."

But nutrition aside, adds VanZandt, even the much ballyhooed economic value of coupons is debatable.

"You save money with coupons only if you insist on buying name-brand products," says VanZandt. "But name-brand products are typically 10-20 percent more expensive than house brands of comparable quality."

Consequently, even after the face value of a coupon is deducted, most name-brand products can't compete with less expensive house brands.

Moreover, most marketing reports show that coupons lure shoppers into making impulsive purchases.

"Consumers tend to buy items they don't need just to 'save' with coupons," says VanZandt. "They unwittingly play right into advertisers' hands."

Consider the findings of a 1982 study commissioned by John Blair

Marketing and Donnelley Marketing. According to the study, the non-coupon user spends an average of $16.86 per shopping trip, while the regular redeemer typically spends $31.04 — an 84 percent difference.

But what about the miracle savings touted in how-to books and headlines? Enticing as the claims may be, VanZandt warns, they're "not the lot of the average consumer."

She adds: "What the headlines don't tell you is that super savings can't be realized with coupons alone." Shoppers must also resort to "refunding" — a practice that requires the purchase of a product at full price for a discount later on. And even more than "couponing," refunding requires time, organization and perseverance.

However, if your case of coupon fever is especially hard to cure, VanZandt recommends the following:

—Redeem coupons with discretion. Buy only the items you know you will use. Even with a coupon, an unnecessary purchase is no bargain.

—Try to match product coupons with store specials. Scan newspaper ads for supermarket coupons and then use them in combination with manufacturers' coupons to maximize your savings.

—Check the expiration dates on all your coupons before shopping. Supermarket coupons usually expire in a few days.

—Don't limit your use of coupons to grocery stores. Drugstores, hardware stores and discount stores also are options.

—Always compare coupon discounts with store-brand discounts and sales.

Cook's Question Corner

QUESTION - Sandra Abrams, Conowingo, Md., is looking for a recipe for V-8 or vegetable juice.

QUESTION - Grace Ikeler, Bloomsburg, is still looking for a recipe for spiced cantaloupe.

QUESTION - Jean Stroble, Cogan Station, would still like to have a recipe for spiced apple rings.

ANSWER - Arnold Jo Daly, Crowsville, Md., requested a recipe for spaghetti sauce with meat and for chili con carne. Thanks go to Mrs. Kenneth Wright of Middletown, Del., for sharing her recipes.

Spaghetti Sauce with Meat

Brown 1 pound ground meat, salt and pepper and onion (1 use 1 grated real fine). In crock pot, put 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce, 1 12-ounce can tomato paste and 2 cups water. Add meat and cook on low for about 6 hours. Do not lift lid to stir.

Chili Con Carne

1 pound ground beef 1 medium onion
1 pound can tomatoes, 1 pound can kidney beans or 1 quart home canned tomatoes Salt and pepper to taste
Fry beef until brown, add onion if desired. Fry until golden. Add tomatoes and kidney beans. Simmer about 10 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Bake a pie

CHERRY-BANANA PIE

1 9-inch pie shell
1 16-ounce can pitted tart cherries
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon almond extract
2 medium bananas

Bake pie shell. In saucepan, mix cherries (with liquid), sugar and cornstarch. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Boil and stir 1 minute. Stir in butter; cool. Stir in cinnamon and almond extract.

Slice bananas in layers into baked pie shell. Pour filling over banana slices; chill until set.

BLACK BOTTOM PIE

1 pie crust
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 eggs, separated
2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
3 tablespoons cold water

2 teaspoons rum flavoring
1 ounce melted unsweetened chocolate (cool)
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup sugar

Prepare 9-inch baked pie shell. In saucepan, stir together ½ cup sugar, the cornstarch and salt. Blend milk and egg yolks; stir into sugar mixture. Cook over medium heat; stirring constantly, just until mixture boils. Reserve 1 cup of the mixture; set aside.

Soften gelatin in cold water; stir into remaining hot mixture in saucepan. Stir in rum flavoring. Chill in refrigerator, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Combine chocolate and the reserved mixture; pour into baked pie shell.

Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until foamy. Beat in ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time; continue beating until stiff and glossy. Do not underbeat. Fold gelatin mixture into meringue. Spread on chocolate mixture. Chill at least 3 hours or until set. If you wish, garnish with whipped cream and shaved chocolate.

"Agriculture not only gives riches to a nation, but the only riches she can call her own." — Johnson

Indeed, farming can be a richly rewarding profession. But it can also be a very risky one. For the farmer is subject not only to the changes in the marketplace, but to those of nature as well.

We at Bank of Lancaster County salute all of you who have made farming your chosen field.

We know that from time to time you may need help in keeping your operation operating. At such times, you need a banker who understands farming from the ground up. That banker is Bob Badger, head of our Agricultural Loan Division. For years now, Bob has been helping area farmers "grow" with loans for machinery, livestock, construction, mortgages and other operating expenses. Slash drying costs as much as 75% with the AeroDry™ System

Cut Energy Costs 75%—Uses the drying power of fan forced air. No gas to buy. And the only electricity used powers the computer controlled fan system.

Reduced Shrinkage—Shrink loss is cut up to 50% through natural moisture removal without high temperature heat.

Better Grain Quality—With no high temperature heat to crack and damage grain, more starch, sugar, valuable nutrients and profit are retained

It's All in the Computer—The AeroDry Computer automatically monitors dry down day and night—then holds optimum storage conditions to keep grain in top condition

Farm proven from the Midwest to the East Coast, the AeroDry System can improve your grain drying operation. Call or mail the coupon for more information and where to see the AeroDry System in action.

U.S. forest service proposes 'prescribed' fire policy

WASHINGTON - A new policy designed to improve America's wilderness woodlands by selectively burning them is expected to be adopted soon by the U.S. Forest Service.

The policy of carefully planned "prescribed" fires on federal forest lands has been evolving for some time.

For decades, prompt fire suppression was the name of the game in the Forest Service. All fires on national forest lands - they now total some 187 million acres - were to be limited, if possible, to 10 acres each.

Assiduous control efforts successfully held down the acreage burned. Huge blazes occasionally went out of control and destroyed thousands of acres, particularly in the fire-prone West. But far more acres were saved by diligent firefighters.

Beneficial Phenomenon

These efforts cost a lot of money. And ecologists increasingly recognized that fire, a natural phenomenon in many forests, can be beneficial in the long run.

Taking economics into account, the Forest Service in 1978 relaxed its fire-suppression policy and allowed more lightning-started fires to burn in wilderness areas. One problem was confining them to public lands. Occasionally, one got away and damaged private property.

This September, unless an unforeseen hitch develops, the Forest Service will go a step further and permit specialists to touch off controlled blazes in recommended parts of the 28.5 million acres of wilderness now administered by the service outside Alaska.

The suppression policy, says R. Max Peterson, chief of the Forest Service, "resulted in the unnatural accumulation of dead brush and trees in some wilderness areas. This change would permit us to use fires to reduce unnatural fuel accumulations and allow fire once again to play its natural role in the ecology of wilderness ecosystems."

"We will save money in reduced expenditures on fire suppression," says John W. Chambers, assistant director of aviation and fire management for the Forest Service. "The cost per acre of igniting and managing prescribed fires is tremendously less than the cost per acre of wildfire suppression."

In recent years, Congress has appropriated about $150 million annually for what the Forest Service calls its pre-suppression activities - all the work that's done before a fire starts.

Beyond that figure are the expenditures for suppression, which vary widely according to fire conditions in any given year. Suppression costs in fiscal year 1983 were a relatively low $34.3 million. By comparison, in 1981, a dry year, they were $99 million.

Costs, Extent Unknown

It's unknown what the extent or the costs of the new policy will be, Chambers says, because each fire will be determined on a forest-by-forest, wilderness-area-by-wilderness-area basis by resource experts.

The goal is to restore the wilderness forests to the condition they were in before the suppression policy caused the buildup of natural fuels on the ground.

Fires will be prescribed only in areas where lightning-caused blazes are part of the ecological process, says Paul F. Barker, assistant director of recreation for the Forest Service.

He estimates that it will take 20 to 30 years of prescribed burning to "fully redeem" wilderness lands that have large fuel buildups. When completed, the forests will revert to lightning fires.

In areas outside the wilderness - where, for example, fires on public lands would threaten buildings or human lives - firefighters will continue to have plenty to keep them busy.

Barker emphasizes that each prescribed wilderness fire will be monitored carefully and contained within specific boundaries. Conditions for burning will have to be right: humidity, wind speed, and soil moisture, for example.

Interagency Cooperation

Prescribed burning has been done for years by several other federal agencies that, with the Forest Service, comprise the Boise Interagency Fire Center in Idaho.

SCRAMBLED MAMMALS

The nine-banded armadillo (see picture above) is a neat animal. It has a coat of armor made of small pieces of bone. Each piece of bone is covered by a layer of tough skin. The state of Texas has chosen this unusual mammal as its official mascot. No other state has an official mascot, but many states do have official mammals. If you unscramble the letters of the mammals below, you will learn what some of these official state mammals are.

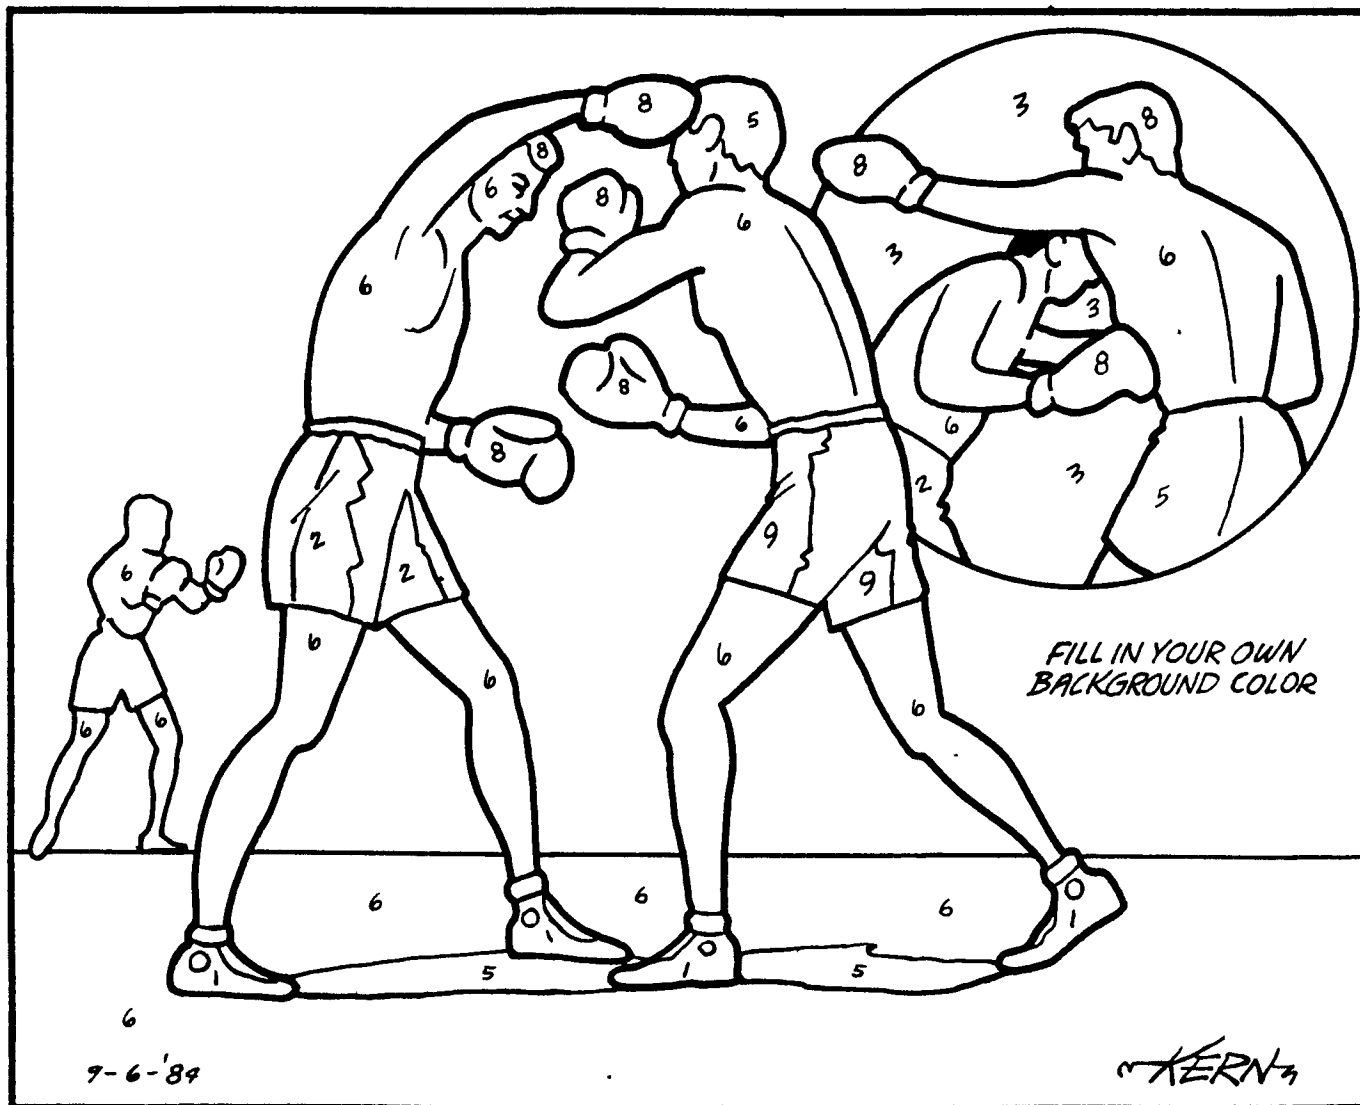

1. NCCRAOO - Tennessee
2. ERBADG - Wisconsin
3. WOLVNIERE - Michigan
4. MPUHCKBA HAWLE - Hawaii
5. TEEANAM - Florida
6. SPMRE EWHLA - Connecticut
7. HORBING PEEHS - Colorado
8. ZZRIGLY RAEB - California
9. ETOCOY - South Dakota
10. TRGHI HAWLE - Massachusetts management branch of the Fish and Wildlife Service at the Boise center, cites the benefits of fire, in terms of food supply and habitat, to many species of wildlife that live in a fire ecology.

"Felix Salten really laid a lot of stuff on us with Bambi," he says, noting that wildfires do not endanger species of animals and birds and kill relatively few individuals, mostly snakes and small vertebrates.

Malcolm Cockerham, fire management staff officer for Virginia's George Washington National Forest, is sensitive to public concern that the government is adopting a "let-burn" policy.

Not so, he says: "In each forest, we'll have an appropriate suppression action...We may recognize in some cases that the fires are going to get a little bit bigger than they have in the past."

Cockerham, whose office is in the Shenandoah Valley town of Harrisonburg, Va., and John W. Coleman, the Forest Service district ranger in nearby Edinburg, couldn't do anything to prevent the four fires touched off by lightning the night of June 11-12 on Massanutten Mountain.

By the time those blazes had been brought under control on the mountain's craggy ridge a week later, 400 firefighters had been called in, from as far away as North Carolina, Tennessee, and Kentucky. Cost: $350,000 to $400,000. Acreage burned: nearly 1,000.

Far larger and more expensive was the Bodfish fire in California's Sequoia National Forest early in July. Before it was controlled by more than 2,000 firefighters, it had burned some 25,000 acres.

Dangerous Conditions

"We've got the most severe season in several years building in California due to dry conditions and the absence of fire activity over the past several years, so there's quite an accumulation of fuel in several areas that do burn periodically," says John Chambers.

He cites the growth, in recent years, of interagency coordination, not only federally at the Boise center, but intergovernmentally. Now in its early stages is an emergency planning system that will involve many agencies and all levels of government in coping with all types of crises.

Various technologies, too, make firefighting vastly more sophisticated than would have been dreamed possible in the pre-computer age: computerized communications systems, remote weather stations, lighting detectors, and improved infrared aerial detection, to name a few.

"All this stuff helps," says Chambers. "But in the end, it's the firefighter with the hand tool that controls the fire."

Lancaster Society 11

Lancaster Society 11 celebrated its 59th anniversary with a luncheon at the Spanish Restaurant in Quarryville on August 30.

President Helen Shaub conducted a business meeting after the luncheon. The program was on identifying baby pictures.

Society dues of $3 are due at the September meeting.

The group will be entertained by Society 17 on October 4 at 1 p.m. at Shady Maple. The September meeting will be on September 27 at the home of Margaret Swarr.

Berks Society 6

Berks County Dairy Princess Debbie Price talked about the Nutrition of Milk at the August meeting of Berks Society 6. The group met at the home of Mrs. Nora Schweitzer, Limekiln.

The group is in charge of the "coffee clutch" at the county convention on October 6.

The September 11th meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Harold Snyder, R1 Oley, at 8 p.m. Members should bring a school memo to share.

Berks Society 7

Thirteen members of Berks Society 7 and their families recently held their picnic at the home of Lillian Grajewski, R1 Wernersville.

The county convention will be held on October 6 at the Berks County Ag Center, Leesport.

The group will observe National Farm Women Day by going to Summit View Diner on October 10.

The next meeting will be on September 26 at the home of Grace Seidel, Womelsdorf.

Berks County Executive Committee

The executive committee of the Berks County Society of Farm Women met on Monday, August 27 at the Ag Center, R1 Leesport.

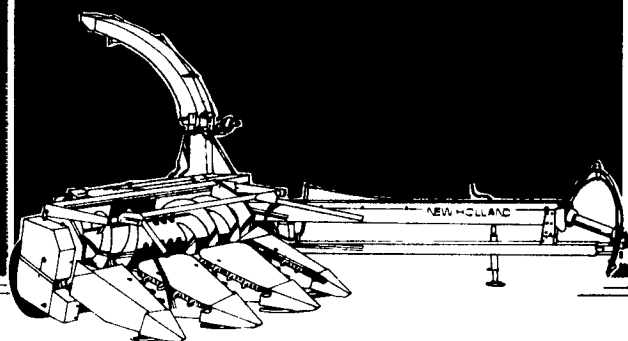

Final plans were made for their annual convention which will be held on Saturday, October 6 at the Ag Center. Registration will be at 9:30 a.m.

Plans were also completed for a Hoedown to be held at the 4-H Center on Saturday, October 13 at 8 p.m. All members are selling tickets which cost $2.50 for adults and $1 for children ages 6-12.

The group will have a shoo-fly stand at the Reading Fair from September 24 to 29.

Delaware Co. 4-H'ers take honors at Regional Horse Show

LEESPORT — Eleven members of the Delaware County 4-H Horse and Pony Club competed recently in the Southeastern Pennsylvania Regional 4-H Horse Show at the Berks County 4-H Center near Leesport. All qualified for this show through their winnings at the Delaware County 4-H Fair on August 18 at Rose Tree Park. They rode in a total of 45 classes, vying for top placings to qualify for entry to the State 4-H Horse Show at Harrisburg in early October.

Lynorr Hiller, on Corkey's Royal Jester, her 15.2 hand chestnut gelding, was the top Delaware County winner of the day. Lynorr, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hiller of Middletown Road, Edgemont Township, placed first in the Hunter Horses Under Saddle class, second in Pleasure Pairs, fourth in Senior Hunter Seat Equitation, and eighth in the Open Trail class. Her co-winner in the Pleasure Pairs class was Lori Davis of Springfield on Cookie Munster, a 15.3 dun gelding. Patti McLaughlin of Bethel Township, rode her bay pony gelding, Teacher's Pet, to a second place victory in the Hunter Ponies Under Saddle class. The three girls qualified for the State 4-H Horse Show with their first and seconds in their respective classes.

Other Delaware County members who placed during the day were Catherine Saltis of Middletown Township on Sundance receiving sixth Working Hunter Horses and Shannon Dowie of Lansdowne riding Vanity Fair to an eighth Junior Hunter Seat Equitation. Patty Major, Wanda McKittrick, Melissa Newton, Dawn Whitpan, Merri Wolfe, and Rob Halligan were the remaining Delaware County entries who competed among the nearly two hundred riders from eight counties.

Lynorr Hiller of Middletown Township, puts the final braiding touches on her mount, Corkey's Royal Jester, prior to their wins at the 4-H Regional Horse Show.

Solar hot water seminars scheduled

NORRISTOWN - Did you know that in Pennsylvania you can buy a solar hot water system and pay for only one third of the cost?

The Grass Roots Alliance for a Solar Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania Energy Center, Region I want to help you get into low cost solar hot water. Thanks to the Solar Bank and the Federal tax credits, solar energy is more available than ever. The Solar Bank provides a direct grant to you for 40 percent of the system's cost. The federal tax credit can be applied to the remaining 60 percent.

GRASP and PEC I will be presenting an introduction to solar hot water heating at the Montgomery County 4-H Center in Lansdale on September 13 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The seminar will cover the types of solar hot water systems currently available, the costs and expected savings associated with the systems and installation and maintenance considerations. A primary focus will be how to apply for the Solar Bank grant and the tax credit.

The seminar will be presented by Tom Lent and Barry Davis, GRASP members. Tom Lent is an experienced solar technician who has worked with the Franklin Institute Solar Center and the Philadelphia Solar Planning Project. Barry Davis is an energy consultant and energy program manager. Tom and Barry recently presented two very successful all-day workshops on how to build or buy a "batch" solar system at the Peace Valley and Schuylkill Valley Nature Centers. They also presented solar seminars at the Philadelphia Home Show.

The workshop is being held in cooperation with the Montgomery County extension service. To register, contact Extension office at 277-0574.

Ford TW with front-wheel drive.

Come see the great new Ford TW Series. Four models, from 105 to 170 PTO horsepower. They're the toughest, most powerful tractors Ford has ever built. And, they can be equipped with front-wheel drive.

Cut tillage time and fuel consumption by up to 20%!

Tests prove front-wheel drive could cut tillage time and fuel consumption by up to 20% on a per acre basis, depending on tractive conditions. That means you could pack 12 hours of work into a 10-hour day...on 10 hours worth of fuel, depending on your conditions! And, the Ford mechanical front-wheel drive system offers many other advantages:

- Tight, maneuverable 50-degree turning angle
- On-the-go engagement
- Automatic limited-slip differential
- Rugged construction

Plus...TW-5, TW-15, TW-25 and TW-35 tractors feature FREE TRACTOR CARE. For the first three years or 2,500 operating hours virtually all you'll buy is fuel and fluids for replenishment. Ask us about this comprehensive warranty and maintenance program.

CLOSEOUT SPECIALS ON ALL 1984 FORD LAWN & GARDEN TRACTORS

LOTS OF MUSCLE FOR THE MONEY!

The new Ford 2110 is economical to own, operate and maintain. Yet with 34 PTO horsepower and an amazing number of standard features, it can handle just about any kind of work you've got to do.

Economical diesel power. The 4 cylinder diesel engine delivers an honest 34 horsepower. Precision balancing, lightweight pistons and a barrel and plunger type in-line fuel injection pump contribute to smooth, efficient performance. Standard glow plugs make for quick cold weather starting.

The standard transmission offers 12 forward and 4 reverse speeds. Compare that to the competition. If you frequently shuttle from forward to reverse, specify the Synchronized Manual Shuttle (SMS) option. Double reduction final drive live 540 rpm PTO, sealed brakes and a foot-operated differential lock round out this excellent powertrain. Mechanical front wheel drive is optional.

Powerful 8.6 gpm hydraulics offer more capacity than the competition. There's plenty of power to make full use of the standard Category I three point hitch. And, with the optional two-spool remote valve, you can quickly and smoothly operate remote cylinders. Top link draft sensing for the three point hitch is standard. The power steering pump is independent of the hydraulic pump, so full hydraulic capacity is available to the remotes and three point hitch.

A pleasure to work. The well padded seat adjusts to fit the operator. Controls are close at hand and easy to use. Instrumentation includes a temperature and fuel gauge, tachometer, hourmeter and warning lights. The handy foot throttle is one of many other standard conveniences.

The 2110 is simple to service, too. Fuel and coolant can be added without raising the hood. The entire hood tilts forward for engine access. Grease fittings, oil filter and the dry element air cleaner are easy to reach.

The new Ford 2110 proves you don't have to sacrifice performance and features to get an economical tractor. Test one. It might just be the Ford for you.

Pairs of winners emerge at S.E. 4-H dairy show

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

KUTZTOWN — Pairs of winners were featured at the 39th Annual Southeast 4-H Dairy Show on August 24 at the Kutztown Fairgrounds. Close to 200 entries and 4-Hers competed for the final qualifying show for the state junior show in Harrisburg in September.

Judges for the show included Randy Fitsimmons, Cortland, N.Y.; Dale Olver, Lancaster; Lewis Ayers, Penn State; Ginger Myers, Littlestown, and W. Paul Anderson, Penn State. Judging was on the Danish system and fitting and showmanship were judged during the breed shows. When the dust cleared, several pairs in most breeds came out on the top.

In the Brown Swiss show, Kathleen Kopistecki did not need a sister to help her take home purple ribbons as her pair of cows won the Grand Championship and Reserve Grand Championship. Her junior two year old, Titan Daintys Darling, took the Grand, while the dam of this cow, DN Delegate Dainty, won the Reserve Championship nod.

Guernsey competition saw two Berks County girls take the top ribbons when Sherri Zollers, R1, Mertztown, and Susan Hollenbach, R1, Bernville, captured the top two places. Zollers, junior two-year-old, Zollers S L Telestar Karen, captured the Grand and the four year old of Hollenbach, Almira of Montview Farm, took the Reserve spot.

Pairs did not fit in the Ayrshire show however as the championship nods were split four ways. Melissa Edwards, and her intermediate calf took the Junior Championship with Mark Price receiving the Reserve ribbon. James Blatt captured the top spot with his senior two-year-old, Blatt Acres Star Bonnie, as Charles Young and his second place two-year-old took the reserve ribbon.

Cross-stitch sayings

Every day will be mother's day, if you have this cross-stitch sampler on the wall. It reads, "A mother holds her children's hands for a while ...their hearts forever."

Counted cross-stitch is popular lately for many reasons, but one explanation is the ease of stitching sayings as well as pictures. With a few simple techniques, you can stitch almost any message.

To make the sample shown, supplies are available in a kit from "Dimensions," complete with 6x12 inch unprinted, 14-count aida cloth, embroidery needle, color-accented cross-stitch chart and instructions. Embroidery floss is included for blue letters, blue and green background design and multicolored figures.

To order kit D-3569, send $13 to Ellen Appel Crafts, your newspaper's name, Box 1144, Laguna Beach, CA 92652.

In order to make your own sampler, with any saying you choose, you'll need graph paper and cross-stitch supplies. Block letters are recommended, but as an alternative, you can copy letters from an alphabet book.

Here are directions for making a cross-stitch message:

MATERIALS: Evenweave cross-stitch cloth; graph paper; pencil; needle; embroidery thread; embroidery hoop.

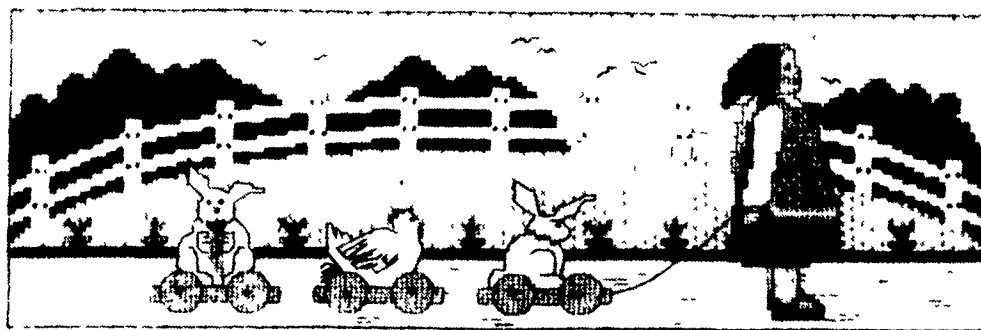

WRITING RULES: 1. Write your entire message on graph paper as it will appear in your sampler. 2. Leave at least one blank square between each letter. 3. Leave between two and five squares between words, depending upon size of letters and message. 4. Darken all the squares in your letters. If the letters don't look right, make changes as necessary.

PROPORTION: 1. Make all capital letters the same height, but vary width according to the letter. In other words, make the letter "M" wider than the letter "I." 2. As with capitals, draw lowercase letters the same height as one another.

SYMMETRY: 1. If your message stretches across an uneven number of squares, mark the line of the left of center as the center of your chart. 2. If you prefer perfect symmetry, add or subtract a square between the words in each line.

Allen organizes Elizabethtown Fair horse show, leads 4-H club year-round

BY SUZANNE KEENE

MANHEIM — When 4-H leader Kendy Allen heard that the Elizabethtown Fair Board was seeking a way to attract people to the last day of the fair, her 4-H'ers' pleas for an open horse show came to mind.

At the fair board's meeting early this year, she presented them with the idea of drawing crowds to the fair with a horse show and the board agreed to give it a try. Kendy said that at first the board seemed a little unsure about the number of entrants the show might attract, but their fears were unfounded. Nearly 70 riders signed up for the successful event which was held last Saturday.

Kendy's 4-H club, the Saddle Cinches 4-H Club, was responsible for setting up the event and making sure that all ran smoothly. Under Kendy's guidance the enthusiastic 4-H'ers set to work, advertising the show, locating fencing for the showring, and lining up judges and show officials.

The night before the show, 31 4-H'ers and parents descended on the fairgrounds to prepare for the big event.

"They did an excellent job all by themselves Friday night," says Kendy, who was busy showing her sheep at the fair that night. The group continued to work hard during the show, opening and closing the gates and handing out show ribbons.

When it was all over, they tore down the fence and picked up the trash, removing all evidence of the horses, kids and spectators that had been there only a few hours earlier. "It was a very self-sufficient unit," Kendy said, describing the group.

The fair board was so pleased with the show's success that the 4-H'ers have already been invited back next year, Kendy said.

Holding an open horse show was just one of the goals the Saddle Cinches Club had set for this year. Their other goals included going Assateague Island to learn about the wild ponies and traveling to Gettysburg to ride on the horse trail there. They have already made their trip to Assateague and are planning the Gettysburg trail ride for October.

Kendy, a Saddle Cinches leader for 13 years, said she has always tried to help the kids come up with a few goals for the year.

Kendy Allen poses with her horse, Rebel, who is recuperating from a bout of Potomac fever. Kendy is the Saddle Cinches 4-H Club leader who was responsible for organizing the open horse show at the Elizabethtown Fair this year.

"If you have goals and the kids know they're going to do something in the club, it gives them something to work for and strive for," she says.

Kendy has been involved in the Saddle Cinches Club since it began, first as a member and later as leader. "I went up through the ranks of Saddle Cinches," she said, explaining that her mother was one of the first leaders. The year Kendy turned 19 and was ineligible to belong because of her age, the group almost folded for want of a leader.

That's when Kendy stepped in to help out as a leader. "The club had offered so much for me and done so much for me that I hated to see it fold," she explained.

She recalls driving two hours from her job in Bucks County every week for the 4-H meetings and then driving those same two hours back.

Although she no longer drives four hours to hold meetings, Kendy continues to put in many hours, making phone calls, giving riding lessons at greatly reduced rates, and freely offering her leadership abilities. "Being a 4-H leader is really a full-time job," she says.

Kendy claims that the reward for all her work is proportional to the amount of time she puts into it. She is willing to put in that time because she wants to give others the same opportunities she had through 4-H. She describes herself as "a kid blessed with outstanding leaders who really influenced her life," and she hopes to repay the debt for the good things that others have done for her.

"I think 4-H is one of the best organizations for kids," she stresses. "They need something good and wholesome."

A horse 4-H club offers special opportunities, Kendy believes, because the project is an ongoing one. The 4-H'er will not sell the horse at the end of the year, like they might a pig, lamb or cow, but will continue investing time, money and love in that animal.

Kendy's own love for horses goes back to her childhood, when she would go to the barn daily to pray for a horse. Her prayer was answered at the age of 13 when her parents bought her "Dolly Dimples."

Kendy rode Dolly bareback for two years before she was able to save enough money to buy a saddle. It is the love and responsibility she has learned through owning horses, that Kendy tries to instill in her 4-H'ers through a wide variety of programs each year.

The opportunities for growth that Saddle Cinches offers are not limited to youth who own horses. Kids interested in horses, but without the resources to buy or keep one, can participate in the club by doing the "Learning About

Montgomery 4-H'ers wind up year with fair

NORRISTOWN — Montgomery County 4-H members culminated an exciting and successful year at the 4-H Fair on August 16-18. Each member who exhibited a 4-H project was judged on a Danish system, where everyone receives recognition for their efforts.

Eighty entries were received in the 4-H clothing and textile category, with grand champion honors awarded to Jody Carney of Lansdale. Reserve champions were Cindy Van Arsdale of Hatfield and Judy Park of Lansdale. Jody and Cindy belong to the Towamencin 4-H Club, while Judy is a member of the Lansdale Lassies.

Also receiving high honors for clover awards in clothing and textiles were: Hillary Matthews, Cindy Bauman, Dawn Rosenberger of the Lansdale Lassies 4-H Club; Lisa Finnin, Connie Horne and Debbie Fagley of the Trappe Club; Maureen Butler, Sheledy Johns, Mary Bradshaw, Barbara Graner, Janet Carney and Kim Freed of the Towamencin Club; and Danielle Detwiler, Lavonne Stutzman, Clorinda O'Leary, and Beth Kent of the Harley Hill Stitchers Club.

In the 4-H crafts category, four clubs were represented, Deep Creek, Trappe, Lansdale Lassies and the Salford Community Club. Jill Ott (Salford) received grand champion honors in ceramics, while Kristin Davidson (Salford) took reserve champion. Both also received clover awards. In the 4-H design series Christine Soderman (Salford) was the grand champion, while Candy Heacock (Salford) was awarded reserve champion. Candy also was awarded champion in class honors for her original hooked rug. Clorinda O'Leary (Salford) received champion in class honors for her plaster craft exhibit.

In the individual design classes, Christine Soderman was champion in Design With Shape and Form, Marbie Parshall (Salford) was champion in Design With Color and Candy Heacock was champion in Design With Texture. Andrew Canale (Salford), Christine Soderman and Jill Ott were all recognized for their entries in the "Art Appreciation" category, the first of its kind at the Fair.

The Deep Creek 4-H Club in Perkiomenville exhibited three self-improvement projects, the first exhibit of its type at the 4-H Fair. Lisa Soder was awarded champion in class for her exhibit; Clorinda and Dracaena O'Leary were both awarded blue ribbons. The club also exhibited six quilting projects, with Lisa Buchanan receiving a clover and champion in class awards.

Puppets were displayed by the Lansdale Summer puppet club and the Furry Friends 4-H Club. Dawn and Paul Alderfer both received blue ribbons and clover awards.

Food and nutrition projects were exhibited by the Lansdale Summer Club, the Towamencin Club and the Trappe 4-H Club. John and Paul Becker of Towamencin received Grand Champion Honors for their exhibit.

Penn State Extension Service offers programs on a non-discriminatory basis to all persons without regard to race, sex, color, creed, National origin or age.

Horses Project." The 4-H'ers who have horses are also willing to share them with those who don't, Kendy noted.

"Two or three years down the road many kids end up with a horse," she said, explaining that sometimes people will donate a horse or pony to the club. When this happens, the club member with the most merit points gained throughout the year by participating in club activities gets the horse.

When the point method is deemed inappropriate, the club leaders get together in an attempt to match personalities and needs of the horse and the 4-H'er. Donated horses are always accepted and are guaranteed a good home, Kendy said.

While 4-H is obviously an important part of her life, Kendy confesses that it is not her top priority. Describing herself as a struggling Christian, she says her faith comes first, her family second and 4-H third. Kendy and her husband Keith have two children, a three-year-old daughter and an 11-year-old son.

Her faith carries over into all parts of her life, including 4-H. She schedules no 4-H activities on Sundays because she believes "your horse shouldn't keep you out of church."

She also believes that owning and caring for horses is a good way to keep kids out trouble, while teaching them values.

"A horse, if it's really taken care of right, needs one hour to three hours of work a day. You just don't have the time or the energy to get in trouble," she said.

"But," she quickly adds, "you've got to love 'em."

CODATRON

MODEL F26 CODATRON Systems have performed remarkably well under many varied conditions worldwide. The Model F 26 computer features the most modern microprocessing capabilities. Up to 24 feeding stations with two feeds per station, the capability of dispensing a wide variety of concentrates, and a memory capacity for 999 cows is available in the F 26 model.

The Model F 26 will provide the following reports:

1. Daily Automatic Cow Feed Exception
2. Individual Cow Check Listing
3. Feed Station Usage/Feed Bin Monitor

FEATURES

- Maximum feed allotted is adjustable
- Maximum feed intake during any one interval is adjustable
- Battery back up power
- Data Recorder option available
- Expandable to future needs

MODEL L Westfalia technical advances abound with the CODATRON Model L. The Model L includes and greatly expands the F26 features through the use of a cow calendar for breeding management. It also contains Health and General Coding Systems.

The Model L will provide the following reports:

1. Daily Automatic Cow Feed and Breed Exception
2. Individual Cow Check Listing
3. Feed Station Usage/Feed Bin Monitor
4. Herd Breeding
5. Individual Cow Report by Lactation Period

The systems handles up to 22 feed stations with two feeds per station and a memory capacity for up to 560 cows. The Model L provides daily management information on individual cows as to: Days in lactation, calving interval, calving date, breeding dates, sire code, advance warning of cows coming into heat, pregnancy date, dry period, lead feed concentrate prior to calving, and cow health data.

Additional Options

- Data Recorder
- Expandable to foreseeable future needs

Blue ribbon dreams. That's what a fair is all about.

And every year, about this time, dream chasing becomes a passion for those die-hards we call county fair exhibitors.

For the bulk of fairgoers, such extravaganzas mean rides and food, exhibits and games of chance, top-name entertainment, racing, and chance to take a quick look at the animals and produce displays.

But to exhibitors, the focus of the fair is the show arena, and competition is what it's all about. Behind the glamour of the blue ribbon, though, lies plain old hard work and determination.

A fair is catching animals weeks ahead back home, teaching sessions on how to respond to a halter or show stick, hoof trimming, and preliminary barnyard barbering. It may mean special diets for heifers or hogs, or long, long walks to muscle-up a steer or a lamb.

A fair is explaining to your teachers why you need a day off from school when you've been there barely a week.

A fair is a rumpled, makeshift, straw-sprinkled bed in a corner of a drafty stall, interrupted periodically by the squealings of irate hogs or a lamb baaing her homesickness.

A fair is dragging out of a warm sleeping bag a 2 a.m. to milk a cow so that her udder - hopefully - is filled perfectly by show time.

A fair is wool clinging to your jeans, itchy cow hair clippings layering on a sweaty neck, and a nose full of soap suds from the tail that slapped hard and wet across your sunburned face.

A fair is a cool, drizzly day at the washrack, followed by an oppressive, hot, sticky one for show day.

A fair is scrambling after your newly-scrubbed hog as it takes off in the direction of the watering faucet mudhole or a breathless race to retrieve a nervous steer that slipped away from an equally nervous rookie junior exhibitor.

A fair is a coating of dust over clothes and cars, equipment and hay bales, tables and showboxes, crock pots and clippers, the grime largely raised from the raucous football game that got underway the night before about midnight.

A fair is sharing tales with other exhibitors, late at night, after everyone else has gone home.

A fair is the shining eyes of a young exhibitor, proudly clutching his first ribbons - regardless of the color or placing.

A fair is vowing never again to enter this rat race of showing madness, then sitting down at the kitchen table back home to fill out the entry blank for the next one.

Blue ribbon dreams tend to be recurring ones.

Crawford Co. 4-H'ers face stiff competition in Dairy Roundup

BY NANCY KUNICK

Staff Correspondent

MEADVILLE — The Crawford County 4-H Dairy Roundup got off to a great start on Monday, August 20 at the fairgrounds in Meadville.

Known as one of the largest youth dairy shows this side of the Mississippi, the 1984 show was no exception. Eight dairy clubs span the county and all six dairy breeds exhibited by the 4-H'ers.

Monday morning dawned the beginning of an active week for dairy exhibitors. First came the rewards for a long summer of effort with the showmanship and fitting contests. These are each divided into age groups with eight year olds competing only against eight year olds and so forth, each class up to age eighteen averaging twelve exhibitors.

James Miller of Leetonia, Ohio had the excruciating job of selecting the showmen in each class. First place winners received show halters given by the Farm Credit Service (PCA-FLB).

Sheryl Vanco of Sugar Grove judged the fitting show. Top of the class each received a cattle blanket from the Kiwanis Club of Meadville.

Those who placed in the top three in both contests received rosettes from the Rural Electric Association and were eligible to compete in the contests for overall showman and fitter.

Richard Deeter Jr. of Titusville garnered the trophy for master showman. He competed in the 17 year old class.

Ernest Oakes II of R.D.1, Cochranon won overall master fitter. At age twelve that is quite an accomplishment as there were several tough competitors.

Crawford 4-H Dairy

Queens Manor, Jamestown, has built quite a reputation for standing at the top of the class in Holstein competition and the Crawford County 4-H Dairy Show Tuesday, August 21, was certainly one to add to their growing list.

Justin Doeberier, a member of the Pymatuning 4-H Club collected firsts in four individual classes with his four dairy 4-H entries. He stood first, of 26 entries, in the junior calf class and swept firsts in the junior yearling, Senior two-year-old, and three-year-old classes as well as daughter/dam.

His junior yearling also claimed junior champion and the senior two-year-old and three-year-old took grand and reserve grand champion honors, respectively.

Ernest Oakes II of Cochranton also had a successful day, collecting firsts in Senior yearling, Four-year-old, and Five-year-old classes. His junior yearling also garnered reserve junior champion.

Ron Long of Plain City, Ohio judged the large show which displayed quality in every class. Many of the winners had recently exhibited at the Western Pa. Holstein Championship Show in Washington County. Justin Doeberier's Senior two-year-old was selected grand champion there also. C Houdale Tempo Rachael was sired by Roybrook Tempo and bred by Jacques Houde of Quebec, Canada.

All first place winners of the show were given plaques by the Crawford County Junior Holstein Club.

All colored breeds were represented at the 4-H Dairy show, with the Jersey breed being the focus of stiff competition. When judge James Kennedy of Butler had looked them all over, he chose David Black's junior two-year-old, Black-Pond Poet Jessie, as senior and grand champion. This cow is owned and bred by David Black of Saegertown, and sired by Gramhill Observer Poet.

Reserve Grand Champion was awarded to Kevin Field of Cochranton with his four-year-old. Kevin also had the first place junior calf.

One of the highlights to this year's 4-H show was a class recently added, junior and senior owner/breeder awards. The highest placing animal in each class that is owned and bred by the 4-H member is eligible to compete. Senior yearlings and younger, of all breeds, compete for junior owner/breeder awards. James Custead with his Holstein intermediate calf was the proud recipient of an award sponsored by ABS. David Black with his grand champion Jersey received the senior owner/breeder award from Sire Power. There were approximately 20 entries in each of these classes and as Joe Beard, extension agent, pointed out, "It gives credit to those who breed good cattle."

The last class of the day was club herd. This coveted award, complete with a rotating banner sponsored by NW Rural Electric Association and a plaque, went to Pymatunbng 4-H Club. The leaders are Dan Dickey, Larry Crom, John Tucker and Terri Anthony.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

By this time most children are back in school. Their parents have tried to purchase all of the necessary things to make this experience a happy one.

My mind goes back to my own school days. A neighbor girl was assigned to walk the half mile or more with me on the first day. We had a two room school with large rooms and a ground floor in the basement. Here was housed a large coal burning furnace and on rainy days it was here that we were sent at recess. I still remember the cloud of choking dust that arose as we ran around down there.

My oval, metal lunch box was my pride. In fact, I suspect it is still hidden away somewhere in my attic. Talking about lunches, when I was in Business College, I made seven lunches every morning as all six of my sisters and I went to school at the same time. What a busy time that was.

Nowadays, I'm sure that most children wear clothes that were bought in a store. But when I started high school, my mother took two of her old "Sunday" dresses to a dressmaker and had her cut them down for me. This lady never used a pattern. She just cut and sometimes the results were not good. Besides, who else wore a heavy, brown velvet dress! One item of clothing that bothered me a lot in grade school were my shoes. They were boy's work shoes and had heavy, metal clasps instead of eyelets. Oh, how I dreaded wearing them.

One thing that some of today's children miss is walking through a small village on their way to school. We had some unusual characters to greet us when we walked home. One lady always yelled at us if we picked up even one of her tiny, fallen crab apples. Another man would come out of his tiny one room house and tell us to "run between the rain drops." Those were the days that built memories.

vitamins and fiber to your diet, says Greta C. Vairo, an extension home economist.

Fiber, found in the cell wall of plants, absorbs water and eases the passage of food through the digestive tract. Vegetables contain varying amounts of cellulose, hemicellulose and lignin, so they differ in fiber content. For example, carrots and cabbage add more bulk to a diet than do peas and potatoes. Serve vegetables with a touch of crunch. Steam or stir-fry for tender-crisp texture that preserves nutrients. Try new combinations like carrots and celery or perk up plain cabbage with tomatoes and green pepper. Make a salad with green beans; sprinkle nutmeg on broccoli. Garnish soups with a curl of a carrot.

Deep green vegetables provide vitamin A; dark yellow ones do, also. So add variety to meals. You might consider collard greens, winter squash or sweet potatoes as substitutes for carrots. Fruits and vegetables make healthy partners. Use them together in salads and side dishes. Try red cabbage and apples for sweet-sour sensation full of vitamin C.

Vegetables are naturally low in calories. Your family will benefit by eating them with herbs and spices instead of butter, salt or sauces. Fresh mint, rosemary and chervil, basil, chives and bay leaf are just a few of the zesty tastes you can add. Combined with seasonings and cooked to taste, vegetables can become family favorites rather than an ambiguous mound on the side of a plate. Dare to be different. Stir-fry carrots, cabbage and onion. It's an easy vegetable combination you can serve tonight. By adding vegetables to your diet you are adding lots of vitamins some minerals, and fiber, while keeping calories low. Have fun with vegetables.

• Eliminates fence sagging
• No staples or wire clips
• Adjustable enclosed spring assembly for each wire
• Optional site rails™
• Optional Arc 110 Volt multi wire unit
• Installed by trained dealers
• Fully guaranteed by warranty

The ARC 12 Fence is a new concept in livestock fencing. Using free energy from the sun, the solar powered solid state unit keeps a powerful 12 volt battery charged for effective shocking. Special non-conductive white plastic posts are attractive and extremely durable, capable of being bent 45° and returning to their original position. Using smooth 12" gauge high tensile wire eliminates injuries from barbed wire.

Ladies Have You Heard?

STEPS TO SUCCESS IN THE KITCHEN

Have you ever announced a delicious dinner surprise, and out came a flop, a failure, simply goo, or even a dried-out brick? Here are some tips to follow to ensure mealtime success.

Be sure to read the entire recipe before you begin. Understand cooking terms; look them up in a basic cookbook if you aren't sure.

There really is a big difference between whipping and folding, between boiling and braising, and between poaching and steaming.

Assemble all your ingredients before you begin to cook. Do not substitute ingredients unless you check your cookbook for equivalents. Organize in advance. Chop, cut, peel, and grind before mixing ingredients. Measure carefully. Use standardized measuring cups and spoons, not tableware.

Add ingredients in the order given in the recipe. Often recipes require particular reactions to occur among ingredients for a successful product. Use the size pan your recipe recommends; another may cause over or under cooking, or even overflowing since many batters rise as they cook.

Do cook at the oven temperature specified in the recipe. If you suspect your oven is inaccurate, get an oven thermometer and use it regularly. Check your dish before the official cooking time is up. Even the best ovens and range top burners can vary, and you will need to adjust the cooking time accordingly. Use reliable recipes. Sometimes those written out by a friend omit steps or give vague measurements.

MILK IN A BOX SAVES TIME, TROUBLE, AND CALORIES
Milk used to come from cows.

Then it came in bottles, cartons, bags, and now many people buy it in boxes. Do you? Boxed, non-fat dry milk is one of the least expensive most versatile forms of milk available. It is simply skim milk which has had all the water removed. Yet, it contains most all the vitamins, minerals and protein of the original fluid product.

Milk is the leading source of calcium for most of us and is essential for the development of strong bones and teeth for children and adults. Non-fat dry milk has an advantage over other forms of milk because it costs less. It also contains only two-thirds the calories, a boon to those who want to watch their weight.

Sometimes we are reluctant to use an unfamiliar product, not knowing how it should be handled. Or sometimes we give up on a new item before we have given it a fair try. Here are a few tips on the use of non-fat, dry milk:

- Buy dry milk that has been fortified with vitamins A and D - a no cost bonus.

- The flavor of dry milk improves after chilling, so mix it well in advance. Shade it thoroughly and chill it in the refrigerator in a closed container overnight.

- In most recipes, use dry milk as you would regular milk. No need to mix it ahead of time; simply add the powder to the other ingredients in the recommended proportions.

- To make a low calorie dessert topping, beat equal amounts of dry milk powder with ice water until it forms stiff peaks.

- To make sour milk, mix in the usual way, then add vinegar or lemon - 1 teaspoon per of cup milk. Let stand for 10 minutes and use in pancakes or biscuits.

Flower Club schedules annual show

LEBANON — The Lebanon County Flower Club, a non-profit organization, will hold their 35th Annual Flower Show on September 12th and 13th at the Lebanon Valley Exposition Building, Cornwall and Evergreen Roads, Lebanon.

All amateur flower growers in Lebanon County are invited to exhibit their arrangements. Competitive exhibits are to be placed on September 11th from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. and on September 12th from 7 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Prizes will be awarded to the winners in each competitive category. Flower classes in the show include: specimen classes, house plants, artistic arrangements, novice artistic arrangements and educational exhibits.

The public is invited to view the flowers at no charge from 4 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday and from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursday.

Insurance for crops expanded

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of Agriculture John R. Bock has announced the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Federal Crop Insurance Corporation has expanded 1985 coverage on 18 commodities in 48 states.

Block said the expansion will involve 999 county crop programs. A county crop program is coverage of one crop in one county. The corporation now offers nearly 19,000 such programs involving about 3,000 counties. This is more than a 400 percent increase in county crop programs since passage of the Federal Crop Insurance Act of 1980.

"I'm very pleased with the progress FCIC is making in its goal to make coverage available to all producers," Block said. "Investing in crop insurance is a prudent business practice for today's farmer. A sober reminder of this was the drought last year which placed a tremendous financial burden on producers who were not properly covered."

Block also noted the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation expanded use of the actual production history program to include corn, grain sorghum, tobacco and peanuts for the 1985 crop year. Cotton and rice were included in the program in 1984.

Under the program, yield guarantees are based on the actual production records of the insured farmer rather than on average county yields.

"By basing coverage on county yields, we actually discourage participation by farmers who produce yields greater than the county average," Block said. "The actual production history program will rectify this and should encourage greater participation."

Delaware 4-H hosts English IFYE

NEWARK, Del. — Victoria Dorrington belongs to a Young Farmers Club near Durham, England. For the past month, the attractive 19-year-old college coed with the cheery smile has been visiting Delaware as an International 4-H Youth Exchange Ambassador. Purpose of this IFYE program is to give 4-H members and their overseas counterparts a chance to meet each other and increase their international understanding through living in another country.

Dorrington was one of six young people in Britain selected to be an IFYE ambassador this year. Her sponsors include the British branch of ICI, the National Farmers' Union, and Whitbread Ales. After her return, she will be expected to write reports and present talks on her experiences.

During her month in Delaware Vickie stayed with two families—the Herbert W. Murrays in Frankford and the Ralph Farabaughs near Newark. Herb and Diane Murray's son Terry, a fourth grader, is a member of the Lord Baltimore Helping Hands 4-H Club in Frankford. The Farabaughs have five children, three of them members of the Newark Fantastics 4-H Club.

Vickie's two-week downstate stay gave her a good taste of Sussex County life, including some mighty good eating. She had never seen squash or blueberries before, and fell in love with Diane Murray's squash, pumpkin and blueberry pies. Chicken and slippery dumplings were another hit. The time flew with trips to the beach, historic Lewes, and the boardwalk at Ocean City, Md. She spent a day fishing from a pontoon raft on the Indian River, helped pick blueberries at a farm, dug clams (raw clams on the half-shell were definitely NOT her cup to tea), went dancing, helped can string beans, and attended a typical small town American baseball game.

On her last day with the Murray family, Herb Murray, a former helicopter pilot for the Delaware State Police, took her up in a small plane for a bird's-eye view of the Delmarva peninsula—a place very different from the hilly farming and coal mining region near the North Sea where she lives. Vickie found Delaware's landscape and climate quite a contrast to those back home, where 78 degrees is considered a heat wave.

When it was time to leave, the Murrays took Vickie to the Delaware State Fair to meet her Newark hosts, Ralph and Bernice Farabaugh and their daughter Rebecca, a very successful 4-H club member about to begin a chemical engineering major at the University of Delaware.

Vickie was promptly accepted by this busy clan as another sister, to be teased, talked to and taken along to meet friends—a novel, rewarding experience since she is an only child. The days were again full of special outings—trips to Great Adventure, Hagley Museum, Fort Delaware and Pennsylvania Dutch county. She was introduced to pancakes, fast food, and nighttime shopping—all novelties.

One evening she was the featured guest and speaker at a county 4-H potluck supper. After dinner she showed slides of the small English village of Castle Eden where she lives, and the countryside nearby, and explained what Young Farmers clubs do. (Activities are similar but the membership includes ages 10 to 26, compared to 4-H's 9 to 19 age range.) Vickie said she'd never been to a potluck before and thought it was something her club might like to try before a meeting.

Vickie Dorrington is on her way home now. No doubt it will take time to sort out all her impressions of Delaware, but her visit certainly opened doors to increased international understanding for the people she met here—especially her host families. And it's a good bet she'll be telling the folks back in Durham about Delaware for a long time to come.

Meanwhile, another international guest—a 25-year-old farmer named Marco Coltelli from Bologna, Italy—has arrived for a two-month stay in Delaware, under the auspices of the IFYE exchange program. He will be staying with 4-H families in New Castle and Kent counties.

Newsletter aims to help newly widowed, divorced

LANCASTER - If you are newly widowed, separated or divorced, you may be handling your own finances for the first time. You may even find yourself running a business you know little about.

You may be lonely, or concerned about the safety of living alone. You may find you aren't eating right: cooking for one's no fun. All these changes in your life may be causing stress overload.

"Divorce, widowhood and separation are probably the three most stressful events men and women face," says Barbara Davis, an extension service specialist.

A new series of six newsletters has been developed that discuss these and other issues. Called "Your New Life...Alone," the series offers practical suggestions for understanding grief, coping with finances, dining alone, and more.

"Your New Life...Alone" is available to you at a charge of $1.25 to cover postage.

To receive the newsletter, send your name and address and a check payable to Agricultural Extension Service, to Michelle Rodgers, Extension Home Economist, 1383 Arcadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, Pa. 17601.

Seeding, Weeding and mulch more

For the avid gardener

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — If you have been looking to Fido or Kitty as possible sources of fertilizer for your garden, forget it, for at least two reasons. The first is public health. The second is the value of the fertilizer.

Dog and cat manure both contain organisms that can cause human health problems. It has been estimated that 90 percent of young puppies are infected with large roundworms which can also affect humans.

The eggs of the roundworm live for a long time in the soil. They hatch into larvae and are transmitted through the mouth. They are a definite potential health hazard to humans, causing a larval migration through the skin or the intestinal organs of an abnormal host. In humans, the disease is called visceral larval migrans. Young children generally get this disease by eating "mud pies" that have been contaminated by an infested animal.

Hookworm larvae can also infect humans, causing a disease called creeping eruption or cutaneous larval migrans. Hookworm larvae can penetrate the skin or be transferred through the mouth. Humans can become infested by the parasite simply by touching soil or sand that has been fouled by either dogs or cats.

Cat manure may contain an intestinal parasitic disease called toxoplasmosis, which can cause abortion or injury to the unborn child in pregnant women. Pregnant women should not clean the cat box or even a sick cat during their pregnancy.

Cats spread the organism for 7 to 10 days after they become infected. The disease is transferred to humans through the mouth.

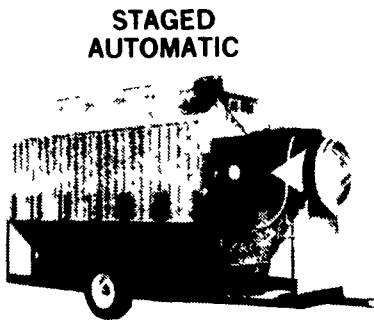

Because of these health hazards, throwing either dog or cat manure into the garden is not a safe practice. As for adding it to a compost pile, backyard piles seldom reach heat high enough to sterilize the manure. Cat litter has a very low fertilizer potential and is also unsightly on a compost heap.

While it is possible to use chemicals to sterilize the manure to make it safe, the cost and bother hardly make this worthwhile. Instead, either flushing the manure down a toilet, burying it deep in the ground, or placing it in tight plastic bags for garbage collection.

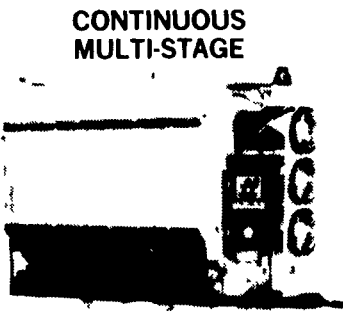

All Cooperative Extension programs are offered without regard to race, color, national origin, sex or handicap.

Brush control meeting set

ALLENTOWN — Several shrubs that were widely planted for conservation or wild game feed in the past 30 years have spread out of control. Autumn olive and multiflora rose that were planted on field or woodland borders now grow in fields, pastures, nurseries, Christmas tree plantations, and almost anywhere else they are given a chance, says Larry Kuhns, Horticulture Extension Specialist at Penn State.

Fortunately, there are a number of chemicals available that will control these and other "woody weeds" such as poison ivy and briars. Some of the chemicals are relatively new, while others are old standbys. Some will kill all plants they contact, while others will not harm grasses. There are different application techniques and recommended times of application for some of the chemicals.

To clear up some of the confusion on the selection and use of these materials, Kuhns established a brush control demonstration area in a section of pasture heavily infested with autumn olive. To view the results and learn more about brush control herbicide selection and application, plan to attend a twilight meeting on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. Kuhns and Dave Dunbar, Lehigh County Agent, will lead the tour and answer any questions on controlling brush in fields. The meeting will be held at Kuhn's Grove, five miles west of Allentown. To obtain directions and additional information, contact Dave Dunbar, Lehigh County Extension Service, Room 604-Courthouse, Allentown, PA 18101 or phone 215-820-3085.

Shively takes first in tractor driving contest

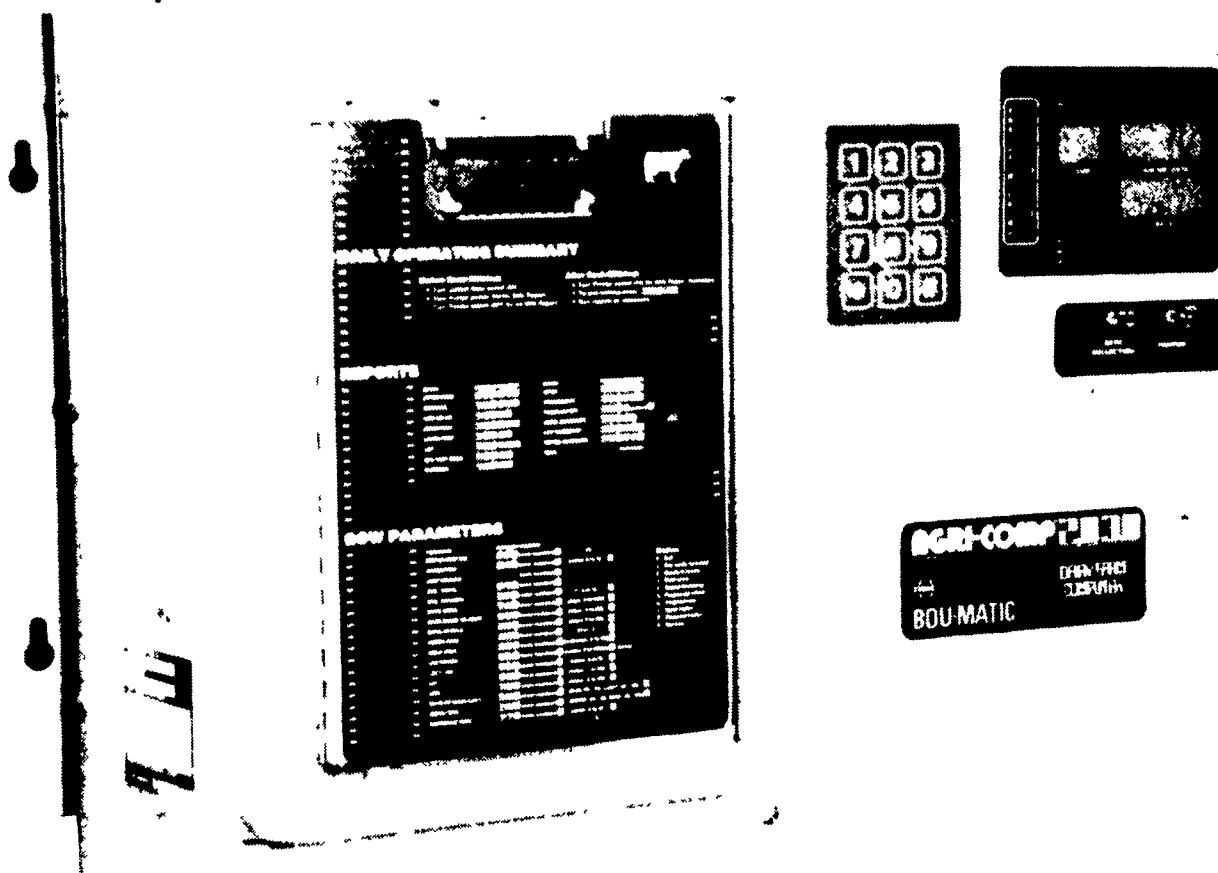

Brian Shively of Union County took first place honors in the State 4-H Safe Tractor Driving Contest held August 23 during Penn State's Agricultural Progress Days at Rock Springs Agricultural Research Center.

Shively, R.D. 1, Millmont, competed with seven other 4-H contestants. He will be eligible to compete in the Annual U.S. 4-H Engineering Event's Safe Tractor Driving Contest at the Virginia State Fair, Richmond, in September.

A Huntingdon County youth, Dave Hutchinson of R.D. 1, Petersburg, was the second place finisher in the contest. He is eligible to compete in the compact tractor division of the national contest at Richmond.

A highly reliable computer, designed to connect to Bou-Matic® parlor automation to form an innovative on-farm management aid.

The Agri-comp® 2030 Computer is intended for use on dairy farms interested in increasing management efficiency, reducing the time consuming task of manually keeping herd records, improved herdsman and milker communications, and most importantly, on-the-spot daily herd information reports to assist in management decisions.

The Agri-comp® 2030 Computer is intended to 'enhance' — not replace — permanent DHIA-type herd records and existing management techniques. Agri-comp® does not make decisions but does provide the information to base management decisions on.

DON'T KISS $8,938 GOODBYE

That's how much you could lose just on resale value
if you don't buy a John Deere

Looking for a big discount when you buy a tractor? Don't get stuck with an even bigger discount when you want to sell it.

Always consider resale value when you price a field tractor. Because the differences among brands may sometimes be bigger than ANY purchase incentive.

Compare John Deere with our two leading competitors. According to the Spring 1984 Official Guide of the National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association, the average 5-year-old John Deere 4440 sells for 106 percent of its 1979 list price. One leading competitor averages 87 percent of its 1979 list price. The other averages 73 percent.

What's that mean in dollars? Add the John Deere gain on original price to the competitor's loss. The John Deere advantage is as much as $8,938!

Is this only true of one model? No. Every 40 Series 90- to 180-hp tractor has an average resale price that's higher than its new price five years ago.

Is resale your only John Deere advantage? No. Don't forget the remarkable fuel efficiency of today's 50 Series

John Deere tractors. And don't forget our unmatched reputation for high quality and high reliability. See your John Deere dealer. He'll be happy to explain the big difference between a low-price tractor and a low-cost John Deere: 100-hp 4050, 120-hp 4250, 140-hp 4450, 165-hp 4650 or 190-hp 4850.

NOTE: Average resale prices taken from Spring 1984 Official Guide of The National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association.

Percentages calculated from best currently available information on 1979 list prices.

Canning recommendations can be deadly

NEWARK, Del. — Grandmother was likely following U.S. Department of Agriculture recommendations when she canned green beans in an open kettle or boiling water bath. But since then, food scientists have learned that these methods don't kill the deadly spores of the organism that causes botulism.

Some home canners are still using mother's or grandmother's canning procedures, says University of Delaware extension food and nutrition specialist Dr. Sue Snider. Even canning instructions over one year old may be out of date and potentially dangerous.

Snider adds that popular magazines may occasionally publish incorrect canning information. Be suspicious if the instructions say processing is optional or unnecessary; if the canning recipe contains fat or thickeners such as flour; or if the processing time differs greatly from times recommended for similar foods.

Researchers discovered in the '40s that low acid foods such as meats and green beans must be processed in a pressure canner to reach temperatures necessary to destroy dangerous organisms. Some people, however, continue to use recipe books for canning that were published before this time. Snider says it is critical to check the publication date of any canning book you are using.

Though instances of botulism are infrequent, it takes only one such occurrence to kill an entire family or cause severe illness, Snider points out. Many people think that if their home-canned food doesn't appear spoiled, their method is safe. However, often food containing botulinum toxin does not look spoiled. According to Snider, this is one of the reasons improper processing is so dangerous. Because of the ever-present danger of spoilage, it is important to use the latest canning recommendation, which are based on the best and most recent research.

When preserving any type food, the goal is to prevent spoilage while maintaining maximum quality. Because microorganisms are more easily destroyed in acid conditions, high-acid foods such as fruits, most tomatoes, and pickled foods can be processed in a boiling water bath where temperatures reach no higher than 212 degrees F during processing. Low-acid foods — all vegetables except tomatoes and pickled products, plus meats, fish, and poultry — must be pressure-processed because of the heat resistance of C. botulinum spores in the absence of acid.

Don't guess about processing times for your home canned foods, Snider warns. Correct processing times are based on laboratory research that evaluates such factors as how long it takes a food to reach an adequate temperature, jar size, consistency of the food, recipe ingredients that could slow heat penetration, and scientific information concerning survival of microorganisms under various conditions.

Recently, researchers at two major universities found that previously recommended processing times were not long enough to do the job, Snider says. Last year, the USDA revised processing recommendations for a number of foods, so if your canning instructions are over a year old, contact a county extension home economist for the latest information. In New Castle County call 451-1239 or 571-2284; in Kent County call 736-1448 or 736-5156; in Sussex County call 856-5250 or 856-5258.

BEACON

Designed to duplicate Mother Nature.

Beacon Number 1 in use of Kalf Ad-Lib...
Already fed 5300 Calves since August, 1983

Mother Nature knows that calves need a flexible feeding time. Now Beacon has developed an acidified milk replacer system that duplicates her way of nursing.

Designed for self-feeding calves, it's an all-milk formulation with a mix of 20% protein and 14% fat. You'll appreciate the ease with which it mixes in cold water and the fact that it stays fresh for 3 to 5 days. It reduces the risk of nutritional scours, and it lowers housing costs because it allows grouping up to 5 calves.

Your calves will respond to Kalf Ad-Lib with improved weight gains, feed conversion and calf "livability."

How Critical is Fall Management of Alfalfa?

This year we've experienced another unusual growing season throughout much of the Northeast - cloudy and wet in April, May and part of June, a fairly normal but perhaps cooler July, but more wet, cloudy weather in August. Certainly less than ideal for setting up that perfect management program for alfalfa. And all this brings us the usual question at this time of year - with the kind of growing season we've experienced, and its effect on a normal cutting schedule, how critical is September management of alfalfa?

A Brief Look at Food Reserves

To answer this question, let's take another brief look at how alfalfa grows and stores food for its survival.

Alfalfa stores energy in the roots and crowns as total non-structural carbohydrates (TNC). These food reserves are used by the plant mainly to live over winter, help develop cold tolerance, and to initiate growth in the spring and after each cutting.

Here's how it works. When alfalfa starts growth in the spring, food stored in the roots and crowns is used to start new growth from crown buds or underground stems. Depletion continues until the plant is 6 to 8 inches tall. By this time food is being synthesized in the leaves more rapidly than it is being used and some storage begins. Storage continues and reaches its highest level in the roots usually about full bloom.

After the first crop is cut, preferably when flower buds are formed, or at the latest just as flowering begins, the process of food reserve depletion and renewal is repeated for each successive new growth. Root reserves are not at the highest level at the bud storage of growth. But plants can maintain a satisfactory level of reserves if harvest of later cuttings is delayed until early bloom and reasonable management is practiced in the fall.

But, remember, the effects of early cutting are accumulative. Thus, the practice of cutting at early growth stages should be limited to established stands and should be rotated among alfalfa fields as much as possible. And here lies one of the secrets to your management this fall.

In other words, in terms of persistence, spring, summer and fall cutting management is related. Based on earlier research we determined that when first harvests are made at 1/10 bloom or earlier, a lenient fall cutting schedule may be necessary to keep stands healthy. This means that on those fields you should either complete your harvest by early September or wait until after a killing frost or until mid-October. On the other hand, when first cutting was delayed till mid-bloom, or into June, there appears to be little or no effect on differential fall cutting or persistence. And certainly, this was the situation on many alfalfa fields this year.

September Management

An ideal cutting schedule for alfalfa, in central Pennsylvania at least, might be as follows: first cut at mid to late bud (about May 25); second cut at early bloom (July 1-3); and third cut at early bloom (mid-August). This results in a fourth crop accumulating during September.

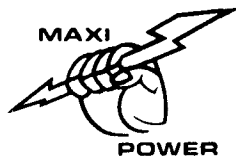

Recent research at Penn State by Dr. Bill Stringer indicates it's still not wise to cut alfalfa stands on a regular basis from mid-

September to mid-October - if you are on that intensive 4 cut schedule. However, when heavy growths of forage accumulate and suggest cutting, consult your calendar to determine when the previous cut was made. If 45 days or more have elapsed since the previous cut, then September-October cuttings are safe.

Of course if you are planning to go back into corn next spring on a particular field, schedule your fall cutting to get the highest yield of top quality forage - regardless of date.

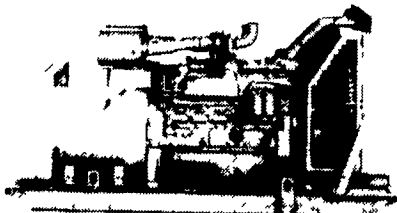

Oh, yes, the suggestions made above are based on the assumption that your stands are well established, you are using a top variety such as W-316 with resistance to most of our alfalfa diseases, and that you are maintaining a sound fertility program on your fields.

As a final suggestion, it's always a good idea to set your cutter bar up to 4" for that final cut - to provide plenty of stubble to hold snow and to help insulate the alfalfa against such winter hazards as heaving, ice sheets and extremely low temperatures.

Straw poll favors Reagan

HARRISBURG — Results of the Presidential Straw Poll taken by the Pennsylvania Farmers Union during the recently held Ag Progress Days indicate farmers are happy with President Reagan's policies.

Even though farmers have been faced with their lowest net income since the 1930's and have also seen a dramatic rise in the number of farm foreclosures over the past four years, they are still supportive of the President. The poll would seem to indicate that former Vice President Mondale and the Democratic Party have a long road ahead of them if they plan to pass President Reagan in rural Pennsylvania.

The question asked, 'If the Presidential Election were held today, who would you vote for?' The team of Reagan-Bush received 73 percent of the vote as compared to 26 percent for Mondale-Ferraro and 1 percent voted a write-in candidate.

The Pennsylvania Farmers Union encourages all Pennsylvanians to register and vote in the Fall election. Farmers Union is a bi-partisan farm organization.

PFA vice-president D. Eugene Gayman, left, presents a $10,000 check at this year's Ag Progress Days to Samuel H. Smith, left center, dean of Penn State's College of Agriculture, to establish a PFA Memorial Scholarship Fund in memory of PFA volunteer and staff leaders.

Michael Chaplin, right center, assistant dean for resident education in the College and a member of Penn State's Scholarship Committee, and Richard E. Denison, manager of farm management for the Pennsylvania Farmer's Association and a member of Penn State's Agricultural Advisory Council, participated in the ceremonies.

The scholarship is intended for sons or daughters of PFA members studying agriculture at Penn State. Money for the fund was raised through contributions and fund-raising efforts by PFA members.

HEDLUND SIDE MOUNT PUMPS

FOR HIGH PERFORMANCE AND RELIABILITY.

Whether you want to agitate or unload manure in your above ground storage, Hedlund side mount pumps consistently deliver the high performance you expect in your farm operation.

Hedlund-designed impeller housing lets the side mount pump handle higher viscosity manure with greater force and volume. You agitate thoroughly or fill your spreader quickly—all year round. And over-the-top agitation capabilities let you put top crust into suspension for complete unloading.

Conveniently-located knife valves are safe, reliable, easy to use. Entire valve system is leak proof—hand operated cams on each side of pump secure the valve plate tightly against sealing ring.

Optional features like offset drive, left hand discharge or floor agitation let you customize the side mount pump to your operation. See your local Hedlund dealer for more information on how you can maximize the efficiency of your above ground storage structure.

Corn harvesting losses can add up

NEWARK, Del. — Every farmer wants to do an "expert" job harvesting his corn crop, but the only sure way to be an expert is to have a fast, easy way to check combine losses, and compare them to those of the experts. It doesn't take long for lost kernels to add up, in both bushels and dollars.

According to Delaware extension agricultural agent Dave Woodward, farmers can save as much as $6,000 on 400 acres by proper combine adjustment, assuming 5 bushels an acre of $3 corn is saved. Since it takes approximately two hours to make the necessary adjustments, that's a tidy little wage of about $3,000 an hour.

Once the source and extent of harvest loss is known, Woodward says it's usually easy to adjust equipment and operating practices to reduce losses to a minimum. So the first thing to do is measure that loss—a procedure Woodward says takes only about 15 minutes once you've run through it a few times, depending on the size of your machine.

Start by determining ear loss. To do this, stop the combine at least 300 feet from the end of the field, in a spot where the crop is representative of the entire field. Don't clear the combine, but do disconnect the straw spreader. Then prepare to check all the rows covered by one swath in a 1/100-acre block to the rear of the machine.

Length of the block will vary with row width and the number of rows covered by the swath. Mark the ground in one of the rows just harvested and pace off the necessary 1/100-acre distance from the combine. Make another mark here, and then collect all missed ears from all rows within the swath. Each 3/4-pound ear or its equivalent in smaller ears represents a loss of 1 bushel per acre. Three 1/2-pound ears represent 2 bushels lost.

Next, if there were ears on the ground behind the machine, determine how many were there before it entered the field. To do this, go to standing corn in front of the combine and again pace off 1/100 acre. Count all the ears on the ground from this area. Then subtract the pre-harvest loss from the total ear loss. The balance was left during harvest.

Now, determine corn kernel loss. Loose kernel and cylinder losses are measured at the rear of the machine in rectangular plots 10 feet square.

To do this, construct a rectangular frame of No. 9 wire or narrow wooden strips for your particular row width, enclosing an area 10 feet square. The frame can be carried on the combine, ready to use.

Center the frame progressively over each row in the swath, remove stalks and leaves from the frame area, then count the loose kernel loss and record it. Also count the kernels of corn still attached to cobs. This figure will give the cylinder loss.

Twenty kernels per frame equals 1 bushel an acre. Divide each of the kernel counts by 20 to get the loss per row in bushels per acre. To determine average loose kernel and cylinder loss, add the per-row losses and divide by the number of rows.

If the loose kernel loss is greater than 1 bushel an acre, it will be necessary to measure snapping roll loss as well, to pinpoint the source of kernel loss.

To determine snapping roll loss, back up the combine about 20 feet. Then place the rectangular frame over each row in the swath and count loose kernels. Divide the total loose kernel loss into snapping roll loss and separation loss by subtracting the snapping roll loss from the loose kernel loss.

The above procedure isn't as complicated as it sounds, Woodward says. He suggests that Delaware farmers interested in obtaining more information on the subject should contact the county extension office in Newark (451-2506), Dover (736-1448) or Georgetown (856-5250) and request a copy of the leaflet, "A Guide for Measuring Corn Harvest Losses."

"If you can save 5 bushels of corn an acre at $3 a bushel on 400 acres," the agent concludes, "that's $6,000 more in your pocket. Assuming you spend two hours making the necessary adjustments, you've earned $3,000 an hour—not a bad wage in anybody's book!"

FARMERS REPORT MORE PRODUCTIVITY WITH AN INTERNATIONAL AXIAL-FLOW

Get More Bushels Per Day, More Bushels Per Acre,
More Dollars Per Bushel,
And More Bushels Per Gallon Of Fuel.

THE FACTS ARE SIMPLE

Year after year more farmers are noticing the impressive results of International Axial-Flow Combines. When your neighbors get increased performance and productivity like outlined below, its no wonder that International Axial-Flow combines have earned the trust and admiration of farmers all over the East.

Full Season Comparison of International Axial-Flow Combine with Prior Combine of Equal Size.*
		1440 Vs. Class IV	1460 Vs. Class V	1480 Vs. Class V
More Bushels Per Day Percent increase in bushels per 10-hr day	Corn	+33%	+21%	+35%
	Beans	+26%	+18%	+26%
More Bushels Per Acre Extra bushel from less grain loss	Corn	+.63 +.91 sidehill	+.56 +.76 sidehill	+.33 +.66 sidehill
	Beans	+.65 +.85 sidehill	+.58 +.87 sidehill	+.64 +.64 sidehill
More Dollars Per Bushel Increased value per bushel from less dockage	Corn	+1.8¢	+1.75¢	+1.53¢
	Beans	+1.8¢	+1.75¢	+1.53¢
More Bushels Per Gallon Percent increase in bushels per gallon	Corn	+39%	+25%	+28%
	Beans	+31%	+22%	+24%
*More than 1600 owners of Axial-Flow combines compared the productivity of their Axial-Flow combines with their prior combines. These facts are from the more than 1000 corn/bean farmers reporting

BUY YOUR COMBINE FROM A COMBINE DEALER AND GET PARTS & SERVICE SUPPORT

- 3 Fulltime Combine Mechanics driving fully equipped service trucks
- Over $250,000.00 in Combine Parts Inventory & 8 Partsmen to serve you.
- Experience from starting over 60 combines in all types of crops - barley, oats, wheat, corn, beans and high-moisture corn.

Increased Productivity Does Not Always Have To Carry A Higher Price Tag.
IH Combines Are About The Same Price
As Comparable Conventional Combines.

Axial-Flow Combines

Four sizes
to meet your needs

They're the world's most advanced line of combines. Because a rotor replaces the conventional cylinder and troublesome straw walkers. Threshing and separating are more thorough — there are fewer cracked kernels and there is less downtime and fewer repairs.

Four models — 13 to 30 foot platforms

- 1420—124 hp diesel engine and 125 bu grain tank
- 1440—135 hp diesel engine and 145 bu grain tank
- 1460—170 hp diesel engine and 180 bu grain tank
- 1480—210 hp diesel engine and 208 bu grain tank

In Stock...The Early Bird Gets The Worm

1000 forage harvester

The 1000 features Gehl's exclusive spinner delivery system, giving you high capacity in a heavy duty forage harvester. With no cross augers to plug, you get continual flow of material from the large 21" cylinder into the off-set 36" blower. Standard features include the in-head hydraulic knife sharpener, positive down stop for total attachment operating height control, one-way shear-bolt protection, and a wide choice of attachments. The 1000 is designed for efficient operation with tractors from 80 to 170 hp. 540 or 1000 rpm drives available.

Here's a mid-range performer at an economical price designed for use with tractors from 70 to 120 hp. 540 and 1000 rpm drives available. You get direct feed flow from the cylinder into the blower. The cylinder is actually set into the blower compartment, speeding material flow. Eight heavy, tungsten-carbide faced knives at 800 rpm give 6,400 cuts per minute. Attachments include 1- and 2-row corn heads, hay pickups or mower bar. Knife sharpener is just one of the many options available.

LONG'S CORRUGLASS™ BINS FOR HIGH MOISTURE GRAIN STORAGE

Long incorporates the strength of corrugated steel with the protective coating of glass to produce the most affordable, glass lined, oxygen limiting storage system for high moisture grain that you can buy. This feed system allows live stock growers to carry more animals on the same number of acres.

OXYGEN LIMITING BREATHING SYSTEM PROTECTS FEED AND CONTROLS THE FERMENTATION PROCESS

Breather bags suspended in the roof of the bin provide an oxygen limiting environment for the feed. This oxygen limiting feature controls the amount of fermentation that takes place within the bin. Feed stays fresh longer, feed losses are cut — both quality and quantity, and the need for drying equipment and heater fuel is eliminated.

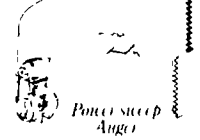

HIGH MOISTURE GRAIN IS MORE DIGESTIBLE, MORE PALATABLE, AND MORE NUTRITIOUS

The controlled fermentation process helps livestock to utilize more of the nutrients available in the feed. The high moisture feed also tastes better, and helps to obtain greater milk production and weight gain at a more economical cost.

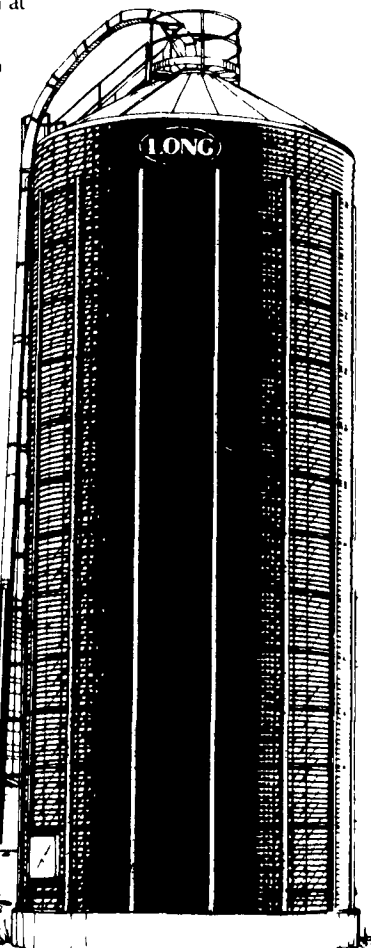

BOTTOM UNLOADING SYSTEMS

Bottom unloading systems feature proven dependability and low maintenance cost. Your choice of tapered, power driven sweep auger to help prevent bridging and cavities, or standard 6" auger unloader with clean out sweep arm.

OTHER FEATURES

Glass fused to steel wall and roof panels for maximum protection. Corrugated, glass fused to steel wall sheets with exterior stiffeners provide extra strength. Radius drawn-roof with 30.5 degree pitch offers extra strength against snow build up.

FICKES SILAGEMASTER

Silo construction is not only an engineering science, it is also an art. Fickes Silos exemplify these principles, with their fine stave design and strength durability... and manufacturer's care in building.

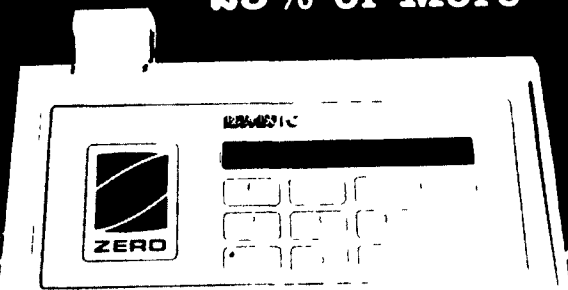

SWING BACK HINGED DOOR

The hardware used in this door's construction is heavy duty steel with a double hinge system to allow the door to swing back against the side of the silo. A double lock system holds the door against the frame for a sure seal

BETA-150 PCI

This new dairy computer identifies your cows with high potential and allows you to feed them accordingly

- has increased herd average production up to 25% —
- has paid for itself in less than a year in feed savings and increased milk & butterfat production
- is easy to program and use — produces more profits through managing both feed and cows

- interfaces with home computers

MAY-CO SILO LINERS

1. Reduces runoff
2. Wetter silage packs tighter
3. Tighter packed silage ferments better and makes more lactic acid.
4. Lactic acid increases T.D.N.
5. Is more palatable
6. Reduces shrinkage
7. Does not heat
8. Does not mold
9. Does not spoil in hot weather while feeding
10. More digestible protein
11. Acid does not eat silo walls
13. You don't need an additive
14. Easy installation

Our new liners are made with 3 plies of plastic laminated together with a reinforced top edge and makes a strong light weight plastic tube much STRONGER than regular polyethylene sheeting.

Butler County's top sheep, beef break records at sale

BY BARBARA RADER
Staff Correspondent

BUTLER — Cheers rang out during the Seventh Annual Butler County 4-H and FFA Livestock Market Sale, when the grand and reserve champions in both sheep and beef surpassed sale records set in 1981 and 1982. The sale was a fitting climax to the hard work put forth by young exhibitors during this year's Butler Farm Show.

With the livestock barn filled with youths, parents and buyers, auctioneer John R. Huey II took a final bid of $7.25 per pound for the grand champion market lamb from attorneys Henninger and Robinson of Butler. Owned by Rick Dunn of Chicora, the lamb weighed 116 pounds. This was the second year that the attorneys purchased the sale's top market lamb, exceeding the sale's previous record bid of $5, set in 1981.

The reserve champion lamb also surpassed the 1981 record, selling for $3.75 per pound to Dave Fine Packing of Saxonburg. The lamb was owned by Eric Schultheis of Connoquenessing.

This was the second year that Pam Peffer of Renfrew led a grand champion steer into the sale ring. Passing the previous record of $2.85 set in 1982, the top steer went to the Butler Holiday Inn for $4 per pound.

Once again, North Washington Rodeo purchased the reserve champion steer, paying $2.25 per pound.

Though this year's champion market hog was not a record-setter, Zeke Reed of Harmony sold his winning 239-pound porker for a respectable $2.50 a pound. The buyer, Wright Packing and Smoke House of Fombell, was on hand last year to purchase the reserve champion market hog.

Butler Agway paid $1.30 for the 214-pound reserve champion raised by Kelly Longdon of Renfrew.

Prices averaged well above market value in all three species, with most young exhibitors banking their profits for future livestock projects.

In other sale developments, the Mercer Livestock Auction purchased a lamb and resold it, donating the money to the Butler County 4-H and FFA Livestock Club to be used as a scholarship fund for club members.

And, in a gesture of appreciation, Pam Peffer, owner of the grand champion steer, purchased a hog and donated it for resale, with the funds going to the club's treasury.

David Fine of Fine Packing, Saxonburg, was the sale's volume buyer, purchasing a total of 19 hogs and sheep. Wright's Packing and Smokehouse and Butler Farm Market were also active buyers.

Carl Slear of Butler purchased eight head including all three species, making him the top individual buyer of the sale.

Ringmen Jim Hopson and Mark Shaw Jr. took bids with auctioneer Huey from 7:30 p.m. until shortly before midnight when the last of the 144 lots passed the auction block.

On August 23, members of the Livestock Club honored buyers and supporters of their sale with a covered dish dinner of pork, sheep and beef at the Butler County Community College. "Buyer's Banners" were presented to the purchasers of the champion animals.

Zeke Reed (left) sold his grand champion market hog to Wright Packing of Fombell for $597.50.

4-H livestock sale records set at Md. State Fair

TIMONIUM, Md. — New record high prices were established for the beef, hog and market lamb grand champions during the annual 4-H and FFA livestock sale, held August 29, at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium.

Mark G. Moxley, 15, of West Friendship sold his grand champion 1,255-pound Angus-Chianina crossbred steer for $8 per pound to Harold F. Graul of Annapolis, founder of a small supermarket chain bearing his name in Baltimore and Anne Arundel counties.

This year's record steer price was exactly double the previous record of $4 per pound, set only last year by a 7/8 Limousin steer shown by another Howard county resident, Randy Ridgely of Cooksville.

The reserve champion steer this year also came from Howard county. It was a 1,190-pound Angus crossbred shown by Sheryl Bennett, 14, of Daisy. The steer brought $3.25 per pound from Giant Food, Inc., a major East Coast supermarket chain headquartered at Washington, D.C.

Grand champion lamb, for the second consecutive year, was a purebred Suffolk wether shown by Gregory N. Hevner, 14, of Johnsville. The 120-pound animal was also purchased by Giant Food, at an all-time state fair record price of $10 per pound.

This year's grand champion pair of market lambs at the state fair included the reserve champion individual. The exhibitor was Rebecca Hope, 13, of Burkittsville (Frederick county). Her pair brought $2.35 per pound from Graul's Supermarket of Annapolis.

Becky's individual grand champion lamb in 1982 had set the previous state fair record price of $5.70 per pound.

In this year's market hog sale, Richard (Bud) Strohmer, 18, of Hernwood sold his grand champion 255-pound Hampshire-Duroc crossbred barrow for a new state fair record price of $6.00 per pound. The purchaser was Esskay Quality Meat Company, a major East Coast meat packer, located in east Baltimore.

Bud's sister, Brenda Strohmer, 15, had the reserve champion market hog, a 255-pound gilt which was a littermate of the grand champion. It brought $2.25 per pound from the Hatfield Packing Company of Hatfield, Pa.

In contrast with spirited bidding for the grand champions, average prices for both beef animals and market hogs were lower than last year, in line with current market trends.

Lambs, however, reflected a rising market. The 51 lambs entered in the sale—a record number—brought a state fair record average price of $1.36 per pound, more than twice the prevailing nearby market level.

Average price for 36 market hogs was 83 cents per pound, the lowest since 1979. Beef steers averaged 84 cents per pound, the lowest since 1982. All averages exclude prices paid for grand champions and reserve champions.

Three dairy steers were sold in this year's state fair 4-H and FFA livestock sale. The grand champion was a 1,165-pound Holstein exhibited by Kirk C. Downey, 11, of Williamsport. It brought $1.25 per pound from Esskay.

The other two dairy steers went for 60 cents per pound. They were purchased by A.W. Schmidt & Sons, Inc., a Baltimore abattoir.

UTILITY TRACTORS

To Suit All Needs

Two loader tractors designed especially for stockmen!

Livestock means loader tractors. And the new 2-55 and 2-65 Field Boss® utility tractors were designed with livestock operations in mind. They come with a lot of standard features (extra-cost options on most other makes) that can save you time and effort.

Shift-on-the-go. Our new synchromesh transmission lets you shift through four ranges without stopping. To let you choose from 16 forward speeds.

Tighter turning. You'll like the quickness and agility of the 2-55 and 2-65, too. Even the four wheel drive models turn almost as tight as most other two wheel drives. A big plus in feedlots and other tight spots.

These new tractors have so many work-saving features we can't list them all here. So come on in and count them up for yourself. It'll be worth the trip.

Put more utility in your utility tractor with a Power Front Axle

Nothing beats the 2-55 or 2-65 Field Boss® utilities when it comes to work-saving standard features. They're packed with equipment some manufacturers charge extra for as options.

Add a Power Front Axle. But one option that really pays off in productivity is our Power Front Axle. It adds performance to any job. From field to feedlot. Anytime the going gets tough.

High clearance, tight turns. Adding four-wheel-drive doesn't mean losing clearance or agility. Because our Power Front Axle is designed for more front axle clearance than most four-wheel-drive tractors. Plus, even with the Power Front Axle, our 2-55 and 2-65 tractors turn almost as short as our two-wheel drive models.

Come in to the dealership and see for yourself what a Power Front Axle can do. We think you'll be impressed.

We just got in a utility tractor you'll have to see to believe!

It's the new 2-75 Field Boss® utility tractor from White Farm Equipment Company and it's fresh off the truck. This tractor is put together with the precision of a classic automobile. Yet it works like a bigger field tractor.

Power to spare. The engine on this tractor is a beautiful 75* hp, direct-fuel-injected six cylinder diesel. Teamed with the big-tractor power train and hydraulics, it makes the 2-75 more tractor than most utilities could ever be.

More standard features. What some other manufacturers call options come standard on the 2-75. Synchromesh transmission. Both 540 and 1000 rpm PTO. Two batteries for more starting power. Adjustable lower links on the 3-pt. hitch. And more!

This tractor is so packed with standard work-saving features, we don't have room to list them all. So come on in and count 'em for yourself!

Blackbird does it again . . . this time in Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, KY — Once again Parkers Miss Blackbird 503 swooped down on a state fair coming away with the spoils of victory. Fresh from her Indiana victory, Miss Blackbird was named grand champion female at the Kentucky State Fair. She is owned by George Parker and Family of Barnesville, Maryland, and Greg Krueger and Family of Coatesville.

Judging the show was Bill Wilson of Cloverdale, Indiana, who placed the field of 116 bulls and heifers.

For grand champion bull, Wilson chose R&J Bullet 1783, the intermediate titlist. He was shown by Paul Dick, Monticello, Ky., Meng Farms Inc., Bowling Green, Ky., and Shady Brook Angus Farm, Leoma, Tenn. Reserve grand champion bull honors went to Turkey Run Big Star, owned by Frank Bauman, Blue Creek, Ohio. This bull had first been awarded the junior champion ribbon.

In group competition, Pine Drive Big Sky progeny won the get-of-sire class. The winning group was put together by Meng Farms Inc., Isaacs Land and Cattle Co., Shady Brook Angus Farm, Frank Bauman, and Kevin Swaim and Family, Marshall, Ind.

A trio of Kruegers Foolish Pride calves won the junior get-of-sire competition for Genetics Unlimited Inc., West Grove, Greg Jenkins of Rineyville, Ky., and Susan Patton, Crawfordsville, Ind. T.A. Bradley and Sons, Glasgow, Ky. led out the best six head of

awarded to Accent Marshall Prime Time, shown by Accent Angus Farm, Oakland, Ill.

And repeating her Indiana heifer calf champion win was Prides Blackbird 991 of G.U., owned by Genetics Unlimited and LaVern Krueger and Family, LaCrosse, Ind. The reserve heifer calf champion, Premier Irenmere 4765Y, was shown by Michele Turner, Mahomet, Ill.

Hereford Sire

Report available

KANSAS CITY, MO. — The 1984 edition of the Hereford National Sire Evaluation Report contains a record total of 1,577 Hereford sires.

The report is the most extensive analysis of active sires ever assembled on the breed. The listing contains comparable data on 697 "Progeny Proven" sires and 880 "Genetic Resource" sires. Nearly two million individual performance records were used in the analysis in preparing the report. Nearly 24,000 sires were involved in the analysis.

The 697 proven sires are compared for birth weight, weaning weight, yearling weight, and maternal breeding values.

BUSINESS NEWS...

New attachment from Krause Plow Corporation for chisel plow stalk slicers provides for efficient tillage operations.

Krause reports levelers

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — A new attachment, introduced by Krause Plow Corporation, for chisel plow stalk slicers levels part of the ridges typically left by twisted shovels. K-Tine Levelers allow one-trip spring tillage while controlling fall soil erosion.

The new economical attachment can be ordered with chisel plow stalk slicers or added to units already in the field. The heavy-duty K-tines make the leveler able to withstand a primary tillage operation. The key to this durability is the high point load of the tines that keep the sweeps running level and reduces the drag back of the tines.

The use of shot-peened steel to relieve internal stress makes the K-Tines rugged enough to provide years of flexing the field.

The K-Tine Leveler attachment also features a vertical adjustment of approximately eight inches to make a variety of soil finished possible.

For further information on this and the complete line of Krause tillage implements, contact Krause Plow Corporation, P.O. Box 2707, Hutchinson, Kan.

CHICAGO, Ill. — A new line of four-wheel drive tractors has been developed and introduced by International Harvester. The new International Super 70 Series offers farmers the working power of four-wheel drive combined with the ease of handling and the precise implement control usually associated with two-wheel drive tractors.

Under development since 1979, the new series includes two models, the 7288 with 210 horsepower (175 PTO) and the 7488 with 235 horsepower (200 PTO).

Deere tractors feature fuel efficiency

The new John Deere 50- to 60-hp tractors feature top fuel efficiency and impressive lugging ability. The new 50-hp Model 1450 and the 60-hp Model 1650 join the efficient 40-hp Model 1250 tractor. Deere reports the Model 1650 set the all-time official fuel-efficiency score in three categories - PTO at rated engine speed, PTO at standard speed and drawbar at full load.

Sauders is promoted

BALTIMORE — The Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore, the region's leading agricultural lending institution, has announced the promotion of Kenneth D. Sauders to Assistant Vice President and Cash Manager.

A Pennsylvania native, Sauders holds both a bachelor's and master's degree from Penn State University. Following three years in the Navy and two years of Farm Credit Association experience in the Springfield (Mass.) District, he joined the Baltimore Banks' as a Credit Analyst in 1973. He was named Management and Information Officer in 1975, Management Services Officer in 1978, and Assistant Treasurer and Cash Manager in 1981.

S-W-D Valiant dies

DE FOREST, Wisc. — S-W-D Valiant, super Holstein bull at American Breeders Service, died Aug. 9. He was just over 11 years-of-age.

Valiant was the result of a mating planned by ABS between Pawnee Farm Arlinda Chief and Allied Admiral Rose Vivian in the S. W. Dairy Corporation herd at Lake Geneva, Wisc. He arrived at the ABS headquarters near DeForest, Wisc., Dec. 21, 1973.

During the next four and one-half years Valiant went through the regular progeny testing program at ABS to determine his genetic ability to sire desirable dairy cows. The production traits of his first daughters were reported July 17, 1978 with an exceptional Predicted Difference of +$136, +1541M, and +44F. Type information of his daughters reported by the American Holstein Association three days earlier, also gave him an outstanding rating for Type Traits at +1.99 PDT.

These two reports made Valiant an instant legend that grew and grew as the unique quality of his offspring became very apparent to the breeders of Registered Holsteins around the world.

At the time of his death he ranked in the top two percent of all Holstein bulls active in A.I. (489) for Milk Yield Traits and in the top two percent for Type Traits. He has the second highest Total Performance Index for Holstein bulls in the U.S.

S-W-D Valiant

In addition, the "Super 200" list of registered Holstein cows published in the June 25, 1984 Holstein World includes 34 Valiant daughters—more than any other bull in the breed.

The death of Valiant has ended a very important era in the history of Holsteins. However, thanks to the miracle of frozen semen, another era which will have an even greater impact on the breed is just beginning. There are 380 Valiant sons in the process of being tested by the A.I. industry in the U.S. Eighty-four of them are at ABS. In addition, many others are being sampled by A.I. organizations around the world.

His first son with an A.I. proof was reported in the July 1984 Sire Summary—he ranked 13th (out of 400) on the Total Performance Index List.

Nor is this all—at the time of his death, Valiant had a total of 6,170 sons and 14,575 daughters registered with the American Holstein Association. Through these offspring and thousands of others as yet unborn—or even conceived as there is a reasonable supply of his semen still available—the Valiant influence will be extended far further into the future than it has existed in the past.

IH announces 4WD tractors

"We've designed a four-wheel drive tractor that can be used more hours per year for a wider variety of chores than many other four-wheel drives," says Bill Stover, marketing planning manager for International Harvester.

The new 70 Series relies on a fully synchronized transmission called Synchro Tri-Six (STS), which features nine power shift gear changes. A rear-mounted Control Center allows for a clear view of the hitch and implements and features both left- and right-hand doors for easy entry and exit. The new series also boasts a high-capacity PTO, hitch and front axle drive system. Diesel engines are specifically designed for each tractor. Serviceability is enhanced by a quick release roll-out hood.

Power Train

The STS transmission with 18 evenly spaced forward speeds and six reverse speeds is engineered to provide smooth, even shifts over a wide range of speeds. The power train is designed to provide better fuel economy, rugged dependability and long life.

Hydraulic System

The International Harvester Power Priority hydraulic system on the 70 Series utilizes three pumps to supply flow on demand. This improves fuel efficiency and provides more power to the wheels.

Important new design characteristics include double filtering of the entire hydraulic system for improved reliability and performance. Two exterior spin-on filters permit easy replacement and extended filter life.

Hitch System

The 70 Series offers farmers a telescoping 3-point hitch (Cat II convertible to Cat III) with optional quick coupler. These hitches feature lower-link draft sensing and a cam sway limiter for better control of mounted and semi-mounted implements.

The 7488 features hardened steel ball retainers in new lower and upper links, providing increased life. Draft sensing capacity has been increased to 30,000 pounds without loss of sensitivity.

The 7288 offers an optional hitch assist cylinder to increase hitch life capacity.

Engines

The International Harvester high-torque 466 cubic inch diesel engines have earned a reputation for exceptional performance. The 70 Series is built around an intercooled diesel turbo system that maximizes output while minimizing fuel consumption.

The 70 Series diesel engines feature a high-efficiency cooling system with a coolant filter/conditioner.

Hesston unveils products

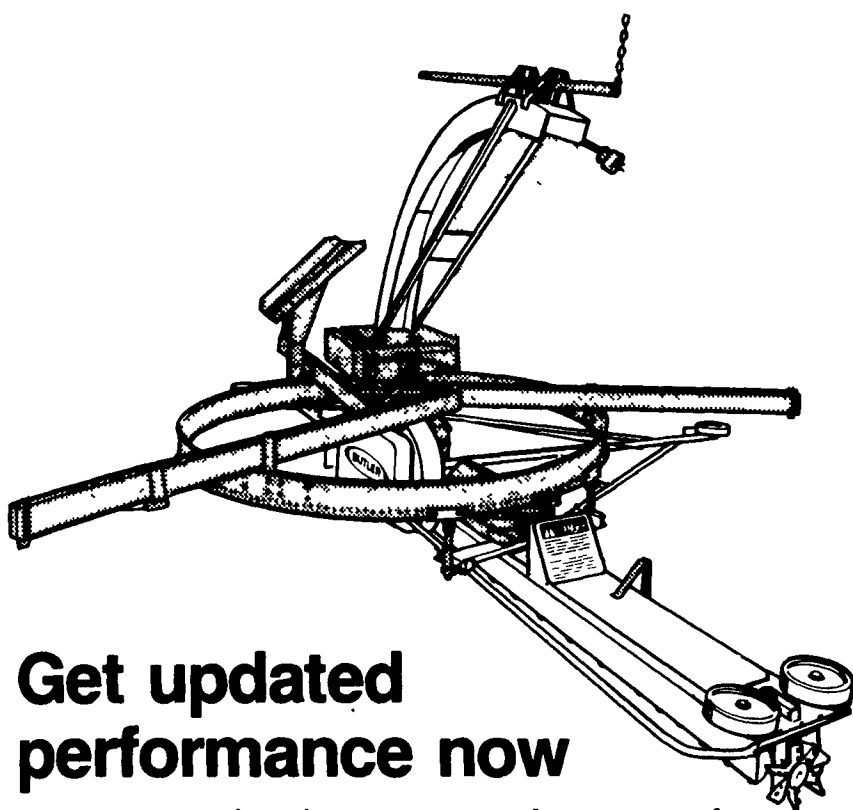

HESSTON, Kan. — John Stoltzfus of Stoltzfus Farm Service, Inc. Cochraville, attended Hesston Corporation's North American Dealer Conference in Wichita, Kan. where more than 60 new or improved Hesston products were unveiled. During the four-day sessions, Company officials directed specialized training seminars and presented Hesston's strategies for the future.

The Dealer Conference accommodated groups from different geographical regions throughout Canada and the United States, and was preceded by the Company's National Sales Meeting for Territory Managers and Branch Sales personnel. Company President Howard L. Brennehan announced during the meetings that future Hesston products would carry a new FIATAGRI identifying symbol to represent the worldwide marketing alliance with Fiat.

Vice President-Sales Jim Gaeddert unveiled Hesston's new and improved products, including an entire new line of 90 Series tractors with 31 models in two- or four-wheel drive. Other products introduced were new loaders for tractors, windrowers with new headers, three mower conditioners, a new 16 x 18 square baler, new field cultivator, improved round balers with an automatic bale ejector, Tilt-Tub bale processor, new 8-knife forage harvesters up to 135 hp, all new auger base header group for forage harvesters, and new forage boxes and blowers.

CHESAPEAKE, Va. — Vicon Farm Machinery, Inc., Chesapeake, Va., introduces the HP 1600, a high-density baling system that can produce top quality silage without the aid of a permanent silo structure. The Vicon HP is a high output

These rectangular bales can be stacked in convenient field locations and covered with common plastic sheeting material for ensilage. Because of their high density construction, these bales when covered, produce silage with good fermentation and palatability. Tests indicate that silage produced with the HP 1600 system rivals or exceeds that from conventional sil structures.

Another unique feature of the Vicon HP is the ability to bale continuously without stopping for bale ejection. A large capacity charge chamber collects the crop before a plunger moves it into the bale chamber. After the bale chamber is filled, the bale is tied and ejected without stopping the machine.

The HP 1600 is an excellent

The HP 1600 Baling System from Vicon Farm Machinery produces high density bales approximately 5 ft. x 2 ft. x 4 ft. in size that can be stacked and covered with plastic for ensilage.

Dairy sheep meeting set

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — The next meeting of the Hunterdon County Sheep Breeders Association will be held at the Extension Center, R 31, north of Flemington, N.J., on Monday evening, at 8 p.m.

The program will relate to dairy sheep, and will be presented by members, Bob and Chris Chadeayne. In Eastern Europe dairy sheep represents "the 3rd profit from sheep", with cheese the predominant product of sheep milk. This program will cover the breeds of sheep used, the basic equipment, and discuss the numerous types of cheese made, i.e. Roquefort, Ricotta, Imported Romano.

"Come hear how those woolley critters can provide a table delicacy as well as a basic food staple for people in many parts of the world," says Richard Betts, program chairman.

The sheep breeders meetings are open to everyone. All aspects of sheep and wool production are covered and open discussions are encouraged.

forage handling and storage system for large livestock operators or contract cutters. Vicon has also designed a three-bale and a single-bale hydraulic gripper that can be tractor mounted and used to conveniently transport and stack the large bales.

This unit has been used commercially throughout western Europe for over four years. Successful results there have lead to the U.S. introduction of the HP 1600 for 1985.

Vicon Farm Machinery, Inc., Chesapeake, VA, is one of the North American daughter companies of Vicon B.V. Vicon markets a wide range of square and round balers, disc mower/conditioners, disc mowers, rakes, tedders, tedder/rake combinations, seeder/spreaders, sprayers and tillage tools.

Now is the TIME to think about your garden and lawn equipment, that is, if you want to save MONEY.

BEARCAT IV

the tractor
that saves you money
while it makes you money

Efficiency is a major key to making money in your operation. A STEIGER BEARCAT IV gives you an extra measure of efficiency.

A Bearcat Costs You Less.

Helps You Farm Better.

When you put a Bearcat in the field you start saving again, because of less soil compaction than a front-wheel-assist, ability to get in the field sooner and in Raw Power. For example, the CM-225 delivers an amazing 195 Horsepower to the drawbar. So you've got 225 engine horses with almost 200 in the back actually doing the work. No two-wheeler can match that.

This Is The Tractor You'll Want To Own..

Saves On Fuel.

When you come in at the end of the day and drive up to the diesel pump, you'll find your Bearcat does more with every gallon of fuel than you thought was possible.

Efficiency means working quality-built-in Steiger quality that assures you your Bearcat will be dependable. So the work gets done when it needs to be done. And when it comes to the critical work of getting a crop in on time, you can't beat Steiger Power.

See For Yourself

Compare the BEARCAT to two-wheel-drives and to other four-wheel-drives. Look at the difference in the ruggedness and in the working power you get. Check out the Bearcat price.

Funks receive plaque

LANCASTER — Hi-Score Plant Food Company, 3175 Oregon Pike, presented a Century Farm Plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Amos Funk, Millersville, during the firm's annual meeting in Lancaster.

The plaque, provided by the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce and Industry of which Hi-Score is a member, commemorated the fact that the Funk's Farm has been in the same family since 1848 and honored the Funk's for their many years in agriculture and their dedication and service to the cause of soil conservation.

In presenting the plaque, Arthur F. Benjamin, Jr., Hi-Score President, stated, "With proper soil testing and fertilizer application of the type practiced by the Funk's, Pennsylvania farm land can be conserved and passed along to future generations in peak condition."

The Funk's grow fruits and vegetables for sale in their store, Funk's Farm Store and Greenhouse, Millersville.

Bush Hog adds loader

CARLISLE — Bob Weaver, of Carlisle, Bush Hog representative for Pennsylvania and New Jersey, has added the 3450-QT front end loader which requires no tools to attach to 85 tractor models in less than 10 minutes, to his line of farm and land maintenance implements.

Bush Hog manufactures more than 100 models of equipment and markets them in the continental United States, Alaska; Canada and 22 other foreign countries.

The 3450-QT mounting kit fits both long and short wheelbase tractors," said Mr. Weaver. "There are no obstructions on the tractor when the mounting kit for the 3450-QT is attached."

The loader's lift capacity is 3,800 pounds and its breakaway capacity is 4,500 pounds. The maximum lift height is 140 inches, with a clearance of 120 inches when the attachment is dumped. Reach is 73 inches on the ground and 28 inches at maximum height. A heavy duty leveling indicator allows precise bucket control and jackstands are provided for safe, secure storage.

"Five bucket sizes are available to customize the 3450-QT to a number of uses," Mr. Weaver said.

Bucket selections range from a 60-inch manure bucket to an 84-inch heavy duty material bucket, all of which are constructed with closed seams for a fast, clean dumping action. Optional equipment includes 48 to 84 inch wide dirt plates and teeth for all material handling buckets.

For more information, contact Bush Hog, Department NR-3450, P.O. Box 1039, Selma, AL 36701.

Cat extends service plan

PEORIA, IL. — Caterpillar has announced an Extended Service Coverage program for new Caterpillar 3200, 3300, and 3400 Series Engines sold and applied in mobile agricultural and irrigation applications. Effective with deliveries after October 1, the program is available in the United States and Canada.

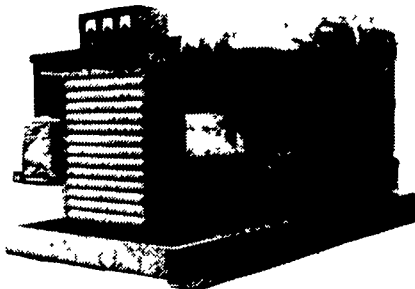

The program permits the farmer to purchase an additional one, two, or three years of coverage on mobile ag engines in addition to the two-year standard warranty or an additional one, two, three or four years' coverage on industrial engines which carry a one year standard warranty. Costs (depending upon the engine model) range from $115 for one year 3208 coverage to $560 for three additional years of coverage for the Caterpillar 3406.

Extended Service Coverage begins with expiration of the standard warranty and terminates at a maximum of five years or 5,000 hours, whichever occurs first, after the date of delivery to the initial user. When an enrolled engine is sold or traded, the remaining portion of the plan may be transferred to the new owner for a nominal transfer fee.

BRILLION, WI. — A new hydraulic depth control feature for the cutting coulters on Brillion's most popular sizes of Soil Builders is announced by Brillion Iron Works, Inc., Brillion, WI.

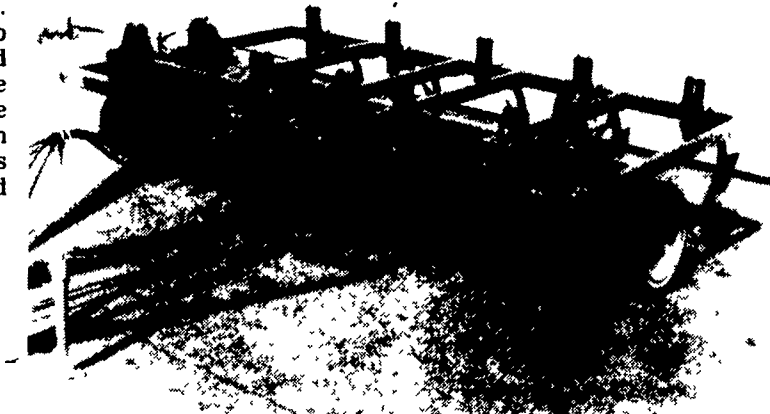

The hydraulic coulters control does not change the maximum working depth of the coulters, but does allow infinite depth adjustments over a 5" range. With the hydraulic adjustment, the coulters can be raised about 3" higher than standard Brillion CD models.

Kits to convert machines already in the field are also available. If you have a 7, 9, or 11 shank model, for example, your dealer can order a hydraulic coulters control kit for your present Soil Builder.

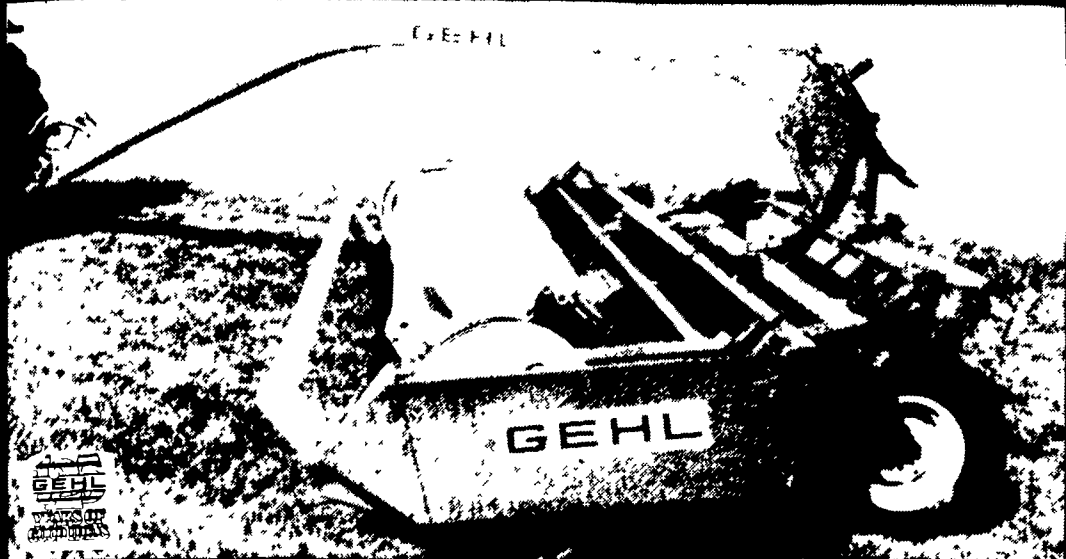

When coulters-chisel shanks are being operated at a depth of less than 7", the coulters can be raised high enough to clear the ground. Some farmers may want to keep the coulters completely raised when working light-residue soybean ground, or when using the Soil Builder for primary tillage in spring in cornfields where stalks have been gleaned or mellowed down over winter.

Hydraulic Coulters Depth Control for Brillion's 7, 9 and 11 shank Soil Builder sizes is announced by Brillion Iron Works, Inc., Brillion, WI. It gives infinite cutting depth adjustments over a 5" range.

Swing-Frame Mower Conditioners

12' and 14' Cutting Widths

Now you can get into high capacity haymaking with new swing-frame center pivot mower conditioners from Gehl. Our new 2230 has a full 12' cutting width while the 2262 offers a 14' cut AND high speed double sickle cutting action for faster cutting and increased capacity.

Both of these new mower conditioners feature totally hydraulic drive with high torque and smooth operation -- no mechanical main drivelines for reduced maintenance and parts.

These new swing-frame units pivot at the center of the frame for positive, easy positioning of the header. You can cut from the left side or right side of the tractor, or tow directly behind for roading. The result to you is reduced cutting time and fuel costs with nearly infinite maneuverability.

Both the 2230 and 2262 feature a 20" auger to feed the crop into the 57" wide conditioning rolls for thorough crop conditioning.

Now you can get into high capacity haymaking at self-propelled speeds and convenience, without the cost of a self-propelled. The NEW 2230 and 2262 swing-frame mower conditioners from Gehl.

Grange favors tax bill

OAKRYN — Fulton Grange of Lancaster County has gone on record as favoring a bill introduced by State Sen. Noah Wenger to exempt farmers from realty transfer taxes when a farm is converted into a family corporation.

The Grange also calls on the Federal Congress to pass a binding resolution requiring the national TV networks to withhold results of presidential election balloting in the East until polls close in the West. Networks that did not comply would be faced with a penalty of loss of license.

Women's Activities committee chairman, AnnaBell Wiley, requests the Grange ladies to enter the State Grange needlework contest and to bring their entries to Community Night on Sept. 24. For details call Mrs. Wiley 548-2572. This committee is in charge of the new Pa. State Grange cookbook sales. There are over 1500 recipes from rural women in it. The committee sent a $25.00 donation to Care for the women of Bangladesh through the National Grange Women's Activities program.

Girl Scout Junior Troop 905 and Brownie Troop 1130 will be sponsored by Fulton Grange and will meet Monday nights at the Grange Hall. Boy Scout Troop 130 is also sponsored by Fulton Grange and meets Thursday nights.

AnnaBell Wiley, president of the Senior Citizens sponsored by Fulton Grange, reported they will take a bus trip to Corning, N.Y. Oct. 10, have an Acme dinner Oct. 17 and will participate in Craft Days at Park City, Lancaster.

Clifford Holloway Jr., local representative of Pa. Grange Farm Supplies, reported on Muncy-Chief seed prices and oil prices. He also announced the Pa. Rural Coalition Primary Health Care seminar will be held at Penn State on Sept. 11 and 12.

There were nominations for officers and election will be held at the next meeting on Monday.

Community Night will be observed Sept. 24 when the public is invited. There will be a covered dish supper at 7 p.m. and a program at 8 p.m. There will be a needlework display and a photo contest.

Freys honored with Century Farm Award

Glenn Horst (right) of Triple H Construction, Ephrata, presents the Century Award to the Jay Frey family of Frey Dairy Farms, Inc., located six miles west of Millersville. Family members include (left) Jay's son Cliff, holding Carey; Cliff's wife, Heidi; Jay and Pauline Frey, and Courtney.

This family represents the fifth, sixth and seventh Frey generations to be farming at their present location.

"We feel it's a good idea to keep farm ownership within families," commented Horst, adding that his agricultural and commercial construction firm plans to sponsor more Century Awards in the future. The presentation was made on Monday.

Packer rules changed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture has adopted several rule changes intended to reduce the regulatory burden on the livestock marketing and meat industries without lessening the protection provided for producers, consumers and industry members under the Packers and Stockyards Act.

The changes will:

- Retain a rule that prohibits packer ownership of livestock selling agencies, but remove the prohibition with respect to dealers;
- Replace with policy statements one rule that prohibits packers from owning dealers or order buyers, and another that prohibits packer ownership of custom feedlots;

- Revise rules concerning registration, rates and brand inspections; and

- Revise a rule which prohibits market agencies from permitting meat packers or their livestock buyers to perform any market agency services. Under the revision, the prohibition will apply only to selling agencies.

USDA also decided to retain, as written, rules which:

- Prohibit packers, dealers and market agencies that buy on commission from exchanging buying information;

- Prescribe the terms and conditions under which livestock sellers may expressly agree in writing to extend credit to packers;

- Encourage reasonable standards for ethical self-government by stockyards; and

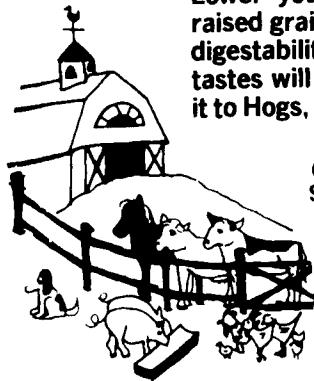

- Prohibit gifts or gratuities from meat packers to government employees.

Del. ag directory published

DOVER, Del. — A comprehensive listing of agricultural products and services produced or sold in Delaware has been compiled by the Delaware Department of Agriculture.

The Delaware Agricultural Trade Directory lists almost 500 companies or individuals in the state that either produce, grow, process, ship, or otherwise offer a farm product or service.

"We are extremely pleased to offer this first ever listing of agricultural products," said

Donald J. Lynch, Delaware Agriculture Secretary.

"To our knowledge, no one has ever before attempted to compile a list of this type. It should prove to be very helpful in putting buyers in contact with sellers, and we think it will stimulate the sale of Delaware produced commodities."

The Department of Agriculture mailed out thousands of applications to known agricultural product suppliers either based in Delaware or doing a large portion of their business in the First State.

The information was categorized, cross referenced, placed on computer, and has now been published in a 3-ring binder format.

Free copies of the 65 page directory are being mailed to potential buyers of large quantities of commodities. Extra copies will be sold on a first come, first serve basis at $7.00.

The Delaware Department of Agriculture also plans to attend several trade shows to personally distribute directories to potential buyers.

An international fresh produce exposition in Washington, D.C. in October has been targeted as the first major trade show. An international food show in Kansas City, MO next April will also be attended by agriculture department personnel.

"We are constantly updating the directory using our computer system, and we plan to update the booklet with a new printing in about a year," said Lynch.

"That way we can add any companies who for one reason or another are not in this directory, and we can add or delete any products or services from companies already listed."

Agriculture related companies that are not listed should contact the departments marketing section for an application. There is no charge.

1600 copies of the directory have been printed and Lynch expects them to disappear rapidly.

"Response has been good to the first copies distributed. Many groups such as the Delaware Restaurant Association and the School Food Service Association have requested copies for their members. We're also getting help from the Foreign Agriculture Service in distributing the directories overseas to Agricultural Trade Offices.

We identify each companies market area and give their telex numbers when applicable, so the directory can be used to stimulate exports as well as domestic sales," he said.

Wholesale buyers are eligible to receive a free copy of the directory by contacting the marketing section at (302) 736-4811. Others should send check or money order for $7.00 payable to State of Delaware to: Delaware Agricultural Trade Directory, Drawer D, Dover, DE 19903.

9.7% APR* PEACE - OF - MIND LEASE PLAN

LOWERS YOUR EQUIPMENT COST FOUR WAYS

It's the businesslike way to benefit from new Allis-Chalmers farm equipment.

1. You lock in the low 9.7% Annual Percentage Rate* for all 5 years of the lease.
2. You enjoy low, low payments.
3. You get all the cash discounts now in effect.
4. And in 5 years, you're guaranteed the option of buying the equipment for a predetermined amount.

That all adds up to low overall equipment costs. And in addition, you're protected by the same liberal PEACE-OF-MIND warranties you'd enjoy if you purchased the equipment.

Stop in today for full details on this money-saving, worry-free program. And ask about the other plans we offer: waiver of finance charges, the 6.9% APR Farm Finance Lease, low-rate retail financing, and more.

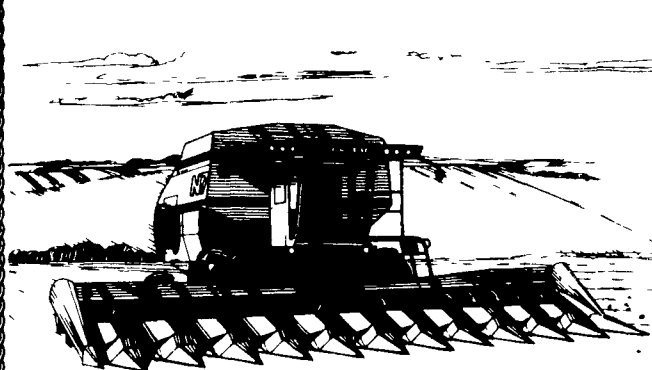

* Rental payments include a money cost equivalent to 9.7% Annual Percentage Rate. Allis-Chalmers reserves the right to alter or withdraw programs at its option without notice.

COMPARE COSTS: Peace-of-Mind Lease vs. Other Financing

	9.7% PEACE-OF-MIND Lease	12.9% Farm Finance Lease	16% Standard Retail
Equipment Cost	$50,000	$50,000	$50,000

Forage research center is working lab

BY SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

MADISON, Wisc. — It is not surprising that this state, which boasts 1.8 million dairy cows, should be the site of one of the most recently established dairy forage research centers, begun in 1980.

The U.S. Dairy Forage Research Center, cooperatively operated by the University of Wisconsin at Madison and the United States Department of Agriculture, is designed to do research in forage production resources, specifically in the north central and northeastern states where more than 70 percent of the nation's dairy products are produced.

The facility is located 30 miles north of Madison and uses 1000 acres of farmland belonging to the Badger Army Ammunition Plant operated by the Department of Defense. The sale of milk from the dairy herd is used to pay the labor force, all of whom are state employees with the exception of one federal employee.

In a visit by those attending the National Association of Animal Breeders convention in Madison, it was pointed out that the buildings and land are federally owned, the herd belongs to the state of Wisconsin and the crops are owned by the University of Wisconsin.

Brad Venuto, the one federal employee, serves as field facilities coordinator, and explained to the group that the whole facility is dedicated to forage research from production to handling and evaluating forage feeding systems with production.

The facility presently has a 130-cow milking with 30 dry cows, but they hope to have a total of 500 head when they are fully operational. The basis for the herd came from animals transferred from the University herds, all pure-bred Holstein cows. The Center also purchased 96 grade Holstein heifers which were to be used in a full scale embryo transplant project with the resulting calves forming the foundation stock for the future herd. Donor cows were selected on the basis of their genetic potential for superior production and type, which will give a herd of superior cattle. Another benefit from a research standpoint is the large number of offspring which are siblings to reduce variability in experiments.

In an arrangement with American Breeders Services, the Center is also working on splitting embryos and has seven calves from the process. It has been found that in splitting the markings of resultant calves will be similar but not identical. Venuto said they have also found that the environment of the recipient heifers influences the birth weight of the calves, and lower birth weight calves may never catch up. Embryos are flushed at one week, with a 60-100 cell count, and implanted in the recipients with a straw.

Venuto noted that herd production is 14,800 pounds, and that production is often hampered by the demands of research.

Forages are studied at every step, and there are continuing studies on preservatives, leaf loss, moisture levels and maturity levels. Many different methods of storage are used and studied.

Studies are also done on the herd with once-a-day feedings and twice-a-day feedings, and the stall barns are designed with partitions in the feeding trough to allow weigh-back studies to get accurate weights on what cows are consuming.

the summer and in an insulated, heated calf barn in the winter. The facility, in the words of Venuto, is "expensive to maintain and operate."

barn. They are fed 20 percent fat milk replacer and offered free choice hay, and weaned at eight weeks. From there calves are moved to small free stall areas.

Manure is handled with a Surge solid-liquid separation unit, with the liquid going to an earthen lagoon and the dry matter being used for bedding. Coming through the system at 50-60 percent moisture, the dry matter is then composted to 140 degrees Centigrade to kill organisms.

The dry matter is used to make a manure pack under cows. Venuto said, "It is fairly sterile under cows, but it needs a manager." He said it offers a nice pack which is "good for feet and legs."

Barns at the facility are designed with an edging at the back end of the stall to contain the manure pack. Venuto explained that the top several inches of the pack must be raked and taken off from two to three times weekly. New natural material is added, covered with chopped straw. The purpose of using the manure pack is to save on the considerable expense of bedding materials.

Venuto admits that the manure pack can cause problems with coliform and mastitis, but feels with good management its use can be successful. The bottom part of their pack has been in place for two years.

In addition to the stall barns, there are two separate free stall barns on the facility, built as one, but separated by a closing partition and operated differently. One is naturally ventilated and the other is insulated and mechanically ventilated. Both have four rows of free stalls and a drive-through feed alley. Venuto says the naturally ventilated one is probably best for most farms, although cows must be fed more in the winter. The cost of the extra feed, however, offsets the extremely high electric bills from the mechanically ventilated system.

The milking parlor is set up as a double-four, side-opening parlor. There are two prep stalls where cows are given a warm udder-wash of 45 seconds. A heat recovery system on their bulk tank has afforded them savings. The computerized milking units automatically record the number of each cow and measure her milk production, both morning and evening. Venuto said it takes 2 1/2 hours to milk the 130 cow herd, emphasizing that it takes longer in a research herd than in a strictly production herd.

The Center is still working hard at getting their new systems to work at optimum, but look for this forage research farm to produce data which will be useful in helping dairymen get better production from their herds.

Farm workers decline

Reporting Service. This total includes hired, self-employed and unpaid workers. The number of farm workers decreased nearly five percent from the same comparable survey period of July, 1983. Self-employed workers accounted for 33 percent, hired workers 32 percent, and other unpaid workers 35 percent of the total farm work force.

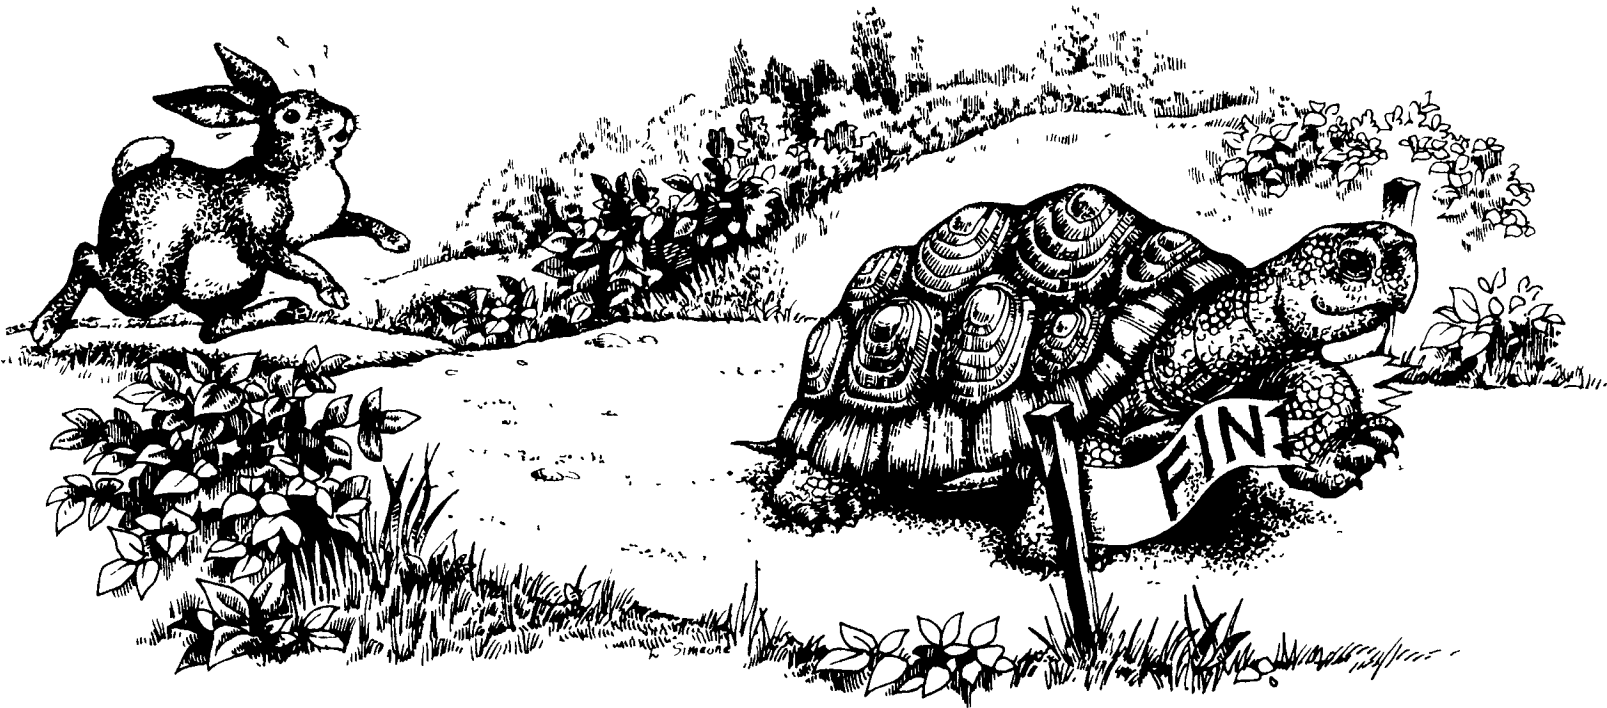

Pennsylvania self-employed farmers worked an average of 57.7 hours during the survey week. Through the same period, unpaid workers averaged 45.9 hours and hired workers averaged 36.3 hours. Hourly farm workers in the commonwealth were paid an average of $3.90 an hour. Those paid on other terms, such as salary or commission, received an average of $3.69 per hour. Field workers earned an average of $3.78 per hour, while those working with livestock were paid an average of $3.48 per hour.

Nationwide, a total of 4.1 million people were working on farms and ranches during the survey week. This is an increase of nearly one percent over the number for the corresponding week last year. Hired workers represented 43 percent (1.8 million) of the total work force, while farm operators and other unpaid workers accounted for the remaining 2.3 million workers. Self-employed farm operators averaged slightly fewer hours this year, averaging 48.2 hours for the survey week. Other unpaid workers averaged 40.8 hours and hired workers averaged 36.8 hours worked during the period July 8-14, 1984.

The U.S. average wage rate for all hired farm workers was $4.16 per hour, up 1.2 percent from July 1983. Workers paid on an hourly basis received $4.12 per hour, an increase of five cents over July 1983. Wage rates by categories of workers were: field, $3.93; livestock, $3.93, and piece rate, $4.60.

WHEN IT COMES TO MONEY, PRUDENCE PAYS.

We could leap on every new idea that comes down the pike. We could enter the race for "new" and "never before," but we believe in prudence. So first we analyze each new idea. Then we make sure that the new idea is not only what you want—but what will work. For you.

Take Certificates of Deposit. Highest interest on savings is great, but not everyone can afford to lock in money year upon year, so we have terms from six months to ten years.* And not everyone can afford $2,500, so we have minimums as low as $500. That works for you.

Take Money Market Deposit Accounts. A great new way to earn higher interest, but our way is to give ready access to your money plus checking-with-interest. That works for you.

And NOW Accounts. We looked at them carefully and liked what we saw, but we thought something more should be added. So our NOW Account—our checking-with-interest—has no minimum balance, no monthly service charge. That works for you.

Working for you. Prudently. Perhaps that's why our customers are winning the race. And that's why they keep coming back.

Member FSLIC. Accounts insured up to $100,000. *Federal regulations require an interest penalty for early withdrawal.

Sweet onion developed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A new onion called "Sweet Sandwich," unlike other onions, becomes milder in flavor while it is stored at low temperatures.

That report comes from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Clinton E. Peterson, who adapted the onion specifically for growing in the East. He is a plant breeder for USDA's Agricultural Research Service, based in Madison, Wis.

Commercial, home garden and market tests in 1983 in New York State showed what Peterson called "the new onion's superiority." He said the onion averaged 1,615 bushels an acre, out-producing 15 other varieties in the East's hot and dry growing season last year.

Onion bulbs were "strikingly uniform in shape," he said, and over 90 percent were two to three inches in size. Growing trials were carried out by the Agricultural Experiment Station of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.

When harvested, each bulb was equally mild and improved in flavor while in storage, Peterson said. That's in contrast to the "Sweet Spanish," a salad and sandwich onion grown in the West which can vary in mildness.

"Sweet Sandwich" borrows its taste and good storage traits from several varieties of "Early Yellow Globe," he said. But, the new onion is missing its parents' pungency.

Tests also showed that after four months in storage the bulbs softened slightly, but were free of sprouting, root growth and disease.

Production is expected to increase enough, Peterson said, for packet and catalog seed distributors to meet the needs of home gardeners in 1985.

The Dairy Business

By
Newton Bair

It is so easy to let the uncertainty of the weather influence our thinking too much. The Dairy Business is almost as unpredictable as the weather, but not quite. Some things are predictable, if you are willing to bring your influence to bear on them. In other words, you can make things happen instead of wondering what happened.

It is almost a foregone assumption that the flow of milk will increase very soon after the termination of the Dairy Reduction Program. The latest figures show that there are at least two heifers ready to freshen for every cow that was culled as a result of the program. These heifers are probably going to outproduce their dams because of the steady genetic improvement in Dairy breeding. Wonderful progress, but it means more milk to sell. This much is predictable; there's going to be another surplus of milk, unless there is another restrictive program, or unless too many dairies go up the spout. Neither of which is very healthy or comfortable for any of us.

The National Dairy press is running over with editorials on how we should react to the potential situation. Most of the ideas zero in on some action that you alone can take. Like breeding only the top half of the herd to the highest PD bulls for type and production, and the low half to beef bulls. Just like many other good ideas, it will work best for the other fellow, but not for me. I like to raise as many heifers as possible, and give them a chance to prove themselves before I cull. This philosophy is heavily ingrained in the whole dairy system, and will continue to dominate and influence what happens.

Every individual dairyman, in striving for the utmost in efficiency, is contributing to the overall abundance of milk. It is bound to become a vicious circle as each one of us becomes a competitor with his neighbor. None of us really wants that to happen, and we don't normally think of that kind of competition. We would rather think of the competition between regions, like Northeast against Midwest or Far West. It's even easier to think of the competition for markets between Countries like New Zealand or Western European communities.

Any way you look at it, it's a competitive world, and the sooner we realize it the better.

We are all competitors in the race for the consumers dollar. The biggest threat to the Dairy industry is not Coke or Pepsi, or even Stroh's. They are competitors for our beverage dollar, but monetary preferences are fickle and hard to predict. How about our other products like cheese, Ice cream, Butter and Yogurt? The enemy here is the myriad of phony substitutes that are taking over. Oleo, diluted cheese substitutes, vegetable fats and other artificial food products are undercutting the markets for the Real Thing. Let's not be blinded by our devotion to the sanctity of our superior product. The real threat to the dairy industry is competition from substitute food products that are often inferior in quality, taste, and of course price.

If we are to have any influence over our future, we must be willing to act in concert with all other segments of our society. This does not mean being less of an individual in our everyday thought and philosophy of life. It does mean that we must keep our eyes open to what is happening everywhere, and be willing to make changes wherever necessary. We can either passively accept the changes, or actively guide them to our advantage. We can no longer afford to just concentrate on production and let marketing take care of itself. The only reason for being is to sell what we produce, so we had better be as imaginative as our competitors are.

The market for food will always

McMullen wins Reading Fair award

READING — Mary McMullen, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McMullen, Elverson, has been named the 1984 Reading Fair FFA girl award winner.

She has served as an officer of both the Twin Valley FFA Chapter and the Berks County Association. She served as both chapter secretary and secretary of the county organization. She was also the chapter reporter during her senior year.

An exceptionally active member, she participated in the state FFA chorus for three years and attended the national FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo. She served as chairman of the chapter Food for America committee which does presentations to elementary school classes on the importance of American agriculture and where food comes from. She was also a member of the chapter BOAC committee which has done projects at the Hay Creek Historical site, Zerbe Sisters Nursing Home and a barn raising in the community. Other committees she has served on include the chapter fair, fund raising, petting zoo, slave sale, basketball, greenhouse, nominating, summer barbeque, alumni relations, landscaping, and chapter banquet committee.

She has participated in the creed speaking contest, both livestock and dairy judging at several local fairs, pleasure horse judging contest, interview contest, greenhand and chapter farmer contests. She has also been a member of the chapter parliamentary procedure team and has exhibited flowers and floral creations at local fairs and the Pennsylvania Farm Show. In 1984, Mary won the Area Job Interview Contest and participated in the state contest where she won a silver medal.

She has attended the county leadership training conferences and the Eastern Pennsylvania Leadership Training Conference in the Poconos. She also attended the Blue Mountain Cooperative Council educational institute and the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives Institute for two years. She also attended the Washington Leadership Conference of the FFA.

She has been an active member of the community and school groups, as well as the FFA. She is a member of her church choir and was also a member of the school chorus. She participated in FBLA and FHA activities at Twin Valley and is a member of the Elverson Fire Company.

She is a 1984 graduate of Twin Valley High School.

No-till meetings slated

NORRISTOWN — The Montgomery County Conservation District and Soil Conservation Service with the help of the Montgomery Extension Service and the ASCS are planning No-till meetings for Thursday. Two meetings will be held and meals will be served at each location, according to Bill Steuteville, No-till coordinator. The first meeting will be at 11 a.m. at Sherm Heebner's farm near Center Point, the second meeting will start at 6 p.m. on Wilson Hoffman's farm in Niantic. Both locations will feature equipment displays, a meal, dealer representatives, a slide show, meeting and tour.

The Heebner farm is located on Heebner Road and Rt. 363, South of Rt. 73 near Center Point. The Hoffman farm is located on Miller Road, South of Niantic Road, west of the town of Niantic.

The second meeting will start with the no-till tour and will begin in a no-till soybean field at the corner of Knight Road and Markley Road along the Green Lane Reservoir, from there it will proceed to other locations ending at the Hoffman farm where the meal will be served. All farmers and landowners are encouraged to attend. Berks County farmers are welcome to attend the Niantic meeting. If someone plans to attend or wishes more information, please call Bill Steuteville at 279-1178.

Ozone effects studied

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — University of Maryland botanists have found an environmental paradox that could spell trouble for world agriculture.

It is no longer news that pollution will strip the Earth of up to 4 percent of its protective ozone layer, and that this loss will increase ultraviolet radiation finding its way to the planet's surface by about 8 percent.

And it is no longer news that increased ultraviolet radiation could drastically affect plant growth and development. That means that agriculture as we know it today may suffer in the future if ultraviolet radiation increases.

What is news, however, is that ultraviolet radiation probably will not hit first the weak and poorly-fertilized agricultural regions of this planet.

Instead, say Maryland botanists, the well-fertilized, productive regions will show the most sensitivity.

The glum word comes from a study of the effects of ultraviolet radiation on soybeans by researchers Narasipur Murali and Alan H. Teramura of the university's Agricultural Experiment Station (UMAES)

Murali and Teramura subjected normally fertilized soybeans and those deficient in phosphorus to different levels of ultraviolet radiation in a greenhouse setting.

"On a relative basis, plants with the lowest level of phosphorus that were subjected to radiation suffered, but not as much as those plants receiving optimum levels of nutrients," says Teramura.

One of the reasons, explains Teramura, is that the mineral deficient plants produced thicker leaves and more flavonoids - chemical compounds that can protect plants by screening out ultraviolet radiation. That, he says, may be one way low-phosphorus plants protect themselves from increased radiation.

Plants that get plenty of nutrients seem less able to cope in this way, according to the researchers.

Sharp knives reduce chopper fuel costs

NEWARK, Del. — Delaware farmers harvest about 5,000 acres of corn silage annually, and the hum of forage harvesters chopping the '84 crop will soon be heard on Delmarva. Keeping knives sharp and the shear bar adjusted is the key to harvesting silage efficiently. Keeping hands and feet out of moving machines is the key to harvesting safely.

Silage choppers can use more fuel per acre than it takes to grow the crop, says University of Delaware extension agricultural engineer Tom Williams. Power requirements to operate these machines can be as much as 2.5 horsepower hours per ton. But by keeping knives sharp and the shear bar adjusted for minimum clearance, farmers can reduce fuel use by 20 to 30 percent.

Sharpen knives at least once a day—more often if the forage is extremely dry, advises Williams. Adjust the shear bar to the minimum recommended clearance every time you sharpen the knives. When the center of the shear bar wears beyond the clearance limits, reverse the bar to expose a new edge, or replace it with a new one. Tungsten coated bars wear more slowly.

"If you notice the load on the engine increasing, it's probably time to resharpen," the specialist says. "Since you spend a lot of time of this maintenance chore, the ease with which it can be done is an important consideration when selecting a new machine. Hydraulic or electric knife grinders and simplified shear bar adjustments on current forage harvesters leave little excuse for not keeping the cutter in top condition. Fuel savings and improved cutting will more than make up for the time spent sharpening and adjusting."

A sharpener should be able to grind the entire length of the knife, Williams says. Grinders that can't sharpen the ends make minimum clearance adjustments impossible in the center of the knives. It's not necessary, however, to remove every nick and dent so long as there's a good cutting edge along the knife's length.

Wear eye protection when sharpening knives, especially if any shields have been removed, Williams cautions. Keep hands, arms and head away from the opening, and don't let anything fall into the knives. Block the cylinder cutterhead when repairing or replacing knives so that it doesn't move unexpectedly.

"Because the knives are free wheeling and continue to rotate after the power has been shut off, you may be tempted to shove a broom handle or stick into them to bring them to a quick stop when you're in a hurry. Don't do it," Williams warns. "Your hands can be jerked into the knives, or chips of wood can be thrown back at you. Always let the knives come to a complete stop on their own."

The length of cut also greatly affects fuel and power requirements. Going from a 1/2-inch to 1/4-inch cut will increase power requirements by about one-third. Energy isn't the only factor to consider, though, when choosing cutting length. Other considerations are storage quality in the silo, limitations of handling equipment, and the effect on livestock feed intake and production.

Forage containing 65 percent or more moisture can be cut a 1/2-inch long and still store well. Silage with 60 percent or less moisture needs finer chopping to pack well. Silo capacity and handling capacity are reduced when silage is cut long. But chopping finer than 1/4 inch is undesirable, Williams says. Under most conditions, 1/4 to 1/2-inch lengths of cut will produce excellent silage or haylage at a reasonable energy cost.

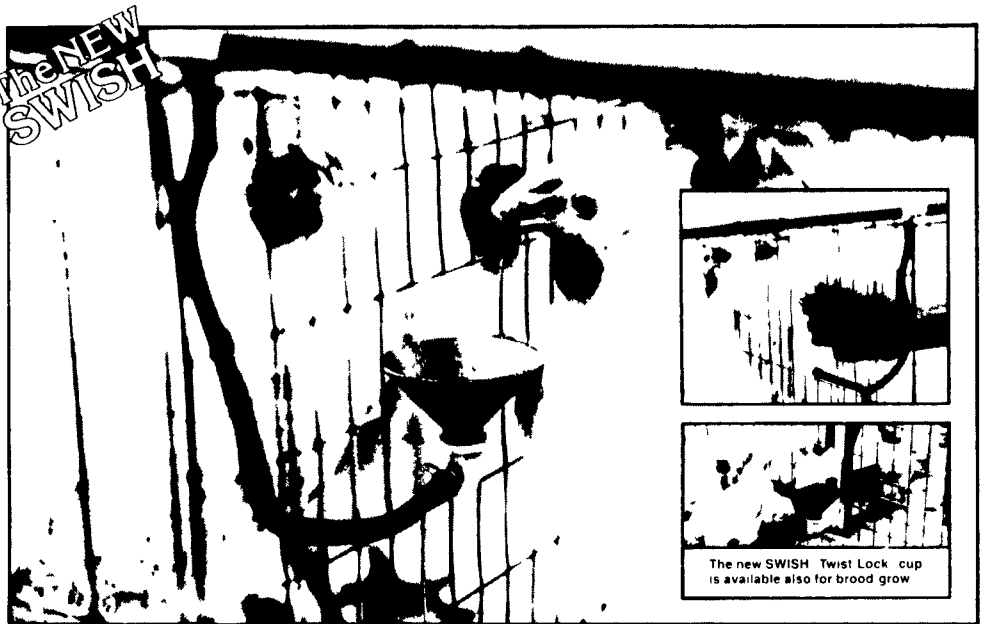

For more information on this subject, in Delaware call county extension offices in Newark, Dover or Georgetown and ask for fact sheet No. FS-26, "Reducing Forage Harvest Energy Cost."

"Twist-Lock" cups: newest innovation from the new leader

...another reason SWISH saves you more labor, more birds, and more money

The newest twist in cage watering makes cup cleaning and maintenance a real snap. It's SWISH's Twist-Lock cups for cage layers and brood-grow watering systems.

Saves labor. No more contortions with hand tools inside a cage—one simple twist of the wrist unlocks and removes the unitized cup and valve. It's that easy to maintain when necessary. But with SWISH it's hardly ever necessary. That's because our cup is self-cleaning. Our patented valve keeps the cup clean by flushing any feed particles out so birds can consume them with the water.

Installation is a snap too with SWISH's new cups. They simply snap into the desired location and the hose attaches to the water line outlet. These are some of the ways SWISH's new cup saves you labor—easy installation, low maintenance, and labor savings between flocks because our cup constantly cleans itself.

Helps save more birds. Because our cup is self-cleaning, algae and bacteria growth is not a problem as with cups that don't flush out feed particles. Clean cups mean less chance of disease and less mortality. And our big cup means good access to water for a good level of bird health.

SWISH saves you money. That's the bottom line with a system that cuts labor and keeps birds alive and productive.

Get all the facts about our new cup and other SWISH innovations. See your SWISH distributor or contact us.

Farm Talk

Jerry Webb

Getting started in farming isn't easy, but it isn't impossible — at least not yet. I read about enough young farmers throughout the country who are managing ways to grab the first rung of the ladder to farming success. Granted, most of them are getting started by working into the family business. But there are some others with no relatives and no prospects for an agricultural inheritance who want to farm. What should they be told?

First of all, they should know it's not easy but it can be done. Farming is not a closed business — not this year anyway — and it may not be for several years to come. It takes some finances, some knowhow, a lot of desire and an inordinate amount of faith and courage. A young person with those things going, plus a little patience, can probably get started in farming.

A start in farming doesn't necessarily mean a 500-acre spread, the latest equipment for growing corn and soybeans, and a brand new pickup truck. It's more apt to be a rundown 50 acres that can be developed into a high risk, high income vegetable business. Or the first step into a swine operation, or maybe it will be home base to an expanding farm rental operation.

There are farmers around who want to bring someone into the business. Farmers who have no offspring interested in farming — who have established a good operation and want to see it continued. And it's just human nature to want to help somebody who's trying to get started. So combine those two factors — the desire to keep a thriving farm business functioning and the desire to help somebody — and you have the elements needed. It's just a matter of getting the right people together.

In the kind of situation a young person might have to start out as hired labor, doing whatever the farmer wanted done for a year or two until the owner was convinced that this was the right person. Then some sort of deal might develop that would involve shares, buying in, and bonuses for outstanding efforts. Things like that would allow the young person to use his or her energies to the fullest.

Meantime, the farmer-owner could start to hand over certain responsibilities and take life a little easier, that way gradually working into a retirement posture with a young farmer buying in and providing retirement income. The owner would still be there to provide management, extra labor when needed, and maybe even operating capital.

It's a typical father-son arrangement without the hindrance of being related. It gives the farmer a chance to "recruit" his successor, something that a lot of farmers don't get a chance to do because they have heirs.

Another way for an enterprising young farmer to get started is through a rental arrangement. A long-term deal is best and preferably one based on shares. It may be possible to rent a whole farm, equipment and all. Or, if the equipment's the problem, don't let the $200,000 price tag quoted so frequently be the stopper. Go for good used equipment. A mid-western auctioneer believes a young farmer can get started with adequate row crop equipment for less than $50,000 if he shops carefully at winter auctions. It won't be the newest or the biggest, but it will be serviceable and with a little maintenance can serve quite well.

Here's his list: a John Deere 4320 tractor for $11,500; a five-bottom plow, $1,000; an 18-foot disc, $3,000; four-row planter, $2,250; a John Deere 95 combine, $12,000; miscellaneous tillage and wagons, $5,000. That's a total of $34,750 — not something you could save out of a year's earnings from an off-farm job, but again not impossible for someone planning ahead.

Beyond land and equipment there is the tremendous challenge of operating capital. It takes a lot of money to run a farm and in a bad year it may take more money than expected just to get started again the following season. Here's where a serious young farmer needs to have a good rapport with a lending institution that understands agriculture and has faith in that person's future.

The young farmers who went into business in the early seventies thinking it was going to be prosperity from then on got disappointed. And young farmers who start now thinking it's all sunshine and roses will probably be disappointed also. There are bound to be some ups and downs, but the ups are going to be higher and the downs shouldn't be quite to low. Given decent weather conditions, a young man could start on a shoestring and have a chance.

It won't be easy, but then it never has been. The young farmer of 50 years ago who started as a share cropper with a team of mules and $100 thought he had problems too.

The executor of a will should be a selection that is carefully considered. Do not select a person just because it is an honor, or that person is the oldest child, or he or she is your best friend. Select a person or an institution because he, she or it is capable and willing to handle your financial and business affairs after you are gone. You can select a competent family member and a bank as co-executors if you so desire. If you do select a person as executor, you should probably select a replacement in case that person dies, becomes incapacitated, or declines at the time he or she is needed. By the way banks do "die" now in form of mergers or failure. You may want to name a contingent executor in the event a bank does "die".

There are a lot of trusts that you can use. Some are set up prior to death. Others don't come into being until they are established by your will or insurance proceeds after your death. Many farm families will never need or use a trust. Others won't use one but would have benefited from one.

Some ideas on using trusts in a farm situation are (1) to care for a dependent or handicapped child or parent, (2) to shelter part of an estate from taxation upon the death of the second spouse, (3) to pass property to a child who is too young to handle it for the present.

The same cautions listed above for selecting an executor of a will should prevail in selecting a trustee for your trust. You can have considerable control over the trustee by what you put into your will and into the trust document. Again use some caution because what may seem to be a prudent investment or line of action now could be ruinous at some time in the future. The secret is to not tie the trustee's hands too tight but put a rein on that the beneficiary has some control over.

Trusts set up by will can be changed as long as you are living simply by changing your will. If you do intend to use a trust, you should consult with a bank trust officer. There is usually no obligation and they can be quite helpful in advising you when and where to use a trust. Your attorney also can guide you as to trust

Some people think that a will or a trust automatically will save taxes. The will itself will probably have no tax consequence on the estate of the decedent. It may save future income taxes on the estate (a good example is the Howard Hughes estate - lawyer fees and taxes will probably eventually reduce the estate to zero). In the process of developing a will a good attorney may suggest ways for you to reduce future taxes. You may want to discuss those ideas with an accountant to make sure that savings on one set of taxes are not more than offset by higher taxes on another set of taxes.

Trusts can save taxes but again the savings may be less than the loss to other taxes. Great care should be taken to avoid this happening. Example: Husband dies leaving $200,000 of property to a bypass trust. Balance of the estate is $200,000 that goes to wife. There is a least a tax of $12,000 upon his death. Wife dies 10 years later with same value as she had when husband died. All property went to children. Again tax of $12,000 tax paid. The tax savings was zero. Good tax planning with both a competent estate planning attorney and a competent tax

Consider the use of a trust in your estate plan. Be careful that it helps you fulfill one or more family goals. If it does cause extra taxes consider whether or not they are acceptable in light of the other advantages of the trust. If it saves estate or inheritance taxes consider whether the savings are acceptable in light of the possible disadvantages the trust may have for your business.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Scientists with The University of Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station (UMAES) and a specialist with the university's Cooperative Extension Service (UMCES) will make up part of the panel of experts at a symposium on the Chesapeake Bay cleanup next Friday and Saturday.

"Soil Conservation - An Investment in Our Bay," is sponsored by the Pocomoke Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America.

It is part of an overall program by a number of state agencies to educate farmers, landowners, homeowners and bay users about the Bay's ecological ills and initiatives to clean up the body of water.

The focus of this two-day symposium on Maryland's Eastern Shore is "non-point source pollution," a special type of pollution that has no specific point of discharge into the Bay.

Non-point source pollution is usually attributed to chemical runoff after rainfall from roadways, farmland and forests, and can include loads of nitrogen and phosphorus. Both nutrients are blamed for part of the Bay's pollution problems.

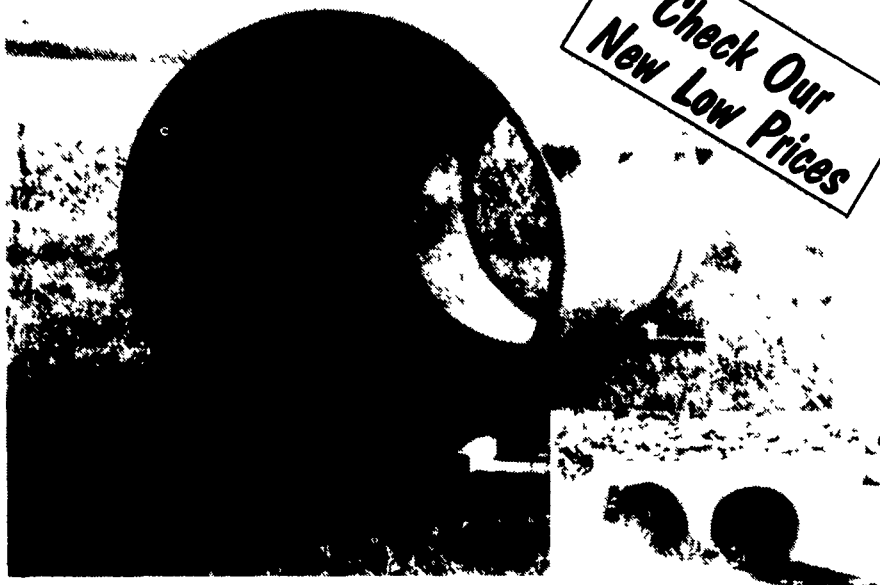

The first day of the symposium is scheduled for Chesapeake College at Wye Mills. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m.

In addition to speakers from the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), Congress and the Maryland state legislature, the program will feature:

Dr. Alan W. Taylor and Dr. Richard A. Weismiller, UMAES.

Bay symposium

Taylor and Weismiller will tell farmers and landowners what they can do to help reduce non-point source pollution of the Bay.

Dr. Tony Mazzaccaro, UMCES Marine Advisory. Mazzaccaro will tell small landowners, homeowners and bay users what they can do to reduce non-point source pollution.

The second day of the symposium is scheduled for UMAES's Wye Research and Education Center, near Wye Mills, at 8:30 a.m.

In addition to bus tours of management practices in Kent and Talbot counties, participants will be guided through a tour of the Research Center and its agricultural pollution studies by Dr. Russell Brinsfield, head of research at the Center.

There is a $22 registration charge for both days. Single day charges for the symposium are $12 for Sept. 14, $10 for Sept. 15.

For more information, or to register, call the Soil Conservation Society of America in Easton, Md. at (301) 822-9300.

Focus mastitis control on subclinical cases in dry cows

NEWARK, Del. - There's nothing new about mastitis. It's been around as long as people have been milking cows - even before the invention of the milking machine. This piece of equipment has been blamed by some for mastitis - sometimes with justification. But, says University of Delaware extension dairy specialist - George Haenlein, the problem predates the milking machine and occurs regardless of the brand or procedure used.

Mastitis occurs in other species - sheep, goats, sows, mares, and even humans. Over the years, it's been treated in many ways. Yet despite all efforts, it's still a major problem in every U.S. dairy herd as well as in those of other countries.

"Antibiotics are our most potent weapon against mastitis," says Haenlein. But producers have been using them for almost 40 years now, with no letup in either chronic or acute cases.

Are dairy farmers wasting their time - and money - when they follow the present practice of waiting to treat until the clinical stage appears during lactation? It's certainly a possibility worth considering, the specialist says, particularly in light of recent FDA regulations regarding treated milk. These regulations say:

IF YOU TREAT,
DON'T SHIP!
DON'T TREAT!

"In other words," says Haenlein, "producers must guard against treatment residues in milk and meat. These residues are not allowed to enter the market. The milk of treated cows must be discarded for three days at least, and carcasses of treated cows can't be sold for meat unless the animals were slaughtered at least 30 days after the last treatment. So, if a cow may be a cull candidate anyhow and is on the standby list for shipment, the FDA is telling us, DO NOT TREAT, even if she has mastitis. Instead, ship her right away, while you can still sell the meat."

By shipping residue-free cows, producers are protecting future meat sales. They're also saving money by avoiding treatments which may have dubious results, and they're culling animals with a possible disposition toward mastitis - the most costly disease in dairying today. In the process, says Haenlein, they may even be selecting genetically against mastitis.

Instead of investing in a battery of rescue treatments for mastitis after it develops clinically in lactating cows, he suggests dairy farmers start tackling this disease from some other angles.

"By now," he says, "you know plenty about mastitis from all the reports and articles you've read about it in the publications that reach your farm every day. You know the names of the most prevalent microorganisms which cause it. And you know that when milk samples are cultured, there are going to be many pathogens, like E. coli, which penicillin won't kill.

"And yet," he continues, "without culturing these samples, we can't be at all sure we're using the right antibiotic. We're only guessing - shooting in the dark."

According to Haenlein, mastitis treatment failures usually are due to one or more of the following causes:

- * Using the wrong antibiotic.
- * Waiting too long before treatment.
- * Using too low a dosage.
- * Stopping treatment too soon.
- * The presence of microorganisms resistant to treatment.
- * Failure of treatment to reach the walled-off site of infection.
- * Chronic cases with poor recovery chances.
- * Dirty cows which quickly become reinfected.
- * Wet udders during milking which easily transmit infection.
- * Careless or inexperienced milking procedures.

Research shows that three-fourths of all mastitis cases start not at the beginning of lactation, but during the dry period. Eighty percent of all clinical cases are preceded by subclinical infections detectable through elevated somatic cell levels.

Based on this information, Haenlein thinks it's time dairy farmers focused their control efforts on treatment of subclinical mastitis in dry cows.

"Of course," he says, "we must start with clean cows, get rid of muddy barnyards, milk only dry udders and handle milking machines properly - with the right level of vacuum, without vacuum fluctuations, overmilking, rough take-off, and backflushing to prevent possible disease transfers between quarters and between cows. Even the most sophisticated equipment won't protect cows under these conditions."

But aside from correcting such problems, he says it would be best to attack mastitis at the subclinical level.

"Dry cow treatments have at least twice the cure rate as those for lactating cows," Haenlein says. "And no milk is wasted. What's more, you can expect an average increase in production of 1,000 pounds of milk per cow per year for an added income of approximately $120 (1,000 x 12 cents = $120.00) - all for about $10, the cost of dry cow treatment.

For every mastitis case in a dairy herd, there are at least 12 subclinical cases. In order to combat these subclinical cases, trouble-causing cows must be identified. Routine milk testing will frequently do this, the specialist says.

Two testing procedures are available and the specialist suggests dairy farmers use them regularly. One is the California Mastitis Test (CMT), which comes in an inexpensive, easy to use kit form. This test gives immediate results on somatic cell levels.

Cows can also be tested monthly through the DHIA system for little additional cost.

Research has shown that increased somatic cell levels in the milk mean the presence of subclinical mastitis in the udder and milk already being lost. These tests allow producers to identify problem cows early, before they become clinical cases, so animals can either be treated promptly or culled.

"Most state DHIA organizations now offer routine somatic cell testing," Haenlein concludes. "If the one you belong to doesn't, it's time to gear up testing equipment to provide this vital test."

LSA-100[®]

(liquid silage additive)

Advantages

- 100% protein equivalent.
- Requires no specialized equipment.
- Creates no disagreeable odors to irritate your eyes and skin.
- Does not contain added salt or calcium.
- Will not corrode equipment.
- Needs no agitation at normal harvest weather conditions.

FOR BEEF & DAIRY

LSA-100 is a liquid silage additive designed to be added to corn silage at ensiling time to increase its protein level, & balance minerals. LSA-100 contains 100% protein equivalent and high levels of essential minerals. When applied as directed, LSA-100 will convert your corn silage to a balanced complete feed.

Tiny wasp to battle Colorado potato beetle

BELTSVILLE, Md. — A wasp, so small it can stand on a pinhead, is being pitted against the top destroyer of U.S. potatoes, tomatoes, and eggplants in a three-year test, a U.S. Department of Agriculture scientist said today.

The tiny South American wasp, Edovum puttleri, is the most promising natural means yet found for controlling the Colorado potato beetle, said Robert F.W. Schroder, a research entomologist for USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

Schroder is based at the research agency's Beneficial Insect Introduction Laboratory, Beltsville Agricultural Research Center, in Maryland.

The new parasitic wasp is named after Benjamin Puttler, the ARS entomologist who discovered it. It lays its eggs in Colorado potato beetle eggs, but it does not attack any beneficial insects.

The female wasp is very selective in choosing Colorado potato beetle eggs in which to lay her own eggs, said Schroder. She approaches a beetle egg, taps it with her antenna, and if it "turns her on," she lays an egg in it.

"In preliminary field trials in 1982 and 1983, the parasitic wasps liked and laid eggs in about 60 to 80 percent of the beetle eggs," Schroder said. "This rate is high enough to give effective control in most cases," he added.

Control of the Colorado potato beetle by conventional chemical means is estimated to cost growers more than $120 million yearly. Schroder said that without control measures, crop losses would approach 100 percent in some areas. Adding to the problem, the pest is developing resistance to all commonly used insecticides, he said.

USDA's research agency is spearheading a pilot project in Maryland, New Jersey, and Virginia to see if the wasp can reduce beetle populations below crop-damaging levels.

Schroder said the project will employ the integrated pest management approach, which combines use of a biological agent — like the wasp; two pathogens, a fungus and a bacterium; a juvenile hormone, which kills insects when they reach moulting stage; and limited amounts of pesticide applied at crucial points in the beetle's life cycle.

He said that a balanced pesticide and natural predator program for the Colorado potato beetle will bring additional benefits. For example, potential hazards to plants, animals, and beneficial insects not intended as targets will be lessened because less conventional insecticides will be used. And biological control measures are readily adaptable to small farms, as well as large, and to home gardens.

If the tests prove successful, the wasp could be incorporated into pest management programs within five to six years, Schroder said.

Joining USDA's research agency in the project are the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J.; the New Jersey Department of Agriculture, Trenton, N.J.; and the Virginia Truck and Ornamentals Research Station, Painter, Va. Schroder is coordinating the project, which will run through December 1987.

The Colorado potato beetle was first found on the eastern slopes of the Rockies in 1824. Natural enemies in the United States have not been effective in reducing populations below economic injury levels, Schroder said.

One enemy, a parasitic fly, doesn't appear until after the beetle has already done its damage. Another, a twospotted stinkbug, never becomes plentiful enough to control the beetle.

Michael M. Athanas, a research entomologist for the University of Maryland, is cooperating with Schroder in field experiments with the wasp in Beltsville. They also produce the wasps used in the program.

Schroder says that the wasp is rather easy to rear. He figures present costs at about $10 per 1,000 wasps but expects a decrease in that cost as more efficient methods are put into practice.

The potential for biological control with the wasp on a large scale is being evaluated by the Biological Control Laboratory of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service at Mission, Texas, in cooperation with ARS.

When the rearing program is deemed fully successful, the technique will be made available to other public agencies and commercial biocontrol firms, Schroder said.

USDA issues rules on farmland protection

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Beginning Aug. 5, all federal agencies will be using criteria developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to determine if federal or federally aided construction will have any adverse effects on farmland designated for protection under the 1981 farm bill, a USDA official said today.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John B. Crowell Jr., said USDA is issuing the rules to carry out its implementation of the Farmland Protection Policy Act of 1981.

Congress passed the farmland protection legislation as part of the Agriculture and Food Act of 1981. The law was designed to minimize the role of federal agencies in converting farmland and to ensure that federal agencies follow federal, state and local government policies to protect the nation's farmland.

USDA cooperated with other federal agencies in developing the criteria for farmland protection.

Under the farmland protection law that the rules implement, federal agencies are required to measure the impact of their projects on farmland, and in some cases, consider alternative designs or locations to minimize the amount of farmland converted. The rule will apply to farmland that qualifies as prime or unique or that state and local governments identify as having state or local importance—if USDA agrees.

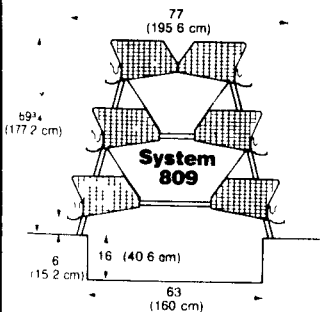

Crowell said USDA had taken (Turn to Page D24)

Grain sorghum session slated

KEMPTON — Grain sorghum could be a good crop to grow especially if you farm on a dry or shaley soil. These soils are typical in northern Lehigh County. Sorghum might be used to replace field corn in some rotations.

Sixteen different varieties of grain sorghum have been planted in a demonstration plot on the Albert Trexler Farm near Kempton. Harry Gruber planted this replicated plot in 14-inch rows.

Farmers are invited to take a look at this plot to compare the different varieties on Thursday, Sept. 20 at 6:30 p.m.

care to see that the new rules would not let the federal government intrude on local land use policies or upset applications for federal assistance to development projects on farmland.

If a tract of prime farmland already is in or committed to urban development by local zoning, for example, the federal agency will not have to measure the impact of development project on the site, Crowell said.

He said even where the federal agency studies the impact of a project on farmland and considers alternatives, the agency still will be free to go ahead with the project after doing the study. Moreover, no federal agency may use the rules as a reason for refusing any assistance to a development project on farmland, Crowell said.

USDA's Soil Conservation Service will provide technical assistance on farmland protection to agencies that request it, he said. Assistance on site assessments also will be available from many state or local government planning offices.

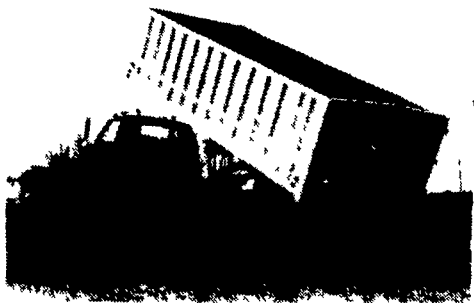

Details of today's action appear in the July 5 Federal Register.

It Pays to Store Your Grain*

* Grain prices have consistently been higher in the spring than at harvest—as much as 50% higher! So, why not take advantage of on-the-farm storage and help improve your grain profits?

Dry And Store Your Grain Economically, The LONG Way!

Capacities range from 1,350 to 300,000 bushels.

Long's drying and storage bins are the most advanced of all. They're made of strong structural steel. A new 30° sloped roof has overlapping and interlocking panels with high ribs for strength—they fit tight and are easy to assemble. Forty-four inch wide wall sheets make assembly faster and easier. The bottom ring has a sealing flange which eliminates the need for a separate foundation ring.

There are many more features that make LONG bins outstanding; stop in and ask us for more details!

With new Purina® Maxi-Tech™ brand 40 Milking Concentrate.

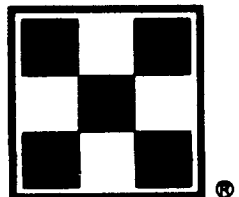

High-energy feeding can increase your milk production. That's the good news. The bad news is with this increase often comes a decrease in your cow's body condition and butterfat levels.

But now, the great news. Maxi-Tech™ brand 40 milking concentrates will increase your production with minimal body weight loss in early lactation and will help maintain butterfat test levels.

Only new Maxi-Tech 40 has the optimal combination of high energy and palatability. In fact, new Maxi-Tech 40 is the highest energy product on the market today. It will increase production both at peak and throughout the lactation period.

Stop by soon, and see how Maxi-Tech 40 can keep both your cows and production in tip-top shape.
